DESTRUCTIVE HAILSTORM STRIKES TWO ILLINOIS TOWNS

Windows and Roofs Shattered; Auto Tops Punctured at Centralia and Central City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CENTRALIA, Ill., April 29.—Heavy damage resulted from a hailstorm which swept Centralia and Central City at 9:45 o'clock this morning. Hundreds of windows were shattered by hail stones the size of hen's eggs. A terrific wind and rain accompanied the storm. It is estimated that carloads of glass will be needed to repair the damage to business houses and dwellings. Four greenhouses were severely damaged.

Automobile tops were punctured by the dozen and roofs of dwellings torn off by wind and beaten in by hail. The large peach and apple orchards of this section escaped severe damage, as the storm seems to have been confined principally to the cities of Centralia and Central City. Telephone communication throughout the city was crippled.

GIRL FOUND UNCONSCIOUS DIES

Brain Hemorrhage Fatal to Journalism School Student.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 29.—Miss Louise Pritchard, 21 years old, of St. Louis, a student in the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, died today in the University Hospital. She was found unconscious in her room here by her roommate Wednesday night. Cause of her condition baffled local physicians and a specialist from St. Louis was called here. Following her death, an autopsy revealed hemorrhage of the brain. The body will be sent to St. Louis for burial

A Great Hero

But John R. Kissinger, who 27 years ago sacrificed his health and his future happiness that yellow fever might be conquered, today lives on the verge of poverty, almost forgotten except for a pension of $100 a month from the government, granted after years of red tape. The story of this man's heroism will be a feature of the next Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch.

Fleet Indians

Money couldn't lure the Tarahumara Indians from their mountain fastness in Mexico, to compete in foot races, but when a school was promised the fleetest of the tribe came forth, and the story of their amazing races over long distances will be another feature of the next Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch.

The Bankrupt Baron

Until a short time ago Lord Terrington was one of England's ablest and wealthiest lawyers. But he went to Monte Carlo with another man's wife, and now he is going home—an invalid, a bankrupt and a prisoner. The strange story of this peer's downfall will be told next Sunday in the Magazine section of the Post-Dispatch.

BILL ELIMINATING LIBRARY, ART AND ZOO TAX PASSED

Only Four Aldermen Dissent to Mayors' Plan to Control Funds of the Three Institutions.

LEVY FOR THIS YEAR $2.59 ON THE $100

Boards of Control of Affected Societies Expected to Sue in Effort to Protect Finances.

The annual tax bill, with its clause eliminating special taxes for the support of the Public Library, Art Museum and Zoo by which the city administration hopes to obtain control of those institutions, and the annual budget bill which carries a total of $27,432,785 for all municipal and school purposes, were passed by the Board of Aldermen today with only four dissenting votes, two members being absent.

So far the Miller administration is the victor. The next step, it is understood, must come from the boards of control of the three institutions. It is expected they will sue in the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus compelling the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to surrender the amount of the special taxes—4 cents on the $100 valuation for Library, and 2 cents each for the Art Museum and Zoo.

Only Four Dissenting Votes.

President Neun of the Board of Aldermen has announced that the amount of special taxes—eight cents of the $1.35 levy for municipal purposes—will be set aside pending a decision by the Supreme Court. Meanwhile, the institutions have a surplus of $500,000 and the administration insists appropriations will be made to cover all their needs.

The bills were passed by the Board with little discussion. Aldermen Eilers, Riefling, Wimer and Hirth voted against them, and the first three named made brief addresses condemning the elimination of the special taxes as a backward step. Wimer and Riefling declared the bills encroached on the prerogative of the voters who had approved the special taxes.

George O. Carpenter, president of the Library Board, declining to express an opinion on the aldermanic action, announced he would call a special meeting of the library board to discuss the question. Louis LeBeaume, treasurer of the Art Museum Board, said his board probably would hold a similar meeting, and George E. Deickman, president of the St. Louis Zoological Society, previously announced his organization will take whatever legal steps are necessary to combat the administration's action.

Levy This Year $2.59 on the $100.

The tax bill passed today levies a total of $2.50 on the $100 valuation for city, State and municipal purposes, and includes a levy of $1.35, the maximum, for "general municipal purposes." The special taxes must, under the law, come from this $1.35 maximum and in the past the custom has been to specify in the bill $1.27 for municipal purposes, 4 cents for Library, 2 cents for Zoo and 2 cents for Art Museum.

The administration is supported in its action by an opinion from Associate City Counselor Dolan, who holds the special taxes unconstitutional in that they provide no definite means for repeal and are in violation of the city charter. Last year the Library's revenue was about $462,800 and the Art Museum and Zoo each received about $231,400. This year's taxes are not collectable until after Oct. 1, so that the test case should be settled before the institutions feel the effect of the tax bill.

With the passage of the bills today, city employes will be paid tomorrow for the first time since April 1. Usually they are paid semimonthly.

DIDN'T KNOW NECK WAS BROKEN

NEW YORK, April 29.—For three years Maurice Croshaw, 21 years old, of Hightstown, N. J., has gone about his farm work with a broken neck, thinking the pains he suffered were the result of a bad wrench. A few days ago an X-ray picture disclosed that one of the vertebrae in the neck was fractured.

During the three years Croshaw had visited a physician and an osteopath several times, but neither discovered the fracture, which was suffered when he was knocked off a stool while milking a cow.

WOMAN WOUNDED BY NEIGHBOR DIES; SLAYER ARRESTED

Mrs. Marie Iannicola Taken in Custody Pending Inquest in Case of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller.

7-YEAR QUARREL ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Bullet Cut Spinal Cord of Upstairs Flat-Dweller, Causing Paralysis That Brought Death.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 59 years old, a widow, of 1644A Texas avenue, died at City Hospital at 1:30 a. m. today of a bullet wound in the back. She was shot a week ago yesterday by her downstairs neighbor, Mrs. Marie Iannicola, 25, after seven years of petty quarreling.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Iannicola had accused each other of turning off the water supply. Mrs. Iannicola also held Mrs. Miller responsible for cutting her clothes line and other annoyances, intended, she thought, to make her move.

Encountering Mrs. Miller in the back yard, she obeyed an impulse to shoot her, using a revolver which she carried "for protection."

Mrs. Iannicola fled to Springfield, Ill., but was troubled by dreams and surrendered Wednesday. Taken before Mrs. Miller yesterday, she said she was sorry, and hoped Mrs. Miller would recover. A bullet had severed Mrs. Miller's spinal cord, causing paralysis.

An inquest will be held tomorrow. Mrs. Iannicola had been released on $5000 bond, but was rearrested after Mrs. Miller's death.

"FEELING FINE" ON 9TH DAY UNDER FORCED RESPIRATION

Virginia Youth Can Draw Some Air Into Lungs, But Cannot Exhale Naturally.

By the Associated Press

ROANOKE, Va. April 29.—Walter L. Boothe, 18 years old, who has been kept alive for nine days by artificial respiration, looked up at his doctors today and said: "I am feeling fine." Early today four-fifths of his body was paralyzed and his lungs were incapable of drawing or exhaling air naturally—a condition which overtook him Thursday, April 21, when he was about to submit to an operation for a dislocated vertebra.

GLIDES FROM 9000-FOOT PEAK

By the Associated Press.

EHRWALD, Bavaria, April 29. Ernest Udet, German ace, today successfully made a glider flight from the top of the Zugspitze, the highest peak in the Bavarian highlands. He landed near here 25 minutes after his start. The airline distance from the starting place, at an altitude of about 9000 feet, to the point of landing is approximately 9 1-3 miles.

Udet made a graceful loop over the lake of Eibsee, at the foot of the Zugspitze, then headed for the Tyrolean Valley, where he landed after circling over Ehrwald. It is said to have been the first glider flight from an elevation of 9000 feet.

WOLVES DRIVEN IN BY FLOOD PREY ON HOGS AND CHICKENS

Farmers About Missouri Point Plan a Hunt to Expel the Marauders.

Wolves, driven by the flood from the wild timber at the eastern tip of Missouri Point, St. Charles County, below Alton, have begun to prey on the hogs and chickens of farmers to the west.

Now that the flood is receding and the fight to keep more local levees from breaking is over, the farmers are planning a wolf hunt to expel the invaders. The wolves have sought refuge on the high spots of Missouri Point, where livestock and chickens also have been taken for safety.

The size of the wolf pack is not known. After the 1922 flood farmers had a similar experience and killed numerous wolves.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Jules Bache has added to his gallery of old master paintings a portrait by Petrus Christus, a leader in Fifteenth century art in Flanders. It is called "Carthusian Monk as a Saint." It had a conspicuous place in the recent Flemish exhibition in London. It measures 11½ by 8 inches. Bache is understood to have paid $125,000.

Collectors of old Flemish art have set store by the work of Bermeer, because of its rarity and excellence. Work by Petrus Christus is of similar quality and is rarer. His known existing pieces number 23, to 50 of Vermeer's. Americans own four of Christus examples, counting the Bache acquisition.

The others are his "Deposition" in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, "Nativity," in the Goldman collection and "Legend of St. Eloy" in the Lehman collections. Museums in Frankfort, Berlin, Turin, Madrid, Copenhagen, London and the Hermitage of Leningrad and a few private owners possess all of his work that has been preserved in Europe.

WATER SUPPLY SAFE FROM CURTAILMENT BY LANDSLIDE

Commissioner Says There Is No Danger of Cessation in Service to City.

Water Commissioner Day today declared there was no danger of a cessation of water supply or a reduction in city pressure as a result of the landslide on Riverview drive, three miles south of Crain of Rocks, where workmen are sluicing away a hill to relieve pressure on two conduits through which the city's water supply flows to Baden pumping station.

The water supply in the neighborhood of the slide was cut off for a short time this morning when a leak was found in a small main serving the district, and from which water is drawn by a fire department pumper for the sluicing. Pressure in this area has been reduced because of the quantity of water used in cutting away the hill.

APPEAL FOR SACCO-VANZETTI FROM FASCIST LEAGUE IN U. S.

Body Opposed to Prisoners' Political Beliefs Urges That They Be Heard Again.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Fascist League of North America, although uncompromisingly opposed to the political beliefs of the prisoners, today announced that it has appealed to Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts in behalf of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

"We have faith in the fairness and justice of our American courts and we do not join in the innuendo that Sacco and Vanzetti have been victimized because they are radicals," it says. "Nevertheless, it must be recognized that there is a widespread impression among the Italian people in America that these defendants have been denied a fair trial because they are socialist revolutionists.

"In view of this, we believe that the State of Massachusetts should, if necessary, bend backwards to give Sacco and Vanzetti the utmost opportunity to prove their innocence of the crime for which they were convicted."

GOOD WILL FLYERS ARRIVE AT LANGLEY FIELD, VA.

By the Associated Press.

E. W. GROVE'S WIDOW RENOUNCES HIS WILL

Elects to Take One-third of $10,000,000 Estate Outright Instead of Life Income.

Mrs. Gertrude Grove, widow of Edwin W. Grove, multimillionaire president of the Paris Medicine Co. of St. Louis, who died at Asheville, N. C., Jan. 27, has renounced his will giving her a lifetime income from one-third of the estate and has elected to take one-third of the estate outright.

Grove's will placed the bulk of his estate, estimated at more than $10,000,000, in trust, the income to be shared equally by his wife, his son, Edwin W. Grove Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Grove Seely, during their lives, and to go to their descendants upon their deaths.

By her renunciation, notice of which has been filed in Probate Court, Mrs. Gertrude Grove gains the principal as well as the interest, but the trust continues for the children. Thomas H. Cobbs, attorney for Mrs. Grove, said she had no objections to the will, except that she wished to be rid of the trust restrictions and to be able to dispose of her share of the estate as she saw fit.

The renunciation is not in the nature of a contest, Mrs. Grove merely having exercised her statutory rights to a dower. The will stipulated that any beneficiary contesting the will was to forfeit his or her share.

MAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION HELD IN ARMS BY WOMAN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—If Leonard Welstead, electrician, severely burned in a manhole gas explosion, recovers, he can thank Mrs. David Shippley. She tore off his blazing clothes and lay on the sidewalk, making a human cushion of herself to protect his seared flesh from the rough pavement. Mrs. Shippley is a saleswoman.

Welstead and another man were looking for a short circuit in a manhole and Mrs. Shippley was waiting on a customer in a shop nearby when there was an explosion. She ran to the shop door in time to see a burst of flame from the manhole. Welstead crawled out, face charred, clothes aflame. Two policemen carried him to the sidewalk and ran for a bucket of water, but Mrs. Shippley knelt beside him, tearing off his clothes, beating out the fire with her hands. Finally she clasped the injured man in her arms and lay on the sidewalks to ease his agony.

BOY HURT AS HE RAN IN FRONT OF AUTO DIES

Edward Murphy, 7, Came From Between Two Parked Cars, Witnesses Declare

Edward Murphy, 7 years old, of 1525 Elliot avenue, died at City Hospital today at 10 a. m. from injuries suffered at 8:30 o'clock last night when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home.

Andrew Aubuchon, 43 years old, of 3919A North Twentieth street, was driving north in Elliot avenue when, according to witnesses, the boy ran from between two parked cars directly into the path of his automobile. He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Aubuchon was ordered held for the Coroner. Edward is the son of Thomas Murphy.

MEMBER OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE OUSTED FOR YEAR

M. Boyd Zinman, Youthful Plunger, Alleged to Have Misused Confidential Information.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The meteoric career of M. Boyd Zinman, one of the youngest members of the New York Stock Exchange, was temporarily stopped today as a result of a year's suspension for using for his own purpose information obtained in a conversation he overheard between a member and a stock specialist.

According to Wall street reports, Zinman, five years out of college, where he specialized in finance, got his start with a $40,000 fee from a large industrial concern for acting as tax consultant. He started his Wall street career in 1924 and was so successful that by October, 1925, when he was 29 years old, he was able to purchase a seat on the exchange for $135,000, at that time a record price.

The conversation Zinman is alleged to have overheard concerned a member giving an order to a specialist to purchase a certain stock on a "stop" order if and when it should reach a certain level. Zinman is alleged to have purchased the stock for his own account and to have sold it to the member holding the stop order. Wall street Stock Exchange attaches said such orders are regarded as highly confidential and asserted they could not recall any member ever having been disciplined previously for such an offense.

REFUSED TO USE POISON GRAY SENT HER, SHE RELATES

Declares She Tried to Break With Suitor But He Threatened to Expose Her Misconduct.

TELLS OF ATTEMPT "TO GET GOVERNOR"

But, She Testifies, She Pushed Would-Be Killer Out of the House—Describes His Return.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder, charged with the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, last March, took the witness stand in her own defense this afternoon to lay the blame upon her former admirer, Henry Judd Gray, on trial with her.

Mrs. Snyder broke into tears soon after taking the stand.

Mrs. Snyder took the stand calmly and was sworn. Justice Scudder reminded her that she did not have to testify unless she wished. Edgar F. Hazleton, her counsel, replied that she wanted to testify and then he began questioning her. She answered questions in a cool slow voice that could be heard throughout the room. Gray kept his gaze on the floor as she spoke.

Tells of Life With Snyder.

The first question dealt with her life before she married. She told of meeting her husband and of the places she lived with him in a voice of ordinary conversational tone.

"When did you have your first trouble with your husband?" "Rbout two months after our marriage."

"Did you know his first fiancee who died?" "I heard of her."

"What did he say about her?" "Hhe said she was the finest woman he had ever known."

"He named his boat for her?" "Yes."

"Were there pitcures of her in your home?" "Yes."

As the questioning went on Mrs. Snyder's voice became lower and suddenly she burst into tears. She quickly got herself in hand, however, and the questioning went on.

Quarreled "Constantly."

"Did you and your husband quarrel after the child was born?" "Constantly."

The witness' voice was harsh now and there was bitterness in her tones as she told of having no servants and doing all the housework herself.

"You were unfaithful to your marriage vows?" "I was."

"With Gray?" "Yes."

"With anyone else, ever?" "No."

"Did you teach your little girl her prayers?" "I did."

"And hymns?" "Yes."

"When did you first speak with Gray about your conditions at home?" "About a year ago."

"What did he say?" "He said he guessed that he was in about the same boat as me, that he was unhappy, too."

Tells of Meetings With Gray.

Mrs. Snyder had herself well in hand at this point and spoke firmly of her many secret meetings with Gray at hotels.

"You stayed at the Imperial and Waldorf-Astoria Hotels?" "Yes."

"You went to night clubs with him?" "Yes."

"How many times to dancing places?" "About 10 times."

"Did you drink on these occasions" "Very slightly."

"How much?" "Never more than two drinks."

"Did you ever smoke?" "Never."

"Did your husband always wear a pin with the initials 'J. G.' on it?" "Yes."

"Were those the initials of his former fiancee?" "Yes."

Received Corset From Gray.

"Did you make a trip up-State with Gray?" "Yes, for two weks."

OFFICERS OF LAND BANK INDICTED IN $1,000,000 PLOT

LOANS TO "STRAW" MEN CHARGED

Government Asserts Funds Went Largely to Promotion of Power Project at Bagnell, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 29.—A startling story of the alleged diversion of the funds of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank lies beneath the indictment yesterday of Walter Cravens and five of his associates by the Federal grand jury.

The bank is the second largest institution of its character in the United States and its bond total nearly $48,00,000, Sylvester Rush, Assistant United States Attorney-general, says that auditors and Federal examiners have been working more than a year on its books but have not yet completed the audit.

Interwoven in the story is the dream of a great artificial lake near Bagnell, Mo., that was to be the Riviera of the Southwest and was to form the basis for a hydro electric project as an immense source of power.

How Scheme Was Financed.

Walter Cravens, president of the Land Bank, conceived the plan for this great project. Federal authorities here declare the method of fulfilling that dream was in the "milking" of his bank of funds to finance his scheme. It is estimated approximately $1,000,000 already has been diverted for purchase of hundreds of acres of land and the promotion of the project.

The method of that diversion, according to Nugent Dodds, Assistant United States Attorney-General, involved the manipulation of land titles and cash from the bank between corporations controlled by Cravens.

Land in Pettis, Morgan, Camden and Benton Counties, the site of the proposed lake, was purchased by the Cravens group either for cash or in trade for other land. Then, according to Federal agents, the land was shifted from one "straw" titleholder to another. Upon each transaction the "paper" value of the property was greatly increased. Finally title was vested in the Farmers Fund Co., holding company for the Missouri Hydro-Electric Power Co., the corporation promoting the project. Its "paper" value had been "hiked" to several times its actual value in the course of the manipulations.

"Straw Men" Used.

The next procedure in the alleged fraudulent chain, it is charged, was the employment of more "straw men" to whom title to the land was transferred.

Forty-five persons, many of whom the Government alleges are financially unable to figure in land transactions, are named in the indictment. Each loan forms a separate count in the indictment as a "false entry."

Persons signed applications to the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank for loans on the land at its inflated book value, it is charged. The loans, ranging from $3000 to $30,000, and aggregating $685,000, were made, according to the indictment, on security they "pretended to convey that was of grossly inadequate value as compared to the amount of the purported loan."

The Persons Indicted.

Those indicted are: Walter Cravens, Ralph Street, Miss Alice Todd active officer of the bank, and R. P. Cravens, father of Walter Cravens; C. R. Cravens and R. H. Cravens, the latter three of Salina, Kan.

One of the counts charges that Walter Johnson, a sedalia Negro, was approached by an agent of the Missouri Hydro-Electric Power Co. on Aug. 1, 1926, and asked to sign a note and mortgage for $30,000, made out to the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank.

The indictment alleges the Negro was insolvent, owned no land and had no assets, being a day laborer in Sedalia. The indicted officers, says the bill, caused the note and mortgage to be entered on the books of the bank as if it were a regular farmer loan, and that the money was taken by the officers to purchase more land in the Osage river bottoms for the Hydro-Electric project, and the land was deeded to the Farmers' Fund, Inc.

Cravens' Power Plant Promotion at Standstill for Year.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 29.—The proposed $21,000,000 hydro-electric power project on the Osage River, near Bagnell, promoted by the Missouri Hydro-Electric Power Co. has been at a standstill for more than a year. Cravens and his associates have been unable to convince the State Public Service Commission that they could finance the construction and operation of the plant.

Extending hearings were held before the commission in March, 1926, on the Missouri Hydro-Electric Power Co.'s application for approval of the issuance of $20,931,000 in securities to finance the building of the plant. The company previously had obtained a certificate of convenience and public necessity from the commission, equivalent to a franchise to proceed with construction. However, the commission was not satisfied with the limited proof of financial backing submitted by Cravens and his associates, and the lack of a showing of ability to dispose of the electric current to be generated at the plant.

Stronger Levees Needed, Says Secretary Hoover

Present Flood Not the Maximum and Mississippi Valley Must Be Safeguarded Against the Future, He Declares.

By CARLOS F. HURD,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover, before leaving New Orleans last night, made an automobile tour along the levees above the city. He talked with the correspondent of the need for higher and stronger levees, as proved by the present emergency.

"It happens," he said, "that this flood came just at a time when a revision of the levee program was under consideration. It has proved that the levee system is a chain, whose strength is that of the weakest link.

"We have never had, and we are not now having, the maximum flood of which the Mississippi is capable. Such a maximum flood would come if all the tributaries of the Mississippi were to reach their maximum at about the same time. It may be that we ought to prepare for the future against that maximum possible flood. What we must realize is that the cost of protection is small, compared with the cost of destruction, to say nothing of the human suffering entailed."

Secretary Hoover attaches no weight to the contention, heard from many persons in the valley in the last few days, that the levee system causes a raise in the bed of the river and hence defeats its own purpose.

"Levees do not make the river bed rise," the Secretary said. "High water makes the river bed rise, and low water makes it fall. That has been established."

National Task, Says Hoover.

Before he left New Orleans on an early night train for Baton Rouge, Secretary Hoover said that the present task, as he saw it, was to get relief facilities in the lower Mississippi Valley ready for what he believes will be an unprecedented strain upon them.

"This is no ordinary piece of welfare work," he said. "It is a national task. We have now had ample warning, from what happened upstream, of what may be expected.

"Even without further disasters the Red Cross has a burden far exceeding its present resources."

Secretary Hoover has seen indications that the measures taken to save New Orleans from flood peril have caused the rest of the country to overlook the sufferings, and the still existing grave danger, in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana. A New Orleans flood would add a staggering burden to the demands on the public, but the saving of New Orleans does not mean that the burden is light; it is one of the heaviest ever known.

The Secretary's itinerary takes him from Baton Rouge to Vicksburg this afternoon, and to Memphis tomorrow. He will meet the Governor of Mississippi at Vicksburg, and Gov. Martineau and Senator Robinson of Arkansas at Memphis.

Refugees in New Orleans.

Trucks marked "flood relief," and carrying the belongings of dwellers in St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes, were seen frequently in the narrow one-way streets of New Orleans today. They gave the only outward indication of the proximity of unusual conditions. In every way, business and pleasure appeared to be as usual. Furniture of many of the families from the lower districts was piled on the loading platform of the Central Army warehouse. But few of the white residents responded to the supper call at the commodious building last evening. They had deposited their furniture and had gone to the homes of relatives and acquaintances. On another floor, many Negro women and children were accommodated.

To show that the Government has been giving due consideration to the problem of spillways, to supplement the levee system, Col. W. P. Wooten, of the Army Engineers Corps, gave out a statement telling of the work of what he termed the spillway board of army engineers. The board, he said, has collected much data, but must still make further studies before determining where spillways can be located to best advantage. It must also "compare the costs, and the degree of safety afforded, by levees alone or levees supplemented by spillways."

MRS. STUEVER GETS THIRD OF ESTATE UNLESS REMARRIED

Two Children of Man Who Ended His Life Will Share in $1,600,000 Fortune.

The widow and two children of Charles A. Stuever, heir to one-third of a $1,600,000 estate, who killed himself because of ill health at his home, 7018 Lindell boulevard, April 20, will share equally in his estate if Mrs. Stuever remains unmarried, according to the terms of his will filed today at Clayton.

A trust fund is to be established, with Comptroller Louis Nolte and William Flynn as trustees, to hold Stuever's fortune until the youngest child, Tony, now six years old, becomes of age. Until that time Tony and his sister, Emma, 10 years old, are to receive an income of $100 a month each. The residue of the income is to be paid to Mrs. Stuever unless she remarries.

When Tony has attained his majority, the estate is to be divided equally among the children and Mrs. Stuever. In the event the children die, their shares are to go to Stuever's mother, Mrs. Catherine Stuever, and his sister, Mrs. Antoinette Mahony. Stuever was the son of the late Tony Stuever, brewer-politician.

APPLES AND PEARS NOW ONLY GIFTS FOR JAIL PRISONERS

Other Fruits, Clothing and Books Often Used for Smuggling of Drugs.

Apples and pears alone, of all fruits, are permissible gifts to prisoners in the City Jail under the ruling of Warden Frank J. Primavesi, who has found from experience that an orange, a bunch of grapes, or a banana may conceal a supply of drugs for the addicts behind the bars.

Oranges which have the juice extracted, pumped full of a morphine solution, have been used. A rubber grape containing a drug, and wired to a natural bunch is another ruse of the smugglers. Other methods detected were the secreting of the drug in clothing, cigarettes, tooth powder, between the thin pages of a Bible, two of which were glued together around the edges, and occasionally the prisoners have secured it from dishonest jail employes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—An appraisal shows that Peter Cooper Hewitt, scientist and inventor, who died in Paris Aug. 25, 1921, left an estate of $1,465,180. His largest holdings here were 100 shares of the Lucernal Realty Corporation, valued at $222,483, and 100 shares of the Hewitt Realty Co., valued at $181,170.

The will provided that if his widow, Mrs. Maryon J. Hewitt, whom he married only a few years before his death, did not remarry she should receive two-thirds of the estate after certain other bequests were cared for. If she remarried her interest was to be cut to one-third. A year after Hewitt's death his widow married the Baron Robert d'Erlanger, from whom she separated later.

PAVING CONTRACT AWARDED

Pine Boulevard Bid Accepted; Washington Avenue Rejected.

Contract for the paving of West Pine boulevard, from Grand boulevard to Kingshighway, with Warrenite bitulithic, was awarded by the Board of Public Service today to the firm of Joseph Kesl & Sons, which was low bidder with $181,852.25.

All bids for paving Washington avenue, from Fourth street to Jefferson avenue, with granite blocks, were rejected, because the bids were more than 3 per cent in excess of the city's estimate of the cost, and the board has adopted a policy of paying no more than 3 per cent over estimates. The firm of Kesl & Sons was low bidder with $222,734.25 O per cent over the city's estimate. New bids will be received May 31.

Two Miners' Homes Destroyed.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 29.—The destruction of two miners' houses, owned by the Pittsburg Coal Co., one by a dynamite explosion and the other by fire, was reported by company officers today. A large house in Lovedale Hollow, near Elizabeth, was dynamited, they said. The occupants, eight non-union miners and their families, were absent at church at the time, it was added. An unoccupied double house at Black Diamond, near Monongahela was destroyed by fire.

Police Hunt Missing Store Clerk.

Police are searching for a clerk who worked at the Grand Leader department store for one day and disappeared, 50 suits of silk underwear, valued at $436, disappearing on the same day. Eli Galansky, 28 years old, 720 North Twentieth street, was arrested last night with 10 suits of the underwear in his possession and declared he had bought it Tuesday from the clerk for whom the police are searching.

MISSISSIPPI FLOODS NEAR CITY RECEDING

River Stage at St. Louis Has Dropped 2.7 Feet in 72 Hours With Fall Increasing.

Flood water in the vicinity of St. Louis is slipping away faster than it rose. Stage of the Mississippi here this morning was 33.4 feet, a drop of 1.2 feet in 24 hours and of 2.7 feet in 72 hours since the crest of 36.1 was reached on Tuesday. It will be back to the 30-foot flood level by Sunday night, the Weather Bureau predicts.

The point where the river begins to be out of its banks today was somewhere between St. Louis and Hannibal, Mo., although a few days ago it was in Iowa. Crest of the greatest and most damaging flood in the lower Mississippi today stood about 50 miles below Helena, Ark., and its movement downstream will be erratic because of the water which has left the river through levee breaks, but is pouring back in through flooded tributaries.

The river stage at Hannibal this morning was 12.9 feet, a drop of .4 of a foot in 24 hours. Flood level there is 13. Grafton's reading was 23.1, a fall of 1.3, but still 5.- above flood mark. Alton's was 27.7, a fall of 1.4, but 6.7 above flood stage. At Chester, Ill., downstream, the gauge today was 33, a drop of .8. At Cairo, Ill., it was 51.1, a fall of .6. Memphis, Tenn., had 44.7, a drop of .4; Vicksburg, Miss., 56.3, a rise of .6, and New Orleans 20.8, the same as yesterday.

The Missouri River is back in its banks except for the extreme lower end, near St. Louis. Hermann, Mo., about 70 miles west of here, had a stage this morning of 20.3 feet, a drop of 1.8 in 24 hours, which put it below the bankful stage of 21. St. Charles had 27.5, a fall of 1.9, but its flood level is 25. The Osage River continues to be slightly above flood stage throughout its length in Missouri, but is falling more than a foot a day. The St. Francis River basin in Southeastern Missouri is flooded still. Otherwise Missouri now is free of floods.

Missouri Nearing Normal.

Although there was heavy rain last night and this morning in the upper Illinois River valley, it was doubtful if this would do more than slightly retard the slow fall in the flood in the lower river, between La Salle, Ill., and Grafton. Beardstown had a stage this morning of 24.8 feet, a fall of .2 of a foot since yesterday, and Pearl, 40 miles above Grafton, had 22.2, a fall of .4.

Railroad service to the flood area of the South and Southwest continues to improve. The Frisco Railway today announced that all regular trains were operating on all main lines, including the St. Louis-Memphis line, but it still suffers some interruptions on Southeastern Missouri branches.

Fears for Islander Allayed.

Friends of John Schillinger, 55 years old, who lives on Chouteau Island, near Granite City, where a local Mississippi levee broke Sunday night, became alarmed when they did not see him after the island had been flooded, but on Wednesday found he had gone to the second floor of his house, which has had several feet of water in the first story, to rest from his labor on the levee.

Missouri Banker Held for Trial.

LIBERAL, Mo., April 29.—C. B. Armstrong cashier of the Farmers' State Bank of Liberal, closed by the State Department of Finance several weeks ago, has been bound over for trial in the Barton County Circuit Court on a charge of accepting deposits when the bank was known to be in a failing condition.

area—the Alexander, carrying Gov. Simpson and his party; the Commanche, carrying newspaper correspondents, the Magnolia, carrying an official party, including Major-General Jadwin, chief of army engineers; a scout boat and several coast guard cutters for patrol duty.

Some Refuse to Leave Homes.

The animation and bustle at Poydras was in marked contrast to the scenes enacted at the concentration camp at the army base here where hundreds of the several thousands persons forced from their homes in the two southeastern parishes were gathered. They counted the hours until the flood waters would be released to inundate the homes where they had long lived and worked and to which they will return when the waters have receded and the State has repaired the breach made in the levee.

State and city have guaranteed compensation to all of the residents for the damage the waters may do to their property, but even in the face of this the residents temporarily gave up their homes with reluctance. A few of them refused to leave, preferring to remain and take their chances with the flood to spending six weeks or more in a refuge camp. The military authorities reported today that 5000 residents of St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes were safely in New Orleans.

Baton Rouge reported that water was running over the Glascock levee across the river from Natchez, Miss., on the west side of the stream.

Mother and New-Born Baby Among 12 Flood Victims.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 29.—Twelve lives were lost in the Arkansas flood yesterday. A mother and her two-hours'-old child died on a levee at Deming, three negroes were drowned near Pine Bluff, three more near England and three others in a boat that overturned near Jeenie. A negro woman died of exposure in Lake Village.

Red Cross Concentrating Boats to Rescue Persons Trapped by Flood.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 29.—New levee breaks, immediate threats of others and the continuous inundation of more territory along the Mississippi River and its tributaries created further demands upon the American Red Cross.

On the Arkansas River between Pendleton and Medford, Ark., a levee gave way late yesterday, as did another on the Yazoo River, 12 miles below Yazoo City, Miss.

The Red Cross last night received a report that the Mississippi levee at L'Argent, La., was seriously threatened and immediately began a concentration of boats at Natchez, opposite. There remained the threat of a break at South Bend, although engineers believe the levee there will hold.

Concentration of Boats.

The Red Cross has directed the greatest concentration of boats the lower Mississippi ever knew to meet possible emergencies around New Orleans. These include the 1000-ton Tallapoosa with an auxiliary fleet; the Shawnee and Pawnee of 600 tons each, eight 75-foot patrol boats; 15 36-foot speed boats, capable of 20 miles an hour and the United States Coast Guard cutter Kankakee acting as a mother ship for a fleet of power boats following the crest of the flood. Several of the 100 boats requested from the navy by Henry Baker, Red Cross dictator of relief, have arrived.

The concentration of refugees at England, Ark., was reported increasing tremendously.

Belzoni, Miss., repeated its urgent call for steamboats and barges to remove destitute victims of the flood. Belzoni is from two to five feet under water.

Ashley County, Ark., and the Yazoo and Sunflower basins in the lower Mississippi delta called for rescue boats.

One thousand persons were reported marooned about Lake Village, Ark., the town's water supply has failed and 1500 refugees there were reported drinking river and lake water, found by analysis to contain typhoid germs.

Precautions Against Disease.

Looking toward the time when the receding water will increase the threat of disease, the health officers of Kentucky, Illinois, Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, in a meeting with Dr. William R. Redden, national medical officer of the Red Cross, adopted a definite program for medical and sanitary relief.

All persons in the refugee camps should be vaccinated against typhoid and smallpox, the conference recomended and all water supplies should be chlorinated or boiled.

Dispensaries and hospitals will be established in camps in charge of a physician, assistants, nurses, a sanitary engineer and a supply officer.

By the Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 29.—The plight of 700 to 1000 persons in the flooded lowlands of Chicot County, Arkansas, was described as desperate today in a report by Mayor J. C. Gillison of Lake Village.

"They are clinging to small rafts and floating trees in water 20 to 30 feet deep or packed like sardines in barn lofts and other places that have not been reached by the water," the Mayor said. "This number does not include 500 Negroes I know to be huddled in barn lofts and other places on one plantation."

Thirty motor boats worked all day yesterday rescuing the inhabitants of the lowlands and today the labor was resumed. The refugees are taken first to Lake Village which is under several feet of water and later are transferred to Eudora.

Senator Robinson Suggests Extra Session of Congress on Flood.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A special session of Congress to meet the emergency created by the Mississippi River flood was urged on President Coolidge today in a telegram from Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic Senate leader. The message was received just before the meeting of the Cabinet which devoted considerable attention to the flood situation, but no decision on the request was announced.

JAIL SENTENCE "FROM NOW ON" FOR BANKRUPT

August Pensoneau Says Unless Penalty is Changed He Will Die in Prison for Want of $6900.

HAD BEEN CITED FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Failure to Restore to Assets Money He Told Referee Coles He Had Lost in Gambling.

August Pensoneau, bankrupt commission merchant of 1213 North Third street, must serve in Warren County jail "from now on," unless he pays his creditors $6900, under a sentence imposed by Federal Judge Davis today on a contempt citation.

Unless the sentence is changed, Pensoneau declared he would die in jail for want of money.

Last winter when Pensoneau's affairs were being settled before Referee in Bankruptcy Coles it was discovered he had withheld the $6900, explaining it had been lost in gambling. Referee Coles ordered him to turn the money over to the trustee of his estate, who instituted contempt proceedings before Judge Davis when he failed to pay.

Judge Davis dismissed the charge but the trustees took his complaint to the United States Court of Appeals which recently reversed the lower court, holding Pensoneau in contempt. He was arraigned for sentence today.

"I sentence you to jail in Warren County in accordance with the mandate of the Court of Appeals until you pay the $6900 which you were ordered to turn over to the trustee in this case," Judge Davis ruled.

"I am much obliged to you, Judge," Pensoneau remarked, departing with the United States Marshal.

In the Marshal's holdover, Pensoneau told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had no assets, no friends or relatives who could help him, and was dependent on a position with a commission house for support for himself and his wife.

"The situation is this," he declared, "I am going to die in jail, unless the sentence is changed."

"Did he tell you he was insured?" "Yes, for $60.00. He asked how much my husband carried and I told him almost none. He said that was bad."

"Did you ever speak to your husband about insurance?" "Yes, in the summer of 1925 after he had two accidents in the garage."

(It is these accidents that the State charged were early attempts on Snyder's life by his wife).

"Then an insurance agent came?" "Yes, my husband told me to get one."

"And your husband knew all about what was done in taking out the insurance?" "Yes."

"Did Gray ever say anything about getting rid of your husband?" "Yes."

"When?" "He began early this year."

"What did he do?" "He sent me poison and said that would be an easy way to get rid of him."

"You remember two occasions when a gas tube became disconnected and your husband was almost killed?" "Yes, and I wrote Gray about it."

"What did he write back?" "He wrote, 'Too damn bad the tube wasn't long enough to stick in his nose.'"

Gray Shakes His Head.

Says Gray Threatened Her.

"Did you ever tell Gray you would see him no more?" "Yes."

"What did he reply?" "He said that if I ditched him he would expose me to the world for the woman I was."

"You continued to go with him after that?" "Yes."

Mrs. Snyder then told of meeting Gray at a restaurant March 5, she having asked him to get a fancy whisky bottle to be used for making an electric lamp and a reducing "hip roller."

"What happened at the restaurant?" "He hurried away to catch a train, leaving a bundle, I thought contained only the reducer and the bottle."

Sashweight in Package.

"Anything else?" "Yes, a sashweight about a foot long and weighing about five pounds."

"Anything else?" "A note."

"What did the note say?" "It said he was coming over to get rid of my husband on March 7 and told me to give some powders that were also in the bundle to my husband. I threw the powders away and put the weight in the cellar."

After minor preliminary testimony Mrs. Josephine Brown, aged mother of Mrs. Snyder, had taken the stand just before the luncheon recess to tell what she knew of her daughter's married life.

Mrs. Brown said Gray called at the Snyder home three or four times. The first time Gray called it was regarding a corset, she said. The third time Gray called at the house Mrs. Brown said that she said to her daughter: "Don't have him come any more; it doesn't look right." She said that he did not come after that.

On the night of the murder, March 19, Mrs. Brown, who is a trained nurse, was at Kew Gardens, she testified.

William J. Millard of Gray's counsel asked Mrs. Brown if Snyder was ever present when Gray was at the Snyder home. "No," said Mrs. Brown.

When Mrs. Brown was excused the luncheon recess was taken. Mrs. Snyder greeted her mother during the recess. They kissed each other and the eyes of both filled with tears.

Statement by the Defense.

The defense was started today with the opening statement of Edgar F. Hazelton, counsel for Snyder.

"First we will show you," he said, "that Mrs. Snyder, the defendant, married her husband when she was very young and after Snyder's first fiancee had died. He did not forget that first woman. He even named his boat for her, the 'Jessie Gerhardt.'

"Only three months after the marriage he repulsed Ruth Snyder and said that if his first sweetheart had lived he would never have married this defendant. Bickering started, but she remained faithful and bore that man a child to try to bring back love into that house.

"But the father was not the compatible pal of the defendant, and the child annoyed him. Bickering grew worse and worse. Snyder was a good provider, but love was not in his heart.

"Faithful Till She Met Gray."

"Mrs. Snyder, though she may have gone out with men, morally was faithful until she met Henry Judd Gray, who found her a fit tool for his nefarious plans.

Hazelton said Gray "showered affection such as she had never known" on Mrs. Snyder and she "inevitably gave way."

"They became as intimate," the lawyer continued, "as any two beings can be, but this woman is not being tried for adultery. It was Gray who first mentioned insurance and advised Mrs. Snyder that her husband ought to be covered. Snyder had recently had two automobile accidents. Mrs. Snyder spoke to her husband and he said to call an insurance man.

"There was no concealment. Snyder knew what he was doing and told his wife to have the policies taken out. The premiums were paid from a joint account so there could have been no secret. After the premiums had been paid they decided together that the financial burden was too great. She went to the insurance company twice to see about cancellation and was advised that she could not withdraw her premiums for three years.

"So the Snyders let it stand. And that is the proof that Mrs. Snyder never had a secret insurance motive to kill her husband."

Says Gray Borrowed Hundreds.

In the meantime, Hazelton went on, Gray was borrowing hundreds of dollars from Mrs. Snyder, never to repay it.

"We will show you," he shouted, "that Gray was the motivating personality behind all this, that he was continually broke and planned to get money by whatever means."

Hazelton then took up the reports of previous attempts on Snyder's life before he was killed. "Why, you know how accidents happen," he said. "When a gas tube came loose and endangered Snyder, Mrs. Snyder wrote to Gray about it and he wrote back, 'You ought to get a long tube and put it under the Governor's nose.' He called Snyder 'the Governor.'

"It was Gray, with his eye on that insurance, who pressed her to get rid of the Governor and threatened to kill both her and himself if she did not take her husband's life.

"On March 5 they met and he gave her a package which he said contained a reducing 'hip roller,' she had wanted. When she got home and opened the bundle there was the sashweight.

Coming "To Get the Governor."

"Gray, following his nefarious plan, had inclosed a letter in the bundle in which he said he was coming out on March 7 to 'get the Governor.' 'Put this weight under the pillow in mother's room.' There were also powders in the bundle 'to give the Governor at supper.'

"Gray came on March 7 and asked if she would let him do it. She said, 'Judd, you're crazy. No never.' Then he threatened her but she was adamant, and he went away."

Lawyer Rips Off His Collar.

Hazelton worked himself into a frenzy of oratory and tore his starched collar from his neck. Mrs. Snyder showed great interest, nodding from time to time, seeming to take real pleasure in the address. Gray was attentive, but remained slumped in his chair. Once he glared at Hazelton as details of the murder were told.

When the lawyer told of Gray pushing Mrs. Snyder from the bed, and of her fainting, Gray remarked, "She is the type of woman who faints easily." Then the spectators burst into a sudden involuntary laugh and attendants shouted for order.

After this, Hazelton said, the matter was dropped until March 16, when Mrs. Snyder got a letter saying he was going to "do the job" on March 19, inclosing more powders.

"She threw the powders away," the lawyer continued, "and she had returned the sashweight before. But you can realize what her condition must have been? She reacted just as you or I would. She went to the card party and returned, expecting to see Gray, and she did see him in the dark of her mother's room. When her daughter and husband were asleep she went to Gray. She had put a bottle under the pillow and he had drunk most of the whisky. She sat on the bed and he kissed her.

Mrs. Snyder Balked, He Says.

"He asked if she meant 'to go through' with it and she said no, but he said he would do it himself. She begged and pleaded and cried. She got him downstairs. He had a revolver in his hand and threatened her. She ran upstairs and while she was in the bathroom she heard a heavy thud. She rushed out and there she saw Gray straddling the prostrate form of her husband and beating him to death.

"She tried to drag Gray off, but he pushed her and she fell, fainting. When she came to the deed was done, and the bloody print of Gray's hand where he had pushed her was on her breast."

Hazelton said Gray then told Mrs. Snyder that she must help make it look like a burglary, "because they were both in it now and the blood on her gown would convict her."

"He planned the alibi," said the lawyer, "and then disclosed the fact that the insurance was his motive. When she knew at last that not love of her, but only love of money had actuated him, she became terrified and did blindly what she was bid. For she knew then that she was in the power of a mercenary monster."

Samuel Miller addressed the jury in behalf of Gray, reading his remarks from typed sheets. He said it would be shown Gray's confession was obtained under duress. Gray, he said, was not of rational mind and was "hopelessly intoxicated" at the time of the crime and was "dominated by a will not his own."

"He struggled against that driving power," said the lawyer, "but without avail. He had no motive for crime, nor any intent. He was dominated by a cool, dominating, deadly, abnormal, inhuman woman. He was in the abys, driven by this malicious character.

"Gray will go on the stand and will tell his own story."

First Defense Witness Clled.

Harry Hide, an insurance man, was called as the first witness by Hazelton. Hide was manager of the Jamaica office of the company that insured Snyder. His testimony was perfunctory.

John Kaier Jr., manager of a branch insurance office at Richmond Hill, and formerly employedq at the Jamaica office, testified that he remembered Mrs. Snyder calling on him about cancellation of her husband's insurance.

Sylvester S. May, a Brooklyn newspaper man, who said he had known Gray 15 years, took the stand and told of getting a telegram from Gray two days before the killing. He obeyed its instructions by calling Mrs. Snyder and telling her to watch for a letter. That was the letter Hazelton mentioned in his opening, which set the night of March 19 for the killing.

When court reconvened after lunch, many reporters could not get through the crowd jammed outside the door of the courtroom. The crowd stood densely packed outside the doors. The doors were locked. The confusion for a time threatened to precipitate the crowd over the low railing that protects a well to the ground floor, three stories below. After police had ejected all without cards, the doors were opened and the courtroom packed to suffocation.

Sylvester May was recalled. He read the telegram from Gray, the contents of which he relayed by telephone. He said he had relayed similar messages before and had accompanied Gray and Mrs. Snyder to "various night clubs." On these occasions, he said, they drank liquor and stayed until early hours of the morning.

Wellston Triplets at Age of 3½

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

RAYMOND, Ruth and Robert Schieferly, triplets, who were born Oct. 15, 1923, and who report, after three and one-half years of it, that life is not so bad.

Ruth is the readiest of the three, according to her mother, Mrs. Aurelia Schieferly of 2141 Cherry avenue, Wellston, and was the first to walk and to talk. Robert, the husky lad at the right, can kick a football, and Raymond, at the left, wants to be a soldier. Ruth has brown eyes and brown hair, her brothers are blue-eyed and blonde.

This is the second time their photograph has been in the Post-Dispatch, the other having been published when they were a week old.

Mrs. Schieferly, who was herself a twin, is the mother of four other children. She is 38 years old. Joseph Schieferly, 50 years old, father of the triplets, also is father of two sets of twins by another marriage. He is a painter.

The children like candy, and they like to play, and they like to look at the animals in the Zoo, but there is one thing they abominate—elevators. Ask any Post-Dispatch elevator girl.

HOUSEBOAT FOLK SHOOT IT OUT OVER ELECTRICITY FIGHT

A serpent in the form of modern improvements has entered into the houseboat colony at Bremen avenue and the wharf, and peace has gone out of that Eden-by-the-river. Two dwellers therein are suffering from buckshot wounds, two more are banished unto a police station, and the others are sorely wrought.

The thought that electric lights would be a boon to the colony recently struck William F. Taylor, whose houseboat is moored at 3710 North Wharf, and William Miller, next-door neighbor at 3708. They induced the Union Electric Co. to erect poles and string wires to their boats. And the night was made bright as the day.

Floods Break the Wires.

Other houseboaters, using coal-oil lamps, longed for mazdas. Taylor offered to permit his neighbors to tap his wires—he to pay the whole meter bill and they to pay him a flat rate of $2 a month. Came the flood. The wires broke and were repaired. Taylor notified his customers a repair charge would be added to the $2.

Great was the indignation. Cries of "Robber" and "Profiteer" smote the air last night at a mass meeting at Miller's boat. The meeting was a wow and broke up in a row.

"All you yellow —— better atteid to your d—n business," Taylor's wife, Lottie, 38 years old, is said to have observed as the colonists streamed homeward.

"That's just what you ought to do," retorted Clarence E. Winston of number 3840.

Then the Trouble Starts.

Then the shooting began, Taylor employing a double-barreled shotgun and Winston a revolver. Winston, who is 38 and a car inspector, went to City Hospital with 60 buckshot in his body and face. He probably will lose the sight of his right eye. A bystander, Ralph Chord, 16, of number 3824, received 11 pellets in his back. Taylor, who is 53 years old and a collector, and his wife, are docked at the North Market Street Police Station.

Belleville To Deny Wage Increase.

Requests of Belleville policemen and firemen for an increase of $15 a month, advancing their salary from $135 to $150, will be denied, according to the Belleville City Council, which hel dan informal meeting yesterday and decided that lack of revenue to meet the increase will prevent the city from granting it.

Creditors Scent Profit In Mrs. Lydig's New Book

"Tragic Mansions" a Tale of "The Futility of Fashionable Life" May Pay Part of Bankrupt's $94,000 Debt.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—"Tragic Mansions," a book by Mrs. Rita de Alba de Acosta Lydig, to be put on sale tomorrow, is interesting the creditors scheduled in her list of $94,351 of debts in her petition in voluntary bankruptcy she filed in Federal Court April 6.

Harry H. Oshrin, counsel for Miss de Wolfe, an interior decorator, said: "I shall certainly attach the income from that book. I shall also start attachment proceedings against several other sources of income that Mrs. Lydig forgot to mention when she listed her sole assets as her clothing, her library and the furnishings of her home at No. 123 East Fifty-fifth street."

The exact nature of the "other sources" Oshrin declined to specify, asserting that to do so would be detrimental to the interests of his clients.

"I can say, however, that this income amounts to about $40,000 a year and that Mrs. Lydig receives it for 15 years. Just what it is probably will develop when she is examined again next Monday before Referee Robert P. Stephenson."

Proving That the Movies Are Right.

Oshrin also disclosed that the Lydig house in Fifty-fifth street is due to become a "tragic mansion" itself May 10, for that date has been set for the sale by auction of the house furnishings.

"Tragic Mansions," the book describing "the tragic futility of fashionable life" is not autobiographical Mrs. Lydig says. Instead, she essays, as she puts it, "to take some typical houses of the fashionable rich and tell the true story of the lives that have been lived there. But to do this without scandal and a gross breach of faith I shall have to disguise all the recognizable details of these stories so that no one will know of whom I am writing."

And from that paragraph, which opens the second chapter, to the end of the book theer si a succession of such anonymous anecdotes, all, if Mrs. Lydig is accepted as an authority, proving that the authors of the stereotyped movie and melodrama scenes of "high society" draw their material from absolutely authentic sources.

The men are Reggie and Percy and Waldo. The women are Eleanor and Jeanne and Cecilia. There are the decadent Bishop, and the uncouth, mastiff-like financial giant who despoils a home, to be in turn worsetd by the shrewd, unscrupulous politician.

A Typical Bit.

Typical of the sort that can hardly be expected to enthrall readers of a tabloid page is the story of the "genuinely cultivated Jew, long unorthodox and liberal in religion, who wished to join the congregation of a Christian church that is the most fashionable on Fifth avenue."

"He and his wife," Lydig's account runs, "were welcomed sweetly by the rector. They professed and were confirmed and entered into the communion of the sacraments and rented a conspicuous pew and gave liberally to the support of the work of the diocese out of a fortune that is notably large even for Manhattan. After they had been attending services and contributing piously for several months the wife went to the rector to tell him how she and her husband had enjoyed his sermons and been uplifted by their faith. 'But,' she complained, 'although we've been members of your congregation since last autumn, we have not yet met one of your other parishioners.' The rector was most apologetic. 'Why didn't you speak of it before?' he said. 'What an oversight! I'm entirely to blame. Forgive me, dear lady. Will you come to tea in the rectory next—say, Thursday afternoon? And I'll invite them all to meet you.'

"She accepted with pleasure. The invitations were sent out. She and her husband drove to the rectory on the appointed afternoon, saw the line of motors parked along the curb, entered smilingly and were introduced with unction by the rector to Mr. and Mrs. Cohen, let us say, and the Levys and the Goldsteins and the Greenburgs and so forth. There was not a born Christian among them."

WOMAN INJURED WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER AFTER COLLISION

Car in Which She and Man Are Riding Struck by Another on Roadway.

Miss Elas Beckemeyer, 40 years old, of 8021 Canton avenue, St. Louis County, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in a serious condition this morning suffering from cuts and internal injuries received in an automobile collision at Partridge avenue and Olive Street road.

She was riding in an automobile driven by William S. Deuser, at whose home she is a roomer, when another car swerved from behind a truck, hitting the Deuser car head-on and turning it over. Miss Beckemeyer and Deuser, pinned under the car, were extricated by passersby.

The driver of the other car, Charles Neova, of 5443 Columbia avenue, was unhurt. Deuser was slightly cut and bruised. Both men were taken to the Sheriff's office in Clayton for questioning.

BOY, 10, HURT BY STEPPING ON RUSTY NAIL, DIES OF TETANUS

John Dickason's Injury Suffered Week Ago, Was Considered Trivial Until Wednesday.

John Dickason, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dickason, 4155 Westminster place, died at City Hospital at 2:40 a. m. today of tetanus, which resulted from running a rusty nail in his foot.

The boy ran the nail in his foot a week ago yesterday while at play in the rear yard of his home. Believing the wound to be trivial the parents applied home remedies and a physician was not called until last Wednesday, when the boy complained of muscular pains, the first symptoms of tetanus. The physician ordered the patient removed to City Hospital, where it was found the disease had made such headway as to make serum ineffective.

INDICTMENT TO BE DISMISSED

One of Several Against Barrett Brothers, Sedalia Bankers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 29.—An indictment against W. W. Barrett and E. R. Barrett, president and vice president, respectively, of the defunct American Exchange Bank of Sedalia, will be dismissed today. It charged them with making alleged misrepresentations of the solvency of $535,000 in assets of their bank, which were sold to another Sedalia bank. The case was brought to the Cole County Circuit Court on a change of venue and dismissal is to be ordered because of a defect in the indictment.

Another indictment charging the Barrett brothers with obtaining money under false pretenses, in connection with the sale of a $2500 second mortgage, alleged to have been represented as a first mortgage, also was brought here on a change of venue. This case would be tried here later. Several other indictments were returned against the Barretts at Sedalia but only two cases were brought here on the change of venue.

2 ROBBERS GET 5 YEARS EACH

One Receives Additional Two Years for Carrying Concealed Weapon.

Bernard Gordon, 31 years old, of Green Bay, Wis., was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for robbery and two years for carrying concealed weapons today when he pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Ossing. He admitted holding up Fred Delano, 1809 Market street, a hotel clerk, April 7.

John Burrow, 17 years old, a Negro, 3707 Hickory street, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve five years for robbing the butcher shop of Julius Sonnle, 4259 Sarpy avenue, of $70 last Dec. 22.

Special Selling of Silk Hose

Irregulars of Sheer Duchesse Chiffon Hose $1.15 All Colors Full Fashioned Very Special

The smart chiffon weight—a beautiful thread silk from top-to-toe, but carefully reinforced with double soles and high spliced heels. The slight imperfections that class these Stockings as "irregulars" are little thicknesses here and there in the weight of the silk and are very difficult to find, and in no way affect the wearing qualities or beauty for which Sheer Duchesse are renowned.

Sheer Duchesse Quality

(Hosiery Dept. and Squares 1 and 22—Main Floor.)

ST. LOUIS PLANE PROVES READINESS FOR PARIS FLIGHT

OVERSEA JOURNEY TO TAKE 32 HOURS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 29.—Charles Lindbergh, chief air mail pilot of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation of St. Louis, who plan to start tomorrow on a non-stop flight to St. Louis, preparatory to an attempt to fly from New York to Paris, is testing out his 200-horse power Ryan monoplane here today, having made a successful flight with the new ship yesterday.

Today's tests will be for weight-carrying capacity and speed. Lindbergh already has proved the airworthiness of his ship in a flight lasting 26 minutes yesterday afteroon. He took off at 2 o'clock, made a perfect landing a short time later, took off again and once more landed neatly. He expressed himself as well pleased with the ship.

Paced During Speed Dash.

Aviation experts were impressed by the performance of Lindbergh's plane. Yesterday he was testing only the engine and controls and had only 15 gallons of gasoline in the tanks. The ship left the ground cleanly after a run of 50 yards and, despite stiffness of working parts, handled well in the air. Toward the end of the flight five pursuit planes from North Island Naval Air Station paced Lindberg in a speed dash and the Ryan acquitted itself creditably. It has a top speed of 140 miles an hour and is driven by a single Wright "Whirlwind" motor.

Lindbergh has christened the ship "The Spirit of St. Louis." It cost about $18,000 and on it he depends for the 32 hours of continuous flight necessary to an Atlantic crossing. The hop from here to St. Louis will be little more than a warming-up for the ship, Lindbergh feels. Certainly it will have few of the hazards of the jump across the ocean. On this flight the ship will be weighted with 3000 pounds of gasoline and oil and will not carry any flotation devices. If the ship fell into the ocean, its pilot would have a slim chance of rescue.

Land Beacons His Guides.

Lindbergh is unable to say definitely whether he will leave here tomorrow when he will start his trans-Atlantic flight. His tentative plan calls for a hop-off from San Diego, tomorrow afternoon and arrival in St. Louis Sunday afternoon. He will follow the air mail route across, making use of its night beacons. At St. Louis the beacon on the top of the Bell Telephone Building will guide him to the St. Louis Flying Field. He plans to arrive in New York the middle of May, there to await propitious weather conditions for the Atlantic flight.

His attempt to fly to Paris is being financed by a group of St. Louis business men interested in aviation and is sponsored by the St. Louis Flying Club. If he accomplishes the feat before other entrants in the race, he will win the $25,000 Raymond Orteig prize.

WEIGHT CAUSES ACOSTA TO QUIT OVERSEA AIR FLIGHT

Realizing Every Pound Counts, Joint Duration Record Holder, Retires From Contest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Bert Acosta, joint holder with Clarence D. Chamberlin of the world's duration flight record, has withdrawn from the projected New York-to-Paris flight of the Wright-Bellanco monoplane, Columbia, in favor of the man who recently flew 51 hours with him in the same machine. It had been announced a coin would be tossed to decide which of the two would accompany Lloyd W. Bertaud, air mail pilot and navigator, when the plane starts its 3600-mile trans-Atlantic trip.

Acosta, a former winner of the Pulitzer trophy race, in a letter to Charles A. Levine, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation which owns the Wright-Bellanca, and is backing the Paris flight, said he was stepping out because he weighs 60 pounds more than Chamberlin.

He said he had watched the useful load of the monoplane increase as instruments necessary were installed, and realized every pound counted and that saving his overweight would "materially advance" the chance of success. He said he intended to go ahead assisting in preparations just as though he was a member of the crew.

G. M. Bellanca thinks the Paris flight may start within a week or ten days, if the weather is favorable, or may wait until the next full moon, about the middle of May.

CLEANS & POLISHES NICKEL & GLASS NO MUSS-NO DUST

TWO USES IN ONE POLISH FOR AUTOS!

METALGLAS

is not only the best but the safest polish for nickel trim of automobiles, and has no equal for cleaning the glass of closed cars. Cleans quickly and does not leave white dust, and the oil film causes rain to run off instead of forming in beads.

It will not injure nickel or silver plating. Most polishes contain acids or heavy abrasives which soon cut through nickel plate. METALGLAS contains no grit, whiting, ammonia, acids or injurious chemicals. It removes tarnish, grease and other accumulations by a cleaning rather than a scouring process.

has a vegetable oil base which leaves an imperceptible film on the surfaces cleaned, making them impervious to rain spots, stains, etc.

In addition to its value for automobiles, METALGLAS has many uses in the home; it leaves a brilliant lasting lustre on silverware, nickel bathroom fixtures, cut glass, mirrors, windows, etc. Get a tin today from your department store, druggist, hardware or auto accessory dealer, or send us 25c for trial tin.

EUROPEAN STEEL CARTEL GROWING

(Copyright, 1927.)

BERLIN, April 1.—For six months the European steel combine has been in successful operation.

This organization, also known as the Continental Steel Cartel, probably is the greatest international economic organization in the world. It comprises the steel makers of four or five countries and those of three or four more are expected to enter.

Before the war Europe as a unit produced twice as much cast iron and half again as much steel as the United States. In Europe, Germany was far in the lead in both. Britain came second, France was a poor third. This is one fact that explains much of the marvelous tenacity of the Germans during the war and the difficulties of the Allies until they had properly organized importation from the United States.

Now this picture has changed. The United States, which in 1913 led the world in steel production, now produces more steel than the rest of the world together.

But most of America's steel is consumed at home. And in the United States the coal mines and iron mines are united behind a common frontier. So are they in England, though the British import in addition a considerable quantity of iron ore. So were they in Germany before the war.

Iron and Coal Separated.

The Allied victory changed this situation. The greatest coal deposit in western continental Europe is in the valley of the insignificant Ruhr River—which is German. The greatest iron deposit stretches beneath the ground in a broad strip starting at Nancy in France and running north through Lorarine and Luxembourg into Belgium. It is estimated to contain several billion tons of ore. After 1870 Germany possessed msot of Lorraine, therefore most of the iron.

During the World War the Germans occupied Belgium, Luxemburg and French Lorraine and extracted huge quantities of iron ore. But by the treaty of Versailles France recovered almost the entire Lorraine fields. By purchase and pressure on the previous German private owners she has since acquired a large share of the Luxemburg deposits and mills. In addition she has good-sized mines in Normandy and in the country of the Loire and Sarthe, at Perpignan in the Pyrenees and in Tunis, Algeria and Morocco.

Germany remained with only about a fourth of her previous supply of iron, scattered about the country (for the time she lost the blast furnaces in the Saar). But her coal fields in the Ruhr were intact (more valuable than iron ore). Her blast furnaces and her steel mills had grown considerably.

Germany Imported Coal.

France obtained immense amounts of iron and had too little coal. Germany possessed immense amounts of coal despite the Silesian loss but lacked iron. For five years the Germans had, by treaty, to supply the French with so much metallurgical coke as reparations. This period lapsed in January, 1925. During most of this time the German currency was badly inflated and Germany imported iron from Spain and Sweden and competed with the French. Even in 1925, for political reasons, she refused to import French ore. But meanwhile the French production prices had sunk with the currency to a point where that country could undersell the Germans. Thanks to a ferocious tariff the Germans managed to hold their own by selling at outrageous prices in the home market, while dumping—viz. selling below cost—in the open market abroad. But they lost money.

Meanwhile, the French, unable to sell to Germany and facing the high prices connected with the evenutal stabilization of the currency, looked forward with apprehension to the future.

Convention Signed.

The result of German financial strain and French apprehension was the Continental Crude Steel Convention signed at Luxemburg Sept. 30, 1926.

By this steel convention, in which Belgium, Luxemburg and the somewhate nationally ambiguous Saar territory were included, the unity of the "greatest single industrial district in the world" was consolidated. The German coal was, or will be shortly, married to the French iron. The steel producing industries in all these countries were relieved from virtually all fear of competition, steel prices in the open market were raised, the hitherto irreconcilable French and Germans were conciliated, the second strongest steel producing bloc in the world was created, the steel producers of Great Britain (and to a very small amount of the United States) were threatened, and what looks like an era of enormous international combines and trust was inaugurated.

If it lasts, the convention signed in the town of Luxemburg may prove an important historical landmark.

Nominated for Illinois Court.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., April 29.—Former Supreme Court Justice Charles C. Craig of Galesburg, has been nominated as the Democratic candidate for Supreme Court Justice for the Fifth District of Illinois.

Two Killed in Falling Plane.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., April 29.—Morris W. Bland, 25 years old, formerly a mechanic, for the Florida Airways Corporation, and Ernest Peach of Coral Gables, Fla., were killed in an airplane crash at Hialeah. The plane went into a nose dive and Bland, who was piloting the machine, apparently was unable to right it before it struck the ground.

Cissy Fitzgerald Sued for $50,000.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 29.—Cissy Fitzgerald, popular as a musical comedy actress some years ago, and now a screen character actress, is charged with alienating the affections of her son, Osmund Tucker, from her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vera Tucker, in a $50,000 suit filed in Superior Court.

ALTON FERRY AGROUND ON ERRAND OF MERCY

A determined effort is being made to refloat the Alton ferry boat, the owner of which, Capt. Carl Steiner, cruised along the subberged route of State highway No. 94 in Missouri Point, St. Charles County, last Wednesday, on an errand of mercy, only to go around on a hidden knoll.

The Mississippi-Missouri flood, which has covered most of Missouri Point, isolated much livestock on the high spots. Capt. Steiner, who ordinarily steers a placid course between Alton and the terminus of No. 94 with his big, sternwheel, gasoline-driven boat, decided to take some feed to the stock. Heading for the farm of Edgar Keen, he tried a short cut over an inundated corn field. The knoll stopped the craft with a shiver, three miles from the normal channel and near Spatterdock Lake.

All the tricks of river men so far have failed to budge the boat. Capt. Steiner got an old ferry, held in reserve, and tried to pull the stranded craft loose, but the rapidly falling water made it impossible. It appears he will have to wait till Missouri Point is left dry by the receding flood, then try to move the ferry boat to the river on rollers. The ferry measures about 25 by 60 feet, with a high pilot house, and is big enough to carry hal fa dozen automobiles. It cost $12,000.

The captain hasn't much time for further experiments in getting his boat out by its own power, as the river at Alton has fallen almost three feet since Wednesday, lowering the flood level on Missouri Point accordingly, and is still dropping.

PINEDO'S SPEECH TO FASCISTI STOPPED BY 200 RIOTERS

Italian Aviator Escapes Under Barrage of Rocks During Clash in New York.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The visit of Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator, precipitated a clash last night between Fascisti and their opponents. He escaped under a barrage of rocks, but a reporter, who carried a loaded pistol, was arrested. He is Antonio Tumbarello, 24 years old, of Brooklyn, who says he is correspondent for Il Legionaro, published in Italy.

De Pinedo and Count Thomas de Revel dined at the Club Fascist and left to attend a meeting of the Italian Honor Legion. Nearly 200 anti-Fascists had gathered and hoots greeted De Pinedo and the Count as they hurried upstairs. De Pinedo hardly had begun his address when a crash of shattered glass, then another and a shower of stones brought every Fascist to his feet. There was a rush for the door.

Outside the crowd had swelled to 1000. Someone telephoned the police and reserves arrived as De Pinedo, Count de Revel and the Fascisti emerged. The police used their night sticks and finally De Pinedo jumped into an automobile and escaped.

AIRPLANE CARRIER LANGLEY DISABLED BY EXPLOSION

Generator Blast Paralyzes All Electrical Machinery; Will Be Towed to New York.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—An explosion on the airplane carrier Langley at sea today paralyzed all electrical machinery aboard, the Navy Department was informed by radio. There were no casualties in the ship's personnel.

The accident occurred at 7 o'clock this morning while the Langley was proceeding with the fleet off New York. A 200-kilowatt generator exploded, carrying away the main injection line, cutting the auxiliary exhaust and steam lines completely. Although the ship was said to be taking water slightly, she was in no danger.

After the explosion the vessel anchored half a mile from Ambrose light. Later she will be towed to New York for repairs.

The Langley is the flagship of the air forces of the fleet. She is commanded by Commander John H. Towers.

The Langley is electrically propelled. An emergency radio outfit was unaffected. The leak was being met by the use of pumps, the Navy Department's advices said.

Assistant Secretary Warner, in charge of naval aviation, is aboard the disabled ship.

GANG OF ROBBERS INDICTED

Indictments charging robbery were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Lawrence Arens, his brother, Virgil Arens, Mrs. Rose Arens, divorced wife of Lawrence; her brother, Fred Razor; Leo Steiner and John Boehlein, who have confessed 87 holdups. The indictments replace warrants previously issued.

Bishop Lawrence to Retire.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 29.—Bishop William Lawrence will retire from his office as Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts tomorrow, having tendered his resignation because of advancing years. He will continue his duties at the cathedral in this city. Born in Boston, May 30, 1850, he became Bishop of Massachusetts in 1893, succeeding the late Bishrop Phillips Brooks.

NEW CONTROVERSY OVER NEGRO HOSPITAL APPEARS

Introduction of Condemnation Ordinance Revives Dispute on $1,200,000 Institution Site.

The prospect of another controversy over the site of the $1,200,000 City Hospital for Negroes, provided under the bond issue, appeared yesterday when a condemnation ordinance covering two city blocks bounded by Carroll and Grattan streets and Park and St. Ange avenues, north of the City Hospital, was introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Studt. He acted, he explained, on the request of Director of Public Welfare Salisbury.

A year ago the city administration, including Director Salisbury, was trying to convince Negro leaders that the hospital should be built as an adjunct to the present City Hospital plant, for reasons of economy and efficiency. Negro leaders held out for a site in the block bounded by Cottage and Goode avenues and Whittier and St. Ferdinand streets, saying the hospital should be a separate unit, placed in the center of Negro population.

Last summer Director Salisbury abandoned his opposition to the Western site, Mayor Miller conceded that a Negro hospital should be built, no matter where, but City Counselor Muench ruled that the hospital could not be built as an independent institution because the money was provided under a bond issue item allotting $4,500,000 for "additions and extensions to hospital buildings."

NEGRO IDENTIFIED AS ROBBER

"Tardie" Southern, 27 years old, a Negro, arrested near Fifteenth and Morgan streets yesterday, was identified later, Detective Sergeant Schaaf reported, by two grocers recently held up. Harry Friestater robbed of $40 last Saturday in his store at 3434 Walnut street, and August Leinhop of 2306 Dickson street held up on Twenty-third near Carr street, April 21 and robbed of $2, identified Southern, who denies his guilt.

Other grocers held up in a similar manner recently will be asked to look at the prisoner today.

PAY DAY APPEAL WITH FLOOD FUND ABOVE $182,000

Red Cross Asks Contributions From Wage Envelopes to Assist Mississippi Valley Sufferers.

ENTERTAINMENTS TO AID RELIEF WORK

Contributions to the St. Louis Red Cross flood relief fund exceeded $182,000 today when officials of St. Louis Chapter issued a "pay-day appeal" to men and women workers asking them to make contributions from their monthly or weekly pay envelopes or salary checks today or tomorrow.

The appeal is in line with the chapter's campaign to bring out small contributions of from $1 to $10 and make the fund a general public gift to the flood sufferers.

Benefit Performance.

Meanwhile several benefit shows are scheduled for the next few days with the entire proceeds to go to the relief fund. Tonight the Madison Kennel Club will donate its entire gate receipts. Tomorrow a midnight benefit show will be given at the Missouri Theater and Sunday afternoon there will be a Red Cross concert at Scottish Rite Cathedral, in which the Scottish Rite Choir will take part.

William M. Baxter Jr., chief of the Midwestern branch, announced that theaters throughout the 17 states of the district were co-operating with benefit performances and that in Boscobel, Wis., income from a "calamity fund" in the will of John Varrel, owner of a livery stable, had been diverted to the Red Cross. Varrell established the fund 25 years ago, stipulating that the income should be used for relief of those suffering in storms, floods, earthquakes and other acts of God.

Contributions Acknowledged.

With a school girl's contribution today came this penciled note: "I am sending $10 that I saved up to go to camp. I am 10 years old. And when I read the paper and saw that there had been so many floods and that the people had nothing, I decided to give my money up. Mother is giving us 10 cents a day if we're good. Then that goes to the Red Cross."

The East St. Louis Red Cross Chapter, meeting yesterday and the Community House, announced that $1715 had been subscribed to its flood relief fund. Subscriptions of $100 were received from Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Bowman, Casper-Stolle Quarry Co., Southern Illinois National Bank, William A. Rodenberg and the First National Bank.

MOTORIST FREED OF 60-DAY SENTENCE AND FINES OF $1300

Frank Agruso, Who Was Arrested by Police After Chase, Dismissed on Appeal to Judge Gayer.

Two workhouse sentences of 60 days each and fines totaling $1300 against Frank Agruso, 26 years old, of 1130 North Eighth street, were dismissed by Judge Gayer in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday on appeal from Police Court.

Agruso was fined $300 for resisting arrest and was given the workhouse sentences and fines of careless driving by Judge Beck on careless driving by Judge Beck on Feb. 1 last. He was arrested at Fourteenth and Biddle streets about 8 p. m., Jan. 30, after being chased by police for 18 blocks in a roundabout pursuit that started at Seventh and Biddle streets.

"I believe the police were anxious to see if Agruso had a gun on him rather than that they wanted to catch him for speeding or careless driving," declared Judge Gayer after an officer of the Carr street station testified that Agruso had surrendered at the point of a revolver.

JURY DISAGREES OVER CADDY'S DAMAGE SUIT

Boy Had Demanded $30,000, Declaring Golfer Responsible for Injury to His Eye.

The proper rights and duties of a caddy, about which there has been so much dispute and tense feeling between caddies and golfers, confused a jury in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's court yesterday and after five hours' futile deliberation over a personal injury damage suit involving the point, the jury was discharged.

Walter Biskup, 17 years old 4818 Austria avenue, formerly a caddy, had sued George Blumeyer, 3205 Hawthorne boulevard, president of the Eagle Supply Co., for $30,000 damages, alleging that Blumeyer was partly responsible for Biskup's being struck in the right eye by a golf ball at Sunset Hill Country Club on July 4, 1922.

The ball was driven, or, rather, sliced, by Blumeyer's guest, Homer A. Hoffman. Young Biskup had walked ahead with Blumeyer, for whom he was caddying, and Hoffman's ball struck him a hard blow, greatly impairing the sight of his right eye. Biskup's attorneys contended that both Hoffman and Blumeyer were responsible and at first brought joint action against them. A jury awarded Biskup $6000. The St. Louis Court of Appeals ordered a new trial as to Blumeyer, permitting the verdict to stand against Hoffman.

Yesterday the point at issue was: "Should Blumeyer have kept his caddy out of danger?" Former Circuit Judge Hugo Grimm, for the defense, spoke as a golfer and a lawyer. He asserted that the caddy should have kept Blumeyer out of danger. He declared that it was a proved impossibility to keep caddies out of danger. Not very much can be done with a caddy, Grimm contended. The caddy is the master and the golfer occupies the inferior position; it is a sort of king-slave complex. Caddies snicker at golfers. Caddies tell golfers how to golf.

It would have been presumptuous, Attorney Grimm said, for Blumeyer to have suggested to his caddy that he hadn't better run ahead of a man who was driving. The caddy would have resented it. Blumeyer was in the caddy's control, not the caddy in Blumeyer's, the defense argued.

DOCTOR FIRES AT BURGLAR; POLICE HOLD WOUNDED MAN

Prisoner Says He Was Hit by Stray Bullet; Other Burglaries.

Dr. T. E. Kallenbach of 3853 McPherson avenue fired three shots at a Negro burglar on the fire escape next to his apartment at 7:15 o'clock last night. An hour later police arrested at Channing avenue and Morgan street Albert Young, 19 years old, a Negro, with a bullet wound in the left leg.

Dr. Kallenbach identified the prisoner as the burglar. The Negro denied he was a burglar, saying he was in the alley behind 3400 Morgan street when he heard a shot and realized he was wounded.

A burglar described as short and very fat took 31 cents from the trousers pocket of John Brockmeyer, 3452 Tennessee avenue, in his bedroom at 2 a. m. today. Brockmeyer was awakened by a flashlight as the burglar climbed out a window.

A breastpin set with 39 diamonds and valued at $400 was stolen by a burglar from the home of George W. Millius, 5143 Westminster place, between 7 and 10 p. m.

BIGAMIST TALKS IN SLEEP, BETRAYS SELF TO WIFE NO. 2

She Investigates and Finds Other Mate; They Send Him to Sing Sing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—John Dillon, 21 years old, a piano mover, has been sentenced to serve from one to three years in Sing Sing for bigamy. His second wife, who was Beatrice Klotz, told the Court she first learned of her husband's other wife by listening when he talked in his sleep "on the night after we were married, April 4, last."

Investigating this clew, she said, she found a picture of Dillon's first wife who, until her marriage to Dillon, Nov. 29, 1924, had been Grace Smith. On the back of the picture was a name and address. A conference between tht two wives and Dillon's arrest followed.

JOHN R. HOLMES, FORMER ST. LOUISAN, DIES IN WEST

John R. Holmes, 50 years old, formerly of St. Louis, died at Pasadena, Cal., Wednesday. Mr. Holmes, who suffered from spinal trouble since childhood and was a semi-invalid in recent years, was engaged in real estate business at Pasadena.

The body will be brought to St. Louis with the body of Mr. Holmes' mother, Mrs. Julia Polwin Holmes, who died at Pasadena, Feb. 2, for burial in the family lot at Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mr. Holmes' father, the late John R. Holmes Sr., was engaged in the wholesale grocery business in St. Louis and later in the mining business at Joplin, Mo. In addition to the widow, a brother and a sister survive him, Robert P. Holmes and Mrs. Sidney R. Francis, both of Los Angeles, Cal.

HIGH BIDDER GIVEN CITY TIRE CONTRACT

Firms Offering Lower Prices Complain but the Award Stands.

One of the high bidders got the city's tire supply contract and yesterday the low bidders appeared before the Board of Standardization to find out why. They wanted to know if it was because State Senator Frank Warner is a salesman for the company which got the contract.

The Board of Standardization on April 4 received nine bids for a six-months' supply of assorted tires and tubes for automobiles and motor trucks in municipal use, and on April 15 awarded the contract to the Beverly Rubber Co., Grand boulevard and Humphrey street, which bid $16,478.83.

Low bidders were indignant, and told Mayor Miller so. The Mayor ordered the Board of Standardization to hold a hearing. Members of the board are Supply Commissioner Dietz, Arthur C. Meyers, engineer for Comptroller Nolte, and William E. Rolfe, assistant to President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service.

Arthur S. Fishell, president of the Fishell Tire Service Co., 3456 Olive street, which bid $13,560, and H. F. Schweighoefer of the Standard Tire Co., 2671 Washington boulevard, which bid $14,297.30, were among those who asked the board yesterday why the contract went to a higher bidder. Fishell later said he got no explanation. Schweighoefer brought up Senator Warner's name, and the board members told him Warner had not figured in the letting of the contract and they were unaware he was selling for the Beverly Company.

Richard Kennard and C. H. Reinhart of the Cupples Co., which underbid the Beverly company, but was not considered because it did not bid on all items, also appeared.

Commissioner Dietz said the Beverly company got the contract because it offered a heavier tire than the others. Fishell denied this was true. He and Schweighoefer insisted the tires they offered were better than the tire for which the Beverly company is agent.

Engineer Meyers said the contract had been awarded by the board after consultation with Walter Traber, superintendent of the municipal garage. Meyers said he did not feel that the board could reopen the bidding, now that the contract has been awarded.

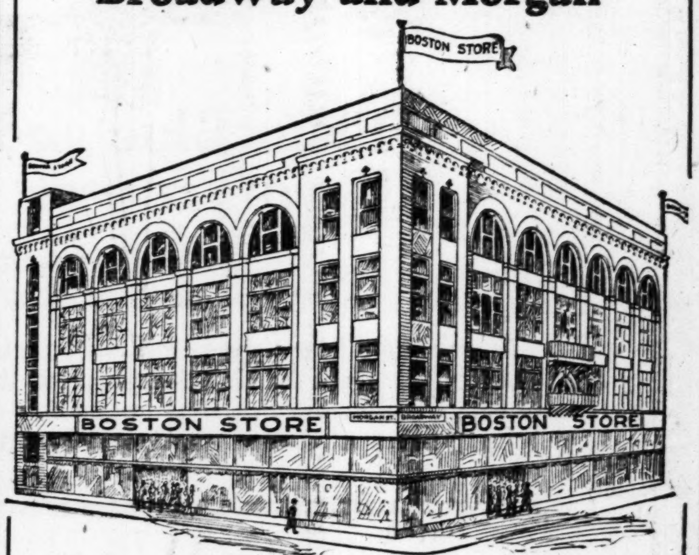
Our Big Store at Broadway and Morgan



Last Friday, April 22, was a Red-Letter day in the history of the Post-Dispatch. It again reached the 80-page peak of fame. Last Friday was also a Red Letter day for the Boston Store—while less than 60 days old, it is the fastest-growing store in St. Louis.

In the Boston Store advertisement—last Friday—you found among other nationally known merchandise these items at lower prices:

Palmolive Soap at 5c per bar; Kotex, 25c a box; Big Ben Alarm Clocks at $1.75 each; Imperial Word Rolls, 32c each. We were prepared with an inexhaustible supply of every item advertised. And WE DID NOT RUN OUT OF A SINGLE ITEM.

You, as a thrifty buyer, must have compared our prices with other stores in St. Louis? If you did you noticed that we were lower on every item.

Did you compare the prices in our other departments? Our Men's and Boys' Clothing Department, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department, our Wall-Paper Department, Shoe Department, Millinery Department and Floorcovering Department advertisements, all had unusual low-priced bargains.

Now for tomorrow—Saturday—we ask you to again compare our prices with any and every other store in St. Louis. You be the judge. You render the verdict. REMEMBER WE WILL NOT BE UNDERSOLD!

Why lower prices at the Boston Store? WE HAVE NO FANCY FIXTURES. WE DO NOT GIVE STAMPS. WE HAVE NO BAD DEBTS FOR WE HAVE NO CHARGE ACCOUNTS. COME! FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF THAT OUR PRICES ARE LOWER!

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18:—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is new entirely healed." (Signed) John John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

L. G. HADLEY ORDERED TO PAY $9464 TAXES

Glass Company Officer Loses Contest Over 1917, 1918 and 1919 Income Assessments.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Leo G. Hadley of the Hadley-Dean Glass Co. of St. Louis, has lost his contest with Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair over an aggregate deficiency of $9464.18 in income taxes for the calendar years 1917, 1918 and 1919.

In deciding that Hadley must pay that sum, in addition to amounts previously paid, the Federal Board of Tax Appeals declared that the earnings of a closed corporation like the Hadley-Dean Co., when credited to the principal stockholders, should be considered as distributed and are subject to the Federal income tax laws.

Books of the company had been kept in an unscientific manner, the board found. The case against Hadley was strengthened by the fact that George G. Heffernan, who owned one of the 200 shares of stock in the company, was paid a regular dividend, although Hadley and Owen M. Dean, the principal stockholders, got credits, instead of dividends.

"Heffernan was paid 1-200 of the net earnings, and the balance of the earnings was allowed to remain in the business, one-half being credited to Dean and one-half to Hadley, notwithstanding the fact that Dean owned 105 shares and Hadley 94 shares," says the board.

"The accounts of both these individuals were also credited with salaries, rental and an equal amount of interest."

In his contest over payment of the deficiency, Hadley declared that Commissioner Blair was attributing to him income which he had not, in fact, received and "was not in truth available for his use and enjoyment." The Board of Tax Appeals decided the credits to Hadley constituted income for him, as he had caused the credits to be made, had power to withdraw the earnings and had "in fact withdrawn amounts indiscriminately for his personal credit."

Since the three years involved in the $9,464.18 claim, Hadley has paid, under protest, the full tax claimed by the Government. The board's ruling makes this protest of no effect. Dean, the other principal stockholder, has not appealed to the board against any levies of Commissioner Blair.

SIMPLE FUNERAL FOR BEVERIDGE

Courts in Indianapolis Closed in Respect for Late Former Senator.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 29.—With simple services, Albert J. Beveridge's body was laid to rest in Crown Hill Cemetery today. The former United States Senator died early Wednesday from a heart attack after a brief illness.

Federal County and City courts were closed in Indianapolis out of respect for the man who had been prominent for many years in the country's politics and literary life. The Indianapolis Bar Association held services early today, with United States Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson, among the speakers. A brief service in the home followed by services of the Methodist Episcopal Church preceded the burial.

INJUNCTION OUSTS PASTOR

Pennsylvanians Go to Court When Preacher Won't Resign.

By the Associated Press.

NEWCASTLE, Pa. April 29.—County Judge R. L. Hildebrand has granted a temporary injunction restraining the Rev. Johann Zultner, pastor of the First Sibenburger Sachen Evangelical Lutheran St. Paul's Church of Elwood City, from appearing in or conducting services in the church. A hearing on a petition of several members of the congregation to make the injunction permanent will be held May 3.

The petition charged that the Rev. Zultner had conducted services in violation of the rules and regulations of the Evangelical Lutheran Church and that his administration had been "culminatory and outrageous," but no specific accusations were made. On April 3 a majority of the members passed a resolution dismissing the preacher from his pastorate, but he declined to resign.

7 NEW QUAKE WAVES FOUND BY ST. LOUISAN

The Rev. J. B. MacElwane Discloses Discoveries and Chartings to American Geophysical Union.

20 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Addressing the seismological section of the American Geophysical Union, which is holding its eighth annual meeting here, the Rev. James B. MacElwane, professor of geophysics at St. Louis University yesterday reported that he had discovered and charted seven new groups of seismic waves from a year and a half study of the records of the South Pacific earthquake of June 26, 1924.

Father MacElwane said these groups had appeared normally on the original seismograph records he had received from all parts of the world. Study of the groups tended to prove that the boundary of the earth's core is very sharp, he said. In two instances the waves rebounded quickly from the core.

The significance of the discoveries were three-fold, he continued: First, that a series of waves heretofore unexplained, yet appearing regularly on the graphs, had been charted; second, that the directions and deflections of the waves verified the position of the earth's core and revealed something of the earth's structure, and third, that the waves gave an additional measurement for the location of earthquakes.

For the last two years, Father MacElwane has studied the various waves appearing on the seismographic records. During this time he has charted more then 25 of the several hundred waves which have been baffling seismologists. He finished his work on the seven new groups within the last few weeks. In his talk, Father MacElwane disclosed that his associate at the St. Louis station, the Rev. William C. Repetti, S. J., will announce to the eastern section of the Seismographic Society of America at its meeting in Boston next week that he has discovered a new surface seismic wave which travels with tremendous velocity.

Father MacElwane also reported on the progress made by the Jesuit Seismological Association during the last year. He said that two new stations would be opened in St. Louis shortly, one in the concrete vault under the St. Louis University gymnasium and the other at Florissant, St. Louis County. A third new station, under the auspices of the Jesuit Association, will be opened at Cincinnati.

The Rev. J. S. Joliat of Boston showed lantern slides of the two new St. Louis stations.

Four School Girls Killed in Auto.

By the Associated Press.

LEBANON, Ind., April 29.—Four Indianapolis girls, students of Shortridge High Schol, were killed when an automobile in which they were speeding from their classes to Crawfordsville, to attend a party, crashed into a bus seven miles south of here. Two passengers and the driver of the bus were injured slightly. The dead: Edith Jane Dyer, 17 years old; Mary Louise Jones, 16; Betty Ellis, 17; Edith Mae Messick 16.

NORTHWEST CELEBRATING EXPLORERS' MEETING TODAY

One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Anniversary of Vancouver-Gray Junction Commemorated.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 29.—One hundred and thirty-five years ago today Capt. George aVncouver, the British explorer, and Capt. Robert Gray, an American, conducing expeditions of discovery for their respective countries, accidentally met off the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Commemorating the historic event, Gov. Roland H. Hartley of Washington and Premier John Oliver of British Columbia, and the Mayors of Puget Sound and British Columbia cities and other gathered in Seattle today.

Capt. Gray turned his sloop Columbia to the south to discover the great Columbia River and take possession of the territory for the United States. Capt. Vancouver passed through the strait to discover and name Puget Sound and to find that it was not the long-sought Northwest Passage.

The waters Vancouver discovered in 1792 have developed into one of the great trade arteries of the world. Twenty-seven million tons of cargo moved last year through the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Woman Passes Worthless Check.

Mrs. Nellie Sandidge, milliner at 3705 Washington boulevard, sold $111 worth of garments yesterday afternoon to an attractive young woman, who took a two-piece suit valued at $34, with her. She ordered the remainder delivered at a St. Louis County address and paid with a check which proved to be worthless.

RHEM WINS AGAIN; TWO-BASE HITS BEAT CARL MAYS

BROWNIES' GAME CALLED OFF; RAIN

By Jack Alexander,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CHICAGO, April 29.—If this 1927 Brownie machine ever gets firing consistently on all cylinders, it may set some records, but to date its history has been a case of several cylinders missing and the others making the car go at alternate intervals.

Today's game was postponed on account of rain.

Yesterday, in addition to having several lungs out of whack, the mixture generated by the board of advisers was too lean and the old skatterbolt limped badly in several innings when a good mixture would have pushed it across the finish line a winner. Cylinders Tom Zachary, Steve O'Neill and Harry Rice carried the drag most of the way, but the first named cylinder cracked in the eleventh lap and the Chicago White Sox thunderbolt roared past, victorious by a score of 2 to 1.

Sisler Takes a Nap.

Sisler functioned efficiently at times and at other times he was pretty bad. Imagine getting caught napping off first base in the eleventh inning. The former manager has been one of the main sources of power in the campaign thus far, but yesterday he was off for mud.

On the other hand, Harry Rice, who hasn't been hitting the size of his hat most of the trip and has been fielding in spotty fashion, has suddenly come to life in the last two games and hit and fielded brilliantly, thereby saving himself a trip to the bench which was in the offing.

Schulte, who hit safely in seven straight games up to a few days ago, has fallen off in his stickwork, although still an efficient fielder. O'Rourke has likewise suffered in his batting average in the past few games. He was a hitting demon for a while.

Infield Slowed Down.

It is that way all through the organization. Gerber was a sieve on defense for a while, but the shortstop is now airtight. As might be expected, however, his batting has slumped. The temporary loss of Melillo through a charley horse has slowed down the double play machinery just a bit, but Spencer Adams is well up both in hitting and fielding and Melillo's absence is not greatly felt. Oscar got in yesterday's game and plainly was playing under restraint. Adams

HOT OFF THE BAT

By John E. Wray

A Million for Dempsey.

JACK DEMPSEY this morning is probably figuring out what to do with his next million.

That is not an idle speculation for the "Killer." The million is in sight. $300,000 will come from his bout with Uzcudun, July 1—Rickards promises that much.

Twice that much ought to come from his battle with the winner of the Maloney-Sharkey fight.

After that he will get an indefinitely great amount for fighting Tunney. Last time he received three fourths of a million dollars for battling Tunney.

* * *

FUTURE generations will ponder over the amazing fact that in our times a man could earn one million dollars for what will amount to, at the very most, two hours and 15 minutes of actual work at his trade!

That the public will pay more than a million dollars for something of no intrinsic value, involving acts that are prohibited by the statutes of nearly two thirds of the United States, and for entertainment lasting only 135 minutes, is almost incredible.

Historians of the future will surely wonder at us when they read of it. They probably will concur with the Shaksperean character who said:

"What fools these mortals be?"

Food for Thought.

AMATEURISM as practiced in our colleges is given a solid soak on the cabeza by Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, Florida. Writing in the Review of Reviews, he says:

"If it is impossible to find enough colleges to play against under purely amateur conditions, I am ready to suggest that we abandon OUR PRETENSE AT AMATEURISM and come out open and above board for professionalism.

"I would be perfectly willing to print in our catalogue how much we pay our pitcher, our quarterback and our high jumper.

"I never could see any moral or other distinction between a

English Star a Yard Behind in 400-Meter Hurdles Event.

By the Associated Press.

FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Lord David Burghley, titled British hurdler from Cambridge University, was defeated by Johnny Gibson, stocky Fordham University star, in a special 400-meter hurdle race at the Pennsylvania relay carnival. Another Cambridge entrant, T. C. Livingston-Learmouth, was third and last.

Lord Burghley made a gallant effort to repeat his 1925 triumph in this event. He failed only by a yard to close a gap of five yards that Gibson gained in the early part of the race when the blond, pink-cheked British nobleman stumbled over one of the hurdles and lost his stride.

The British star, who had the crowd "pulling" for him in his game closing spurt, rushed up to pat Gibson on the back after the finish.

Gibson was pushed most of the way by Livingstone-Learmouth but the latter dropped back in the last few yards. It was the second straight year the Fordham ace has won the event. His time was 55 2-5 seconds, one second slower than the carnival record.

Cards Game Off; Two Tomorrow

Dempsey Will Be Own Manager Rickard States

Promoter Refuses to State What Boxer Will Receive for Paulino Bout.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Jack Dempsey will hit the heavyweight comeback trail this summer without the guidance of a manager.

The former champion, accepting Tex Rickard's terms for a test bout with Paulino Uczudun here early in July, has informed the New York promoter he will boss his own campaign to regain the title. And Rickard thinks his judgment is good.

"Jack doesn't need a manager. He is a good business man himself and I will help look after his financial affairs," says Tex.

Gene Normile, business representative of the erstwhile titleholder last year confirmed Dempsey's announcement that he is now without managerial assistance. Normile also affirmed Trainer Gus Wilson's report of Dempsey's good condition, declaring that "Jack never looked better in all his career."

Although Rickard refused to name the purse he will post for Dempsey's first match, reports came from Madison Square Garden that the dethroned king will receive approximately $250,000. In accepting Paulino as his first foe, Dempsey also agreed to meet the winner of the Sharkey-Maloney fight, Rickard asserted.

The survivor of the latter match is slated to be Gene Tunney's opponent in the championship battle next September.

BEAUMONT ATHLETES LEAD IN TRACK MEET

Beaumont led the Roosevelt track meet after the midget and junior events of a dual meet had been completed at Beaumont Field. The two schools tied in the midget class when both teams gathered 38½ points but the North Siders jumped into the lead when the Beaumont juniors ran up 64¾ points as opposed to the 53¼ score of the Roosevelt Athletes.

The senior events will be run off this afternoon on the same field.

STURTRIDGE GAINS LEAD IN DECATHLON

Elliott, Flying Parson, Equals Record in 100-Meter Event at Penn Carnival.

By the Associated Press.

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 29.—With five events completed but the official point score tabulated on only three, Virgil Elliott, the athletic parson from Bethany College, West Virginia, held the lead today in the intercollegiate decathlon championship, opening feature of the Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Elliott won the 100 meter dash in record-equaling time and had a total of 2162.8055 points. His nearest rivals were Ralph White, New York University, with 2033.709 points and Dick Sturtridge, Depauw University, 2031.3575 points.

Allen Logan of Emory University, won the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet, 11 inches while Vernon Kennedy of Central Missouri State Teachers' College captured the shotput with a heave of 41 feet, 6⅝ inches.

The high jump went to John Doherty, college of the City of Detroit, who cleared 5 feet, 11 inches, two inches better than Sturtridge and Logan.

Tabulation of points for five events in the decathlon showed a keen four-cornered fight in progress, with Sturtridge slightly in the lead with 3580.76-25 points. Doherty was next with 3553.1915, Elliott third with 3522.6455 and White fourth with 3506.146.

The decathlon summaries:

CARDINALS BUNCH THREE DOUBLES AND TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

Bottomley, Bell and Hafey Hit Two-Baggers in Succession in Fourth Inning—Haines, Ring or Reinhart to Face Cincinnati in Second Game.

By J. Roy Stockton

There's power scattered all through the batting order of the World Champion Cardinals and that's one of the reasons the team is always dangerous. Several of the athletes are in hitting slumps, but that does not mean that they go up and take three swings and sit down. There's dynamite in every Cardinal bat and Carl Mays learned yesterday that even a slumping batter can knock you for a row of two base hits.

Jim Bottomley and Lester Bell had been having such a tough time getting base hits that the good fans were stopping each other on the street and asking what was the matter with Jim and what ailed Lester. They had been popping the ball into the air feebly and consistently.

But in the fourth inning, after the Reds had bunched two hits in their half to tie the score at 1-1, Bottomley walked to the plate. Frankie Frisch had just smacked one of Carl Mays' offerings, but Curt Walker had raced to the pavilion wall and dragged it down, though he bumped his head in the doing. Bottomley picked on the first pitch and lashed a double to center.

Bell Hits One, Too.

Bell figured if Jim could step out of the slump that way, why couldn't he do the same, and he did. He also picked on the first pitch. The ball was on the inside of the plate and Bell's vicious cut sent it on a line to left, just inside the foul line, and that scored Bottomley.

Chick Hafey had not been in a slump. His fence busting has been one of the features of the Cardinal attack, and so now Mays was in trouble. Hafey chose the first one. He didn't care where it was. The idea now was to hit Mays while he was still there to hit, as substitute pitchers were warming up feverishly. The first pitch to Hafey was outside. Chick's swing didn't get all the way around, but he met the ball and it sailed down the right field line, inside by a foot or two, and it was another double and Bell crossed the plate.

Equals One Ball Game.

That was the ball game, and that is about the story of the ball game. There were two other runs in the game. Hughie Expensive Critz, who usually is called Critz, but who pronounces it Crites, like kites, kicked a Bob O'Farrell grounder around the infield to start the third inning and Bob reached first. An infield out advanced the Cardinal leader, and after Rhem struck out in his inimitable but masterful fashion, Douthit crashed a single to center, scoring O'Farrell.

In the first of the fourth, after two were out, Kelly smashed a single through the box. Allen walked and Hargrave lined a one-bagger over Bell's head, scoring Kelly, and sending Allen to third. On an attempted double steal O'Farrell put th Railway Exchange Building in front of the plate, threw to Frisch, took Frisch's return throw and leisurely tagged Allen as he was trying to push the office building off the plate.

Rhem in Fine Form.

The rest of the game was all Rhem's pitching. He was touched for seven hits and the word touched is used advisedly. There was no socking. There wasn't a ringing hit off the Red bats all afternoon and two of the seven were slow rollers to Bottomley, which were hits because Rhem couldn't or didn't cover first in time. In only one inning did the Reds get more than one safety and that was in the fourth, after two were down, as previously told.

Rhem's control was excellent. He gave only one walk and though he frequently was "in the hole" to a batter he was able to find the corners.

Double Plays Help.

Brilliant support helped Rhem. Thevenow turned one grounder into a double play and Lester Bell picked up another and started a twin killing and Frankie Frisch each time was a fast and smooth working middle man. Taylor Douthit contributed the best outfielding play of the day, racing in for a shoestring catch of Christensen's liner in the eighth inning. Mays had just singled to right and Douthit checked a threatening rally when he robbed Christensen.

Mays allowed only five hits, but he didn't have the stuff to stop the Cards when they got started on their one big rampage. Moreover four of the five Cardinal safeties were doubles and those doubles were hard hit.

Haines, Ring or Reinhart Ready to Face Reds in Second Game of Series

Big Jess Has Rested Since Monday but Manager O'Farrell May Gamble and Hold Ace in Reserve—Rixey to Pitch for Cincinnati.

MANAGER O'FARRELL has two avenues of attack open in the second game of the series with the Reds. If he figures a victory today most important, he will use Jess Haines against Hendricks' men. If he prefers to take a chance and hold Haines in reserve, he will use Jimmy Ring or Arthur Reinhart.

The advisability of finding another pitcher qualified to start games may cause a decision in favor of Ring. With only four on the list as capable starters, O'Farrell may try to get a fifth from Ring, Reinhart and Bob McGraw, who was obtained from the Dodgers yesterday in a trade for Jakie Flowers.

Eppa Jeptha Rixey, who had to have some name, will pitch for the Reds, Manager Hendricks has announced. The southpaw usually bothers the Cards, but Haines can give him a tussle and carry the smart money.

Frisch's return throw had to be perfect on that attempted double

TEN MUNICIPAL LEAGUES WILL OPEN SEASON TOMORROW

182 TEAMS TO STRIVE FOR TITLE

Pants Store Nine, 1926 Champion, Will Play in Empire League—17 Groups Open Sunday.

Ten leagues, making up the Saturday division of the Municipal Baseball Association, will inaugurate the 1927 campaign in the public parks tomorrow afternoon. A total of 17 circuits will pry open the campaign with games Sunday. Although the association this season has 27 leagues, more than ever before, the number of clubs entered, 182, is eight fewer than the total which participated in the championship race of a year ago.

The "Pants Store" club, winner of the 1926 championship, will defend its title. The nine this season will play in the Empire League, whereas a year ago the club was entered in the Mercantile League.

Important circuits of the association which will start the season tomorrow are the Commercial, with six teams; Manufacturers, with six, and the Missouri Pacific loop, with four clubs competing for the championship.

Other circuits scheduled to start are the Y. M. C. A. Employed Boys, Senior Evangelical, International Shoe, Intermediate Evangelical, Union Electric, Y. M. C. A. Industrial and Sunday School, which plays on 12 diamonds in Forest Park.

Sunday leagues in the association this year are: City, Concordia, Mound City, De Molay, Empire, Independent, Mercantile, North Side, North St. Louis Intermediate, Polish National Alliance, South Grand, South Side, Thomas E. Wilson, Western Catholic Union, Neighborhood House, United Railways and North Division.

Chaminade Wins From Burroughs

But League Leaders Are Forced to Use Star Pitcher to Win, 10-7.

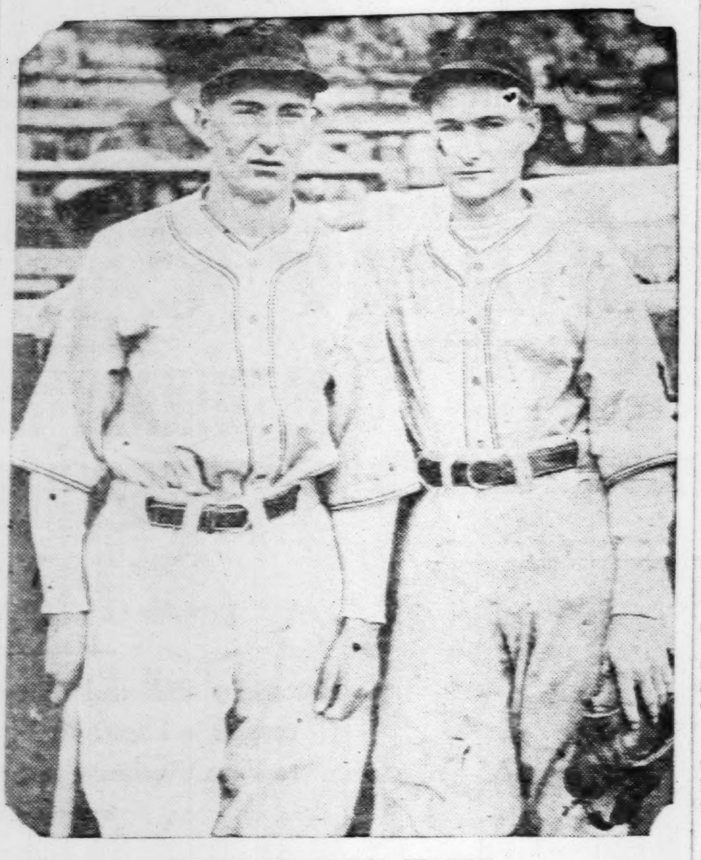
The Chaminade High School baseball team strengthened its hold on first place in the Preparatory League race yesterday afternoon by winning from John Burroughs High, 10 to 7, in a game on the Burroughs diamond. Today's league schedule brings Country Day and C. B. C. together on the former's field at 3:30. Duvic and Roe will form the Brothers' battery, with Curry and Stevens starting for Codasco.

Today's schedule include two leagues games. Coach McCarty's St. Louis U. High nine plays McBride in a game at Forest Park at 3 o' clock, while C. B. C. plays Country Day on the Codasco field at 3:30.

Coach Granger of Chaminade was forced to use Ralph Singler, his pitching ace, whom he had been saving for Saturday's tilt with Western Military Academy, after three other hurlers had proved ineffective in the first two innings. Singler took the mound after eight men had been passed by Cantwell, Moroney and Dames, and the regular hurler featured the remaining five innings by fanning eight men and allowing only two safeties. Chaminade had two big sessions at bat, scoring four runs in the first inning and a like number in the fifth. Burroughs was unable to do any damage with Singler in the box.

Jantzen performed in good style on the mound for Burroughs, but received poor support from his mates, four errors being charged to the losers.

Brothers Helping The Pirates



PAUL AND LLOYD WANER.

Waner Boys Form Unusual Outfield Combination for Rival Pirate Aggregation

Only Brothers in Major League Baseball Who Appear at Same Time on Same Lineup—Paul Starred Last Year, While Younger Brother "Just Arrived."

By J. Roy Stockton

Brothers in baseball are not unusual. Bob and Emil Meusel have been opponents in world series, Bob playing outfield for the Yankees and Emil or "Irish" for the Giants. Jim Cooney, former Cardinal shortstop, now with the Cubs, has a brother who pitches for the Boston Braves.

There are the Jonnard brothers and the High family, which sent five brothers to the majors. But the Pirates have an unusual outfield combination when Paul and Lloyd Waner are in the battle front, as they are the only brothers in the major leagues on the same team and in the lineup at the same time.

The Waners, Paul and Lloyd, are from Ada, Ok., and when the Pirates are playing and the Waners are in action, it is bad form in Ada for anybody to do anything with their radio except try to tune in on returns from the Pirate battle field.

Paul Starred Last Year.

Paul Waner was a star with the Pirates last year, his brother, Lloyd, spending the season down in the South Atlantic Association for seasoning. This year, however, the youngster made the spring training trip to California with the Pirates and he showed so much speed and such a punch that he was retained and the Pirates used the youngster in left field, with big brother Paul in right.

Lloyd Waner is 21 years old and on the field, compared to his husky comrade, he looks like a school boy of 16. However, he makes up in aggressiveness what he lacks in weight and he is considered a great prospect.

The Waners come form an outdoor family. Their father, a business man at Ada, was not a ball player, but he is an ardent outdoor fan. He hunts and fishes and following in his footsteps the youngsters spend their leisure time that way. The boys have made many expeditions into Mexico after game.

Youngster Is Powerful.

"You think that Waner kid is little, do you?" said Coach Jule Ens of the Pirates. "Well, don't make any mistake. He may look small, but he's hard as nails and has more power with the bat than many a big fellow I've known. He can chase a mile for a fly and he'll tire any set of fungo hitters in any league. The Waners are a hard-riding couple of kids, they never give up and that's why Paul made good from the start and that's why Lloyd Waner has broken into the major leagues despite his youth, comparative lack of experience and his lack of weight."

Both Waners bat left-handed and both learned on the sand lots of Oklahoma to hit the ball on the line. Lucky is the young ball player who acquires a straight swing at the ball, a swing that propels the ball straight out, instead of an upward swing that gives the outfielders nice flies to catch. The Waners have that line-drive swing.

Waner Brothers Have Swat Marks Of .308 for Year

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.

PAUL WANER of the Pittsburg Pirates and his little brother, Lloyd, aren't twins, but such twin hitting as they've been doing for Dreyfuss' ball club hasn't been matched in years, according to President John A. Heydler of the National League.

According to figures for this week, Paul and Lloyd had each been at bat 39 times. They had made the same number of hits, 12; the same number of runs, seven, and had exactly the same batting average, of course, .308.

Only in the fact that Paul made four of his hits for extra bases, and that Paul had been in 12 games and Lloyd in 11 did they differ.

11 TIGER ATHLETES IN DRAKE RELAY MEET

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 29.—Gwinn Henry, head track coach at the University of Missouri, departed last night with 11 track stars who will enter the Drake relays to be held at Des Moines, Ia., Friday and Saturday.

The Missouri aggregation will include Farley and Edgington, two of the fastest sprinters in the Missouri Valley. Other Tiger relay men are: Rosenheim, Kosky, Stuber, Daniels, Allegri, Epstein and Harper. Brown will represent Missouri in the weights and Lancaster in the pole vault.

Holleys Oppose Fall River for National Title

Soccer Final to Be Decided at Detroit U. Field Sunday.

A Detroit soccer team will make its first bid for the national championship Sunday, when the Holleys of the Michigan city oppose the Fall River (Mass.) F. C. in the championship game, scheduled to be played at Detroit University Field. The match is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock, with Charles Creighton of New York serving as referee.

The Holleys, one of the unheralded elevens of the West, gained the title round by eliminating the Sparta F. C. of Chicago, 2 goals to 1, in the Western final. The Detroit team was forced to play nine games to reach the championship round, batting five times in the qualifying competition and in four games in the Western series proper.

Fall River had an easier road, being forced to play but four times. The team defeated Bethlehem, 2 goals to 1, in the Eastern final.

Visser Outstanding Star.

Fall River was the national champion in 1923-24, gaining a victory over the Vespers of St. Louis, 4 goals to 2, in the title game.

The outstanding star of the Holley team is Garritt Visser, a former international player from Holland. He has scored a majority of the eleven's goals in games this season and counted both the points to send the Holleys into the final.

The season's cup game records of the two elevens:

HOLLEYS.

Qualifying Competition:

Bears to Oppose Concordia Today

The Washington U. and Concordia Seminary baseball teams will meet this afternoon, weather permitting, in the second game of a three-game series. The first contest went to the Concordia nine by a score of 2 to 1. The third game will be played Monday afternoon. The Concordia team is as yet undefeated, while the Washington squad has met with the single reversal.

Bill Beckman, Bear pitching ace, will be sent against the Concordia team for the second time, J. E. Davis, Washington coach, announced this morning. Beckman was forced to accept a defeat in the first game after turning in an excellent brand of hurling. Against Iowa State recently he struck out 18 men, allowing but two hits.

Serkes, Washington infielder, has been moved from third base to short, Davis announced. Ruehman will cover third in today's game. The outfield selection will be Wagner, left; Stillman, center, and Eichler, right. Fahrenkrog may share Stillman's time in center.

Lewis Throws Stasiak.

KANSAS CITY, April 29. — Ed "Strangler" Lewis won two straight falls from Stanley Stasiak here last night. Lewis' first fall came with a headlock in 53:15 and the second was awarded Lewis on a foul.

John Pesek, Nebraskan, threw Ned McGuire in straight falls in the semi-final. The first fall was with a Japanese grapevine in 20:20 and the second with a head scissors and wrist lock in 5:40.

Ritzer to Meet Boxer Who Has Kayoed 45 Foes

Dave Ostrov, of Chicago, Will Oppose Local Welter in Coliseum Show.

Harry Ritzer, local middleweight flash, whose record in professional boxing competition during the past five years has established him as St. Louis' foremost candidate for championship honors in his weight division, will be pitted against Dave Ostrov, a Chicago fistic favorite, in one of the 10-round finals of a double windup featuring Matchmaker Jack Tippett's pugilistic card at the New Coliseum arena next Thursday night.

Tippett concluded negotiations for the match last night, after the promoter had been advised that Ritzer's right hand is again in good shape and that he resumed training yesterday with Al Taylor and Battling Ball serving as his sparring partners. The local middleweight ace has been idle for two months, due to a fractured right thumb suffered in his six-rounder with Len Rowlands last February.

Ostrov Has "Kayo" Record.

In the match with Ostrov, Ritzer will encounter a fighter who has won 45 knockout victories in a total of 63 professional fights. The Chicagoan's record includes a popular verdict over Mike Dale, the Decatur mauler, who holds a point decision over Ritzer. Dale also has defeated Clarence "Kid" Shaulters, the Scott Field battler, who is commonly regarded as Ritzer's leading rival in the local ranks.

SWEETSER SHOOTS 71 IN FOURSOME MATCH

NEW YORK, April 29. — Jess Sweetser, American holder of the British amateur golf crown, gave further indication of his return to championship form on the links by posting 71 in a four-ball match at the Quaker Ridge Club yesterday.

Partnered by Tom Kerrigan of Siwanoy, Sweetser suffered defeat however, at the hands of Leo Diegel and Johnny Farrell, two of the top-ranking Eastern professionals, the score being two and one. Diegel's 70 was the best round of the match. Farrell turned in a 73 and Kerrigan 75.

O'FARRELL'S ANSWERS

There is a man on first base, batter hits grounder to shortstop who throws to first and retires runner going to first. First baseman acts quickly, and throws to second baseman, who gets ball and tags base, but not runner. Is the man going to second out? E. B. J.

No. There was no force play runner on first having been retired.

Bases loaded. Batter is good hitter, so the pitcher walks him on purpose, forcing men on first, second and third out. Is he allowed to do this? Can anything else be done? K. K.

AGGIES TO SELECT TEAM FOR DUAL MEET WITH WASHINGTON

STILLWATER, Od., April 29. — The Oklahoma Aggies fast mile relay quartet, which last week was nosed out by Iowa University in the Kansas relays, will be the only Oklahoma and A. and M. College entry in the Drake relays Saturday, but an augmented squad will appear Monday at St. Louis for a dual engagement with Washington University, the first of the sort this season for Coach Roy W. Kenny's men.

The relay team left Stillwater yesterday, its personnel being changed by the inclusion of two new members, Swim and Roy, who won close races with Wile and Faulkner in trials this week. Bull and Best, regulars, were the other two.

Twelve other members of the Aggies squad will depart Sunday for St. Louis. Selections will be made today and tomorrow in trials.

Capt. Parker is unlikely to go as he has a sprained back and has been absent from practice recently.

Principia Track Team to Meet 2 Local Rivals

Western and Country Day Join in Triangular Meet Tomorrow.

Principia, Western and Country Day will engage in a triangular track meet Saturday afternoon, when the three schools meet at Taylor Field, Lackland road, at 1:30 o'clock.

There is some prospect of Kirkwood entering the match, but should she do so, only a small number of men would be listed.

Principia has such stars as the Richardson brothers and Morey, while Codasco and Western, members of the Prep League, are rather dubious about their prospects. As is known, Codasco possessed the championship track team of the Prep League last year, but this year the Red and White has been conquered by Soldan and St. Charles. Little is known of the Alton team, but Maj. Garrison should send a good team.

CANDY QUEEN'S DERBY WORK FASTEST YET RECORDED

WAR EAGLE ALSO RUNS FINE TRIAL

Gray Filly Turns Three-fourths of Mile in 1:13, While Son of Man O'War Breezes a Fast Mile.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.—Candy Queen's trial yesterday set the work-watchers' tongues wagging. The Stefan the Great filly turned in the fastest move of the training season when she was sent three-quarters by Trainer George Walker as an opener for a longer work next Sunday. With Leo McDermott up, weighing with his tack about 126 pounds, the gray filly broke at the three-quarters pole and stepped the first eighth in :12, quarter in :23 1-5, half in :47 1-5, five-eighths in :59 4-5, and the three-quarters in 1:13. She galloped out the seven-eighths in 1:26. Candy Queen was not breathing hard enough to have blown out a match, after the fast trial, and her veteran trainer, George Walker, was all smiles after she had cooled out.

Candy Queen's speed test stood out in bold relief as compared with mand's of last Wednesday. Not only was her work a full second faster than that of the Widener gelding, but the manner in which she accomplished the feat was the outstanding feature.

Candy Queen Sure to Start.

There is little question but Candy Queen is being pointed for the Derby and her trainer is giving his years of experience in getting her right at the best for the race. He sees no obstacle in the way, at present.

War Eagle, the E. B. McLean Derby candidate here in charge of ie Tauber, was another which turned in a creditable move. The son of Man o' War was full of run when he took Jockey Nick Huff around the Downs course in one of the best miles shown by any of the Derby candidates trained here. He was caught the first quarter in :24, three-eighths in :36 1-5; three-quarters in 1:15, seven-eighths in 1:28 4-5; mile in 1:41 4-5. He was breezing all the way and galloped out the mile and an eighth in 1:56 2-5.

Some "Sweet" Workouts.

Candy Blackbird, another Derby eligible in the Archibald stable, joined Candy Rock and Candy the Great in a workout over the seven-eighths course. Candy Black Bird and Candy Rock finished together, while Candy the Great pulled up at the half-mile. The time was: quarter in :24 2-5, half in :51, three-quarters 1:17, seven-eighths 1:32.

Canaan, the Lemar Stock Farm's Derby hope, worked a mile with Profiteer. Trainer Hughes has this good colt going again. The pair stepped the first quarter in :25, half in :50 1-5, three-fourths in 1:17, and mile in 1:45 1-5.

Trainer Lon Johnson sent Royal Julian three-eighths in :40. He says his charge is ready now to go to the races. He probably will set Royal Julian down for a speed test over the Derby route soon.

NO. 18—SANKARI.

By CLEMENT GLAUB.

Sankari, one of the Rancocas Stable eligibles for the Derby, was one of the highest priced yearlings sold at the Saratoga Sales in 1925, costing Harry Sinclair $25,000 but the colt did not win a race until his third start last year. He was a bit unlucky, coughing sickness causing his retirement in early summer. However, he had plenty of racing in the fall.

Sam Hildreth and most of the other members of the establishment liked Sankari best of the 2-year-olds because he looked so much like Zev. Sankari showed plenty of speed in many of his races but his only test over a distance was in the Walden Handicap, at one mile.

Five Furlongs in :59 4-5.

His maiden race was at four and one-half furlongs during the spring meeting at Jamaica. He finished third behind Charade and Cheops in this race. At Belmont Park, Sankari scored his first victory, winning from Bostonian, Evader and Pat McGee by four lengths going away. In his next race he set the pace but tired from his own efforts in the stretch and finished second to Afterglow. At Empire City, Sankari scored two firsts and a third in three starts. In his second start at that track Sankari raced five furlongs in the fast time of :59 4-5 beating Black Curl by a length.

After the Empire City meeting closed Sankari was shipped to Pimlico where he won two races in a row and then finished fourth to Rip Rap in the Walden Handicap, at one mile. Sent to Bowie following the close of the Pimlico meeting, he won two straight races. In his first start at Bowie Sankari scored a length victory over Crystal Domino. He won the second race over a heavy track, beating Afterglow by three lengths. In practically all his starts, Sankari was ridden by Laverne Fator.

Sankari was bred to go a route. The Finn, his sire, was a stayer himself and most of his get can go a route and run equally well on fast or slow tracks. Cadeau, the dam, is a daughter of Golden Maxim, a good mud runner in his racing days.

HOT OFF THE BAT!

BY John E. Wray

man who plays for fun or for money.

"Why it is considered proper for a student to support himself through college by waiting on a hotel table and improper to receive money for playing on the hotel nine is beyond my intelligence.

"If American colleges will not live up to the amateurism in athletics which they profess or publicly adopt the professionalism which they practice, I submit that no college which pretends to hold up moral standards before the young man can take part in intercollegiate athletics."

* * *

Secret Professionalism.

PROF. HOLT knows his onionology. He has been informed by those who should know that under the existing definitions of "amateur," there are few college teams in the United States that would stand inspection. He broke his own college team when its makeup became known to him.

In one way or another our amateurism is bootlegged into our schools, and because one institution does it, others have seen fit to protect themselves by winking at the same procedure.

The director of athletics at one of the major institutions of the Missouri Valley told the writer, answering a query, that "inducements" in one form or another were tolerated as a necessary evil in practically all universities of athletic prestige.

"Football and sports so advertise a school," he said, "that few major universities can afford to be weakly represented. Inducements in the way of athletic scholarships, tuition, jobs, cigarette and laundry concessions, are dangled before "prospects." Matters are arranged to make it financially easy for the players to go through school."

* * *

What's Wrong With It?

WHAT of it? is the natural question.

"Nothing at all" would be the writer's reply. Nothing except that so long as we have hair-line distinctions between amateur and pro and between eligible and ineligible so long will bootlegging in amateurs go forward.

* * *

Why Distinguish?

ONE naturally opposes the thought of paying a collegian for representing his school. Amateur or professional that is not good taste.

But it is equally true that it is bad taste to bar from representing the institution any student (properly matriculated at a univeristy and able to make his way scholastically) from representing the school, whether he is or has been a professional.

In other words, if Babe Ruth attended Harvard University next year and made good as a student, why should he not play baseball for his alma mater?

Think it over.

Amateur or pro, he is a part of the school and therefore entitled to represent it.

* * *

Our Ideals Slip.

IN England the snob idea of an amateur arose. Originally it barred anyone who earned his living by manual labor. A mechanic of any description was not eligible. About 20 years ago they sought to bar an American oarsman from the Henley regatta because he was a mechanic.

But even England has abandoned this idea. Today amateurs and professionals play side by side on British soccer teams without discredit to either. America could learn much from the old country about amateur tolerance.

Why not let the amateur and pro play side by side on our college teams in representing Alma Mater?

N. B.—This very thing is done secretly today.

Oklahoma Aggies Split With Tigers

Missouri Loses 12-Inning Ball Game and Then Wins Seven-Inning Nightcap.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 29.—The University of Missouri lost a wildly played 12-inning game, 11 to 8, to the Oklahoma Aggies here yesterday, and then emerged victorious, 7 to 6, in a second-inning nightcap feature with the same aggregation, duplicating the double-header of the day before, which the Missourians and Oklahomans likewise split.

Four pitchers for each team, a total of 16 players for the Tigers and 12 for the Aggies, 11 errors by Missouri and six by the Aggies, partly tells the story of the first contest.

Other features, including a three-run batting spree in the ninth which deadlocked the count, and a three-error field spree by the Missourians in the twelfth, which, joined with two Aggie hits, gave the Oklahomans three runs and victory.

Because the Oklahomans showed up nearly an hour late for the first contest, the second game was limited to seven innings, and the Missourians came from behind in the sixth to score four runs. By the time the Aggie half of the seventh was under way it was so dark that neither the fielders nor the hitters could see the ball, but the visitors managed to push across a run after McCoy tripled.

KEMPER, UNBEATEN IN DUAL MEET IN 9 YEARS, TO FACE KIRKSVILLE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., April 29. — Members of the Kemper Military School track team, with the reputation of not having lost a dual meet in nine years, will face a crucial test Saturday when they meet the Kirksville State Teachers at Kirksville in a track and field meet.

Thus far this season the Kemper sprinters have been handicapped by inclement weather and lack of opportunities to compete with other schools, although the Yellow Jackets have won a dual meet from Rockhurst College and took first in the mile relay at K. U. last Saturday.

Following Saturday's meet, the Cadets will point for the high school day meet at Columbia May 7 and the conference meet in Chillicothe May 13.

220-yard dash—P. S. Lashley, Holloway.
440-yard dash—Moorhouse, Holloway, Kelly.
880-yard run—Moorhouse, Holloway, Ulffers.
Mile run—Loy, J. E. Robinson.
Broad jump—Duval, Denman.
High jump—Cook, Hancock.
Pole vault—Cook, B. Wells.
120-yard high hurdles—Hancock, Duval.
Shotput—Hauge, Duval.
Discus—Hauge, Duval.
Javelin—W. L. Johnston, Tippett.
Half-mile relay—D. Anderson, P. S. Lashley, Holloway, Moorhouse.

Courtney to Box Kaplan.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29. — George Courtney, Oklahoma middleweight, was signed yesterday to box 10 rounds with K. O. Kid Kaplan, of New York in the semi-finals match to the Pete Lato-Joe Dundee welterweight championship fight at the Polo grounds here June 3.

steal of the Reds in the fourth inning. Allen had a fair lead and looked fast. Frisch's throw sailed into O'Farrell's glove a foot off the ground.

Pete McLaughlin, champion black bottom dancer of the National League's umpire staff, is with us. Klem and Wilson are Peter's companions-in-crime.

An interesting affair would be a dramatic gesture contest for umpires. That's a grand one that McLaughlin has, though it lacks the vibrato that makes the motion of some of the American League umpires noticeable.

Perhaps and idea is to get the fans and players laughing; so they won't notice the bad decisions.

A St. Louis undertaker has been waiting outside the ball park with a big car, every day of the baseball season for several years, waiting for the umpires. He figures even an umpire ought to have a friend, and he carries them to and from their hotels gratis.

"What can we do to repay you for your many favors?" they asked him yesterday.

"You can all drop dead," he replied.

When Douthit stole second in the third inning, he had such a big lead that Hargrave couldn't have thrown him out with a rifle.

Billy Southworth's hitting streak was stopped by Mays. Bill had hit safely in each of 11 previous games of the season. Against the submarine hurler Southworth didn't get the ball out of the infield.

O'Farrell made his first appearance behind the bat since April 15 in Chicago when he retired because of a sore arm after catching several innings. After the arm recovered he stayed on the bench because the team was winning.

O'Farrell announced that McGraw would report as soon as he could make the trip to St. Louis.

With Flowers gone, the Cardinals probably will bring a young infielder from one of the farms soon. The team can't get along with one substitute infielder and Toporcer is the only one available though Eddie Dyer can fill in at first base in a pinch.

Comment on the trade generally is that the Cards got the best of the deal, inasmuch as they can use McGraw every fourth or fifth day, whereas Flowers would have continued to ride the bench until some infielder was hurt.

The pitching shows some improvement. Tom Zachary pitched a splendid game yesterday and deserved to win. He showed more stuff than he had in all his previous starts. Sam Jones has won three games in as many starts, and that speaks columns. Gaston was batted out by Cleveland in his last start, but looked good in several other games. Milt turned back the Sox in St. Louis with six hits and may get the call tomorrow. But Howley thinks he may start Walter Stewart, the former Toronto southpaw, who seems to be in fairly good shape. Ernie Wingard, the lean Alabaman, also is ready.

Team Never Quits.

One thing, at least, is encouraging. The Browns of Howley have harmony and courage. The harmony keeps them from fighting among themselves and the courage makes them keep roostering the other fellow while there is the slightest chance of winning. At no time on this trip have the Browns put their tail between their legs and kited for home, when the other side overpowered them by sheer superior ability. Better still, their own mistakes and boob plays do not discourage them, and that is the beginning of progress.

They are still up in the rarified atmosphere of third place, but the temperature is only .545.

FRENCH TENNIS STARS VICTORS IN BRITISH HARD COURT EVENT

By the Associated Press.

BOURNEMOUTH, England, April 29.—The prospect of an all French final in the British hard court tennis championship tournament was upset today by the defeat of Jacques Brugnon, French star, by Dr. P. D. Spence, of South Africa, 4—6, 7—5, 7—5, 6—3.

Brugnon and Rene La Coste had been on opposite sides of the draw so that they could not meet until the final which both were expected to reach. Lacoste lived up to expectations when he entered the final today by defeating Commander B. F. Glover, 6—1, 6—3, 6—2.

Whose work was exceedingly nice;
When the Browns were behind,
Two nice doubles he lined,
And put the old ball game on ice.

There is an old fellow named Jones,
A countenance doleful he owns.

Pirates Lead Bowlers

The team championship of the Wabash Club Bowling League was won by the AFA Pirates team with 56 victories and 34 defeats during the season just closed. This team also captured the high three game team honors with a score of 2843. The Disbursements No. 1 team was second in the race with 55 won and 35 lost.

High single game honors went to the East St. Louis Freights with 1019 points. C. Powers took the individual honors with an average of 186 and a high three game count of 665. L. Holt, with a 279 count won the high single game honors.

Cleveland and Beaumont Play In Feature Game

First Place in High School League Will Be at Stake Tomorrow.

Beaumont High School opposes Cleveland, present pacemaker, in the High School League in the feature game at Cleveland Field, tomorrow. The other league contest brings Central and Roosevelt together at Beaumont Field. The starting time of both contests has been moved up to 2 o'clock. Soldan is idle.

Cleveland is expected to strengthen its hold on first place, since Coach Kirk's new team is not likely to prove a match for Fenenga's heavy hitters. Beaumont gave Roosevelt an 8-6 beating, lost to Soldan 5 to 4, and defeated Central 6 to 2, Wednesday. Kirk is likely to start Jordan on the hill with Hagerty catching.

Cleveland's pitching staff was strengthened by the return of Van Nest, who has been ineligible since the league season opened. Covington, however, will be Fenenga's probable starting hurler.

A Central victory over Roosevelt will give Coach Walker's team a tie with the Rough Riders for third place. Until Wednesday's defeat by Beaumont, Central was sharing second place with the North Siders. Bafaro will probably pitch for Central with Schumacher behind the bat. Either Groepper or Valendy will be Coach Lee Carlson's selection with Bob Jarrett catching.

Staunton to Box In Junior Events

Joe Staunton, South Broadway, who fought his way to the featherweight championship final of the annual Western A. A. U. senior title competition last February, losing to Pete White in the third round of the deciding bout, will file entry for the junior title meet held by the district organization next Tuesday night at the new outdoor arena of the People's Motorbus A. C.

"Whitey" Kuehl, a trainer of the South Broadway boxing team, advised district officials yesterday that Staunton has been training for the meet. Ed Gniske of the South Broadway club is another prospective entrant, according to Kuehl.

Big Field in Feather Class.

Entries already filed in the featherweight class include six other boxers of Class A rating. Leo Rossi of the National A. A., Al White, Harold Hancock, Jack Terry and Lee Powell of the Motorbus club, and Eddie Richardson of the Tower A. C., are the outstanding featherweight candidates.

Rossi is a fistic protege of Johnny "Peewee" Kaiser, who has devoted considerable time to teaching him scientific principles of the Queensberry game. White is a brother of Pete White, who holds the Western district featherweight title for the senior class.

McKENDREE BASEBALL TEAM SCHEDULED TO OPPOSE ST. LOUIS U.

The McKendree College baseball team which has lost to Washington U. and Concordia Seminary in previous local games, will attempt to nose out "Skippy" Stivers' St. Louis U. team in a game at the Billiken's park this afternoon. Starting time is 3:30.

St. Louis has won two of its three games this season, having conquered Chicago U. and St. Viator, while losing to the Iowa U. Wildcats. Coach Stivers will select his starting hurler from a quartet of moundmen including Stanley Espinda, Hawaiian hurler; John Casey, Martin O'Rourke and Sam Freund. Freund appears to be the most probable selection because he has had two weeks' rest since his last start. Hertin will probably start in the box for McKendree.

ST. LOUIS STARS DEFEAT CLEVELAND IN FINAL GAME, 6-3

The St. Louis Stars in the Negro National Baseball League defeated the Celveland Hornets yesterday at the Stars' park 6 to 3. The victory yesterday gave the locals the series at four games to one. Timely hitting, including home runs by Wells and Bobo, aided the Stars in winning the contest.

The Stars have an open date today, but open a five-game series with the Kansas City Monarchs tomorrow afternoon.

ED PLANK MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM OPENED

By the Associated Press.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., April 29.—The new $125,000 Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium at Gettysburg College was formally opened last night when the Owl and Nightingale Dramatic Club presented "A Doll's House" and "High Yaller." Six hundred persons attended the opening of the gymnasium, which was erected in memory of the former Philadelphia Athletics Pitcher and one time student of Gettysburg College.

Plank died here Feb. 24, 1926.

The gymnasium has a seating capacity of approximately 1000 when used as an auditorium. It is modern in every detail and stands at the east end of the new memorial gridiron at the school.

Spalding Golf Shoes come out of the store

Ready to play

NO PAINFUL "breaking in" period. For these are not street shoes that have taken up golf. They are true athletic shoes—the kind we've learned to make in thirty-seven years of shoemaking for athletes.

There is unceasing comfort in Spalding Golf Shoes from start to finish. And they will outwear two ordinary pairs. Yet, because we make them ourselves and you pay no middleman's profit, most models are $10.

A. G. Spalding & Bros.

823 LOCUST STREET

To have better dressed legs as well as better shod feet, get Spalding Imported Golf Hose. Only $2.50 to $7.50—thanks to buying direct from the foreign mills.

The Enchanting Actress, Laura Hope Crews writes:

"It was only two years ago that I smoked my first cigarette. It was in a play. My throat is very sensitive. However, the cigarette was a 'Lucky Strike' and it did not affect my voice in the slightest. I greatly enjoyed it. So that first cigarette has made me a 'Lucky Striker' for life."

Laura Hope Crews

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Moving Trigger, Weight 48 Pounds, Favored Tonight

Greyhound Handicaps.

2.—Laughing Jack, Irish Life, Barford.
3.—Ratto, Milan, He Might Buck.
4.—Buddy Brannigan, Mike's Hare, Dirk.
5.—Moving Trigger, Seadoone, No Foolin.
6.—Lady Splinters, Little John, White Whiff.
9.—Just-A-Joke, Midford De Bere, Boy Blue.

Long-winded greyhounds will occupy the spotlight tonight at the Madison Kennel Club. The feature is the Laclede Hotel first annual sweepstakes for added money and a trophy. Contrary to the usual custom, each owner posted an entry fee for this event and interest is greater than usual.

James A. Corbett's doughty little female, Moving Trigger, which weighs only 48 pounds, will give a good account of herself in this contest. She has coursed long and far after jacks in Kansas and is said to be able to "run all day." This will be her chance. She has taken to track racing quickly and out of the two hole will have no trouble running the rail. Seadoone, another female, looms up as the dangerous contender. Her last race wasn't so good, but there was an excuse. Her owner removed a small piece of dirt from one of her eyes after the contest, which explained her poor showing. She can run and has plenty of heart.

No Foolin' Three-Time Winner.

No Foolin', of course, is the one to beat. He has won three races at this distance, plenty of evidence that he is in where he belongs. A great rail runner, he will start out of the five box. The question is whether No Foolin' will be able to reach the rail without losing ground or running into another greyhound. Win, lose or draw, he will make a drive for the rail at some stage of the race.

While it is a rare thing that one is able to cash a parlay, what looks like a reasonably safe chance is offered in the first three races. Spalding Bowser, Laughing Jack and Ratto ought to win easily. All three are fast pups and have a distinct edge on their competitors. They are likely to be public choices and therefore quoted at short prices, but a parlay would be rather enriching.

Lucky Crook will have another chance in the eighth. He ran a good race night before last and looks like the inner this time. Uproar and Judgment are solid contenders.

SERGT. JACK ADAMS STOPPED IN FIRST

By the Associated Press.

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 29. — Ernie Schaaf, new heavyweight sensation, added another quick victory to his string last night when he knocked out Sergt. Jack Adams of St. Louis in the first round at the Elizabeth Armory.

Schaaf dropped Adams twice and then floored him for the 10 count after one minute and 45 seconds of fighting. Schaaf weighed 190 against 203 for Adams.

Alabama Golfers Win.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 29. — Shooting close to par golf, the University of Alabama golf team administered a decisive defeat to the University of Pennsylvania yesterday, taking 17 of the 18 matches. The only tally scored by the Red and Blue linksmen was in a foursome. The match was played at the Huntington Valley Country Club.

St. Louis Women Fail to Disturb Bowling Leaders

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., April 29.—The Duke Elyer Ladies, Cleveland, scoring 2340, went into fourth place in the five women division of the women's international bowling congress here last night in the only change among any of the five leaders.

Martin and Breitt Realtors of St. Louis appeared on the 7 p. m. shift last night and their score of 2162, while in the money, failed to startle any of the first ten.

Four doubles and one singles team from St. Louis will rate well up in the money but did not touch the exclusive first ten leaders.

MARTIN & BREITT.

Mlle. Lenglen to Play in England And Scotland

"Pro" Tennis Tour Will be Made Under Direction of Charles Cochran.

(Copyright, 1927.)

NICE, April 29.—Suzanne Lenglen will make another professional tennis tour, this time in England and Scotland, and under the management of Charles B. Cochran, British promoter. Mlle. Lenglen signed an agreement with Cochran yesterday to appear in London, Blackpool, Manchester and Glasgow, early in July.

Cochran is engaging other players, American, English and German, to join the troupe. The reason for Suzanne's failure to negotiate directly with the other players is said to be that she did not offer sufficient money to induce the amateurs approached to turn professional.

The negotiations have been dragging on for some time, owing to the hesitancy of some players to sacrifice their amateur standing. One well-known player said, "We don't know whether these exhibition matches will last more than a few weeks. Mlle. Lenglen's associates would be absolutely dependent on her and they never could play in tournaments again."

The amount Mlle. Lenglen will receive for these matches was not made public. However it may be recalled as an index, that when she signed with Cochran earlier this month to appear in tennis exhibitions in London three evenings of the first week in July, it was reported she would be paid about $15,000.

U. R. REORGANIZERS AND CITY AGREE ON ALL BUT 2 POINTS

30-YEAR FRANCHISE OTHERWISE OK'D

The proposed 30-year franchise for the operation of street railways under the St. Louis Public Service Co., which is to succeed the United Railways Co., after the sale of the property under order of the Federal Court, was discussed yesterday by City Counselor Muench and Stanley Clarke, attorney for the United Railways reorganizers before a gathering of investment bankers at the Missouri Athletic Association.

In analyzing the suggested ordinance, Muench, for the city, and Clarke, for the reorganizers, were in agreement on the terms except on two vital points—valuation of property and rate of return to be permitted the operating company, which in turn will determine the rate of fare.

As has been told in the Post-Dispatch, the ordinance proposes a valuation of $60,000,000, but recently the reorganizers asked the State Public Service Commission to fix the valuation at $75,000,000, and threatened to appeal to the Federal Court for that valuation unless the city grants the franchise with the valuation fixed at $60,000,000.

The present franchises of the street railway company have at least 12 years of life, and possibly more. The reorganizers are asking a new 30-year franchise. The reorganizers bought the property at a heavy discount and stand to make several million dollars whether the property is operated under the present franchise or whether a new one is granted.

Muench argued the valuation should be between $52,000,000 and $53,000,000, basing his contention upon an analysis by C. E. Smith, the city's consulting engineer, of a valuation report by engineers of the Public Service Commission.

Muench said the commission had fixed the value as of Jan. 1, 1919, at $51,781,348, and that additions and betterments since that time had mounted to $6,395,888 without deductions. In that period, he said, the depreciation reserve had increased $6,300,290, leaving a net value as of Oct. 31, 1926, of $53,-[illegible],708. He said there should be deducted from this 2 per cent for nonoperating property, amounting to $1,064,614. He thus arrived at $52,166,694 as the real value of the property at the present time.

He pointed out that the reorganizers were demanding a 7 per cent return, while the city was insisting that 6 per cent was sufficient.

The rate of return to be fixed in the ordinance, as has been told in the Post-Dispatch, will be for the first five years of the franchise, the proposed ordinance providing that after five years the rate shall be 1 per cent higher than the average interest rate the company is required to pay on its securities. Thus if the average interest rate was 6 per cent the authorized return would be 7 per cent. If it was 5½ per cent the authorized return would be 6½ per cent.

Clarke, answering Muench on the subject of valuation, contended for $58,500,000, which he insisted was the Public Service Commission's finding, including improvements and betterments, but excluding nonoperating properties.

Muench directed attention to the proposed powers for the Transit Commissioner to represent the city and said that subject to the condition that gross revenues shall be adequate, the Transit Commissioner was given the power to prescribe the kind and amount of transfer privileges, to alter or amend the schedule of rates, to prescribe the fare for transportation othe than by street car, to prescribe the fare on owl cars, to establish a system of zones and the fare in each, charges for transportation of property and charges for transportation of children.

Muench referred to provisions limiting the bonded debt to 75 per cent of the property value, for arbitration in cases of dispute, and the right of the city to purchase the property upon 12 months' notice, and concluded his analysis with a reference to the provision for the payment of the mill tax judgments amounting to $2,396,-[illegible]92, which are to be paid the city with interest in six annual installments.

Clarke explained the provisions of the ordinance in detail. He took the position that the proposed franchise did not meet the desires of the reorganizers, but that it would be accepted as "the best they could get." He argued that traffic congestion would be relieved by operation under the franchise and that to grant it would do away with the necessity for rapid transit for the present.

Hughes Proposes Pacts Against Excessive Armaments and for Protection of Non-Combatants

Ex-Secretary Says That Public Sentiment for Limitation Seems Lacking, But Urges Cultivation of Spirit of Reasonableness.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—International agreement to abolish "provocative" armament is favored by Charles Evans Hughes.

The former Secretary of State in his address last night as president of the American Society of International Law said there should be binding compacts, clearly worded among the leading powers against excesses in armaments and disregard of noncombatants.

"It would be idle," he said, "to expect a more favorable time for the limitation of armaments than now, and yet, paradoxically, the difficulties mount so high as to appear well-nigh insuperable. It is well to understand the aim. It is not to cripple reasonable defense, but to do away with provocative armament."

He challenged the theory that attack is the best method of defense.

Such defense, he asserted, had all the elements of aggressive preparation. The United States, he said, had taken the lead in presenting "the international ideal of abandonment of even the appearance of aggressive purpose and thus of facilitating the reduction of the burden of excessive arms" in agreeing at the Washington conference not to fortify Guam and the Philippines. To have done otherwise, he said, would have been provocative.

He looked with hope toward the impending naval conference at Geneva of the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

For Further Conferences.

While recent discussions at Geneva on plans for limiting land armaments might well make one "despair of success," he said a continuance of these discussions is greatly to be desired.

He expressed regret that international agreement had not been reached on limiting use of poisonous gas, aerial bombardments and other developments for the obliteration of whole populations in future wars.

"Never before have helpless peoples been menaced by such possibilities of widespread destruction," he continued. "While well-disposed gatherings are calling for the outlawry of war . . . and I should be the last to decry any intelligent effort to prevent war . . . why not endeavor to invoke the spirit of reasonableness at least to the extent of mitigating evils and of outlawing unjustified assaults upon noncombatants?"

He characterized the lack of definite agreements as in itself a "grave temptation to inordinate excesses," and said: "Clear and binding agreements should be obtained to the fullest extent practicable . . . agreements demanded by public opinion in civilized nations."

Lack of Public Sentiment.

The former Secretary of State outlined the progress made by jurists, scientists, statesmen, militarists, commissions, idealists, conferences, and international law since "the close of the great war found old rules in need of reconsideration and new conditions crying for new rules."

"Disappointment has not been due to the lack of expert advice or of opportunity," he said, pointing out the unfavorable responses to international conferences, and failure of great powers to outlaw poison gases, and to define the use of radio in war and the use of aerial warfare as suggested by international jurists.

"There are several and contradictory reasons for this apparent indifference," he said. "Fundamentally, it appears that the compelling sentiment does not exist. First, there are those who are so intent on abolishing war, that they have no patience with regulations of war. There are others, perhaps, as numerous, who are satisfied nothing can prevent war. Then there are those who, in their desire to abolish war, wish to make it as horrible as possible.

"Spirit of Reasonableness."

"It would seem to be clear that you cannot rely on reclarations, or resolutions, or papers, to prevent was, unless back of all these is the triumph of the spirit of reasonableness among peoples who have ceased to think in terms of war; a habit of peace which will not be found while causes of strife still exist, the dreams of successful appeals to enforce the vindication of injuries or the extension of power continue to fascinate; and nations are so intent on preparation for fighting that they find it impossible to agree upon any measures for the reduction of limitation or burdensome expenditures for armament.

"It would appear to be worthy of consideration that if there is not a sufficiently compelling humane sentiment to induce agreement, if war should come, to mitigate unnecessary cruelties and to spare noncombatants from unrestrained violence, little progress has been made in cultivating the reasonable disposition by which war may be prevented.

Restraint of Poison Gases.

If it is found impracticable to prohibit the use of poison gas, it still would seem possible to restrain its use against noncombatants, he contended. Concerning the use of aircraft and submarines, he said, "there would appear to be no sufficient reasons why the Powers should not have their representatives meet at some appropriate time in another great conference carrying forward the work of The Hague conferences, to restate, classify and apply to new conditions the new rules of international law on these subjects."

No one can dispute the urgent need which makes the limitation of armaments the foremost international question of the day, he added, and he commented on the lifting of the economic burden which would result through the curtailment of expenditures for armaments.

"Provocative armament," Hughes said, "is one of the chief problems in the way of limitation of armament." He commented on the apparent difficulty of determining when armament is merely defensive, and when provocative.

"The question of effective limitation in its relation broadly to the peace of the world (with reference to naval construction) lies with a few Powers," he said, "and their example will be of more importance than long drawn out negotiations to reach formulas for all."

"Search for informal formulas may be in vain," he said, "but every single step that can be taken would have an important psychological effect as well as its direct material consequence. A measure of prevention is better than none."

REAL DANILO SUES TO SUPPRESS FILM OF "MERRY WIDOW"

Montenegrin Prince Objects to Movie Characterization of Self as 'Tipsy Roisterer.'

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 29.—Application for an order suppressing the motion picture, "The Merry Widow," has been made to the Seine Civil Tribunal by Prince Danilo of Montenegro on the ground that it reflects on his family. The Prince said he took no exception to the comic opera from which the movie was adapted because the character bearing his name was "pleasing and sympathetic," whereas, in the picture the Prince has become a "tipsy roisterer."

Danilo at one time was heir apparent to the throne of Montenegro, now a part of Jugo-Slavia. He abdicated as Crown Prince, in 1921.

VOLCANO ERUPTS ON REUNION

Island Rocked by Temblors and Deluged With Rain.

By the Associated Press.

ST. DENIS, Reunion Island, April 29.—A hitherto inactive volcano erupted violently today. The disturbance was accompanied by a sharp earthquake and a torrential rain that destroyed roads and bridges and was indirectly responsible for two deaths and a number of injuries.

Reunion, a French island in the Indian Ocean, is of volcanic origin. It has numerous extinct volcanoes. The Riff chieftain, Abd-el-Krim, is living in exile on Reunion.

NITTI TO LOSE CITIZENSHIP

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 29.—The Impero, which speaks authoritatively for the Italian Government, announces the former Premier Nitti will be deprived of his citizenship because of anti-Italian manifestations, particularly his recent interview with a representative of a Jugo-Slav newspaper.

In the interview, Nitti said that Italy's policy toward Jugo-Slavia [illegible] Albania was of no use as a field for Italian emigration, and he criticised the open support given Premier Mussolini by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, and Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer.

CHIANG TO SEND ARMY OF 80,000 AGAINST HANKOW

CHINESE SCHOLAR EXECUTED AT PEKIN

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, China, April 29.—Chinese advices from Nanking say Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Moderate Nationalist leader, has decided formally to declare war against the Hankow Nationalists, and has ordered Gen. Yang Sung to proceed against them with a punitive expedition of 80,000 men.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, April 29.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Moderate Cantonese commander, is reported in advices from Nanking to have routed an army of 5000 men under Gen. Chen Chien.

He is said to have disarmed all of Chen's troops and killed 30 of them, and also to have captured large bodies of troops at Wuhu, up the Yangtze from Nanking.

These advices told of the cutting of the railway between Nanking and Kiukiang, it being explained that Chiang did this to prevent the escape of Chen's troops.

Chiang's supporters here interpret the action as an important defeat for the radical section of the Cantonese and as the first step in Chiang's campaign to mete out punishment for the Nanking affair.

Chen was in command of the Cantonese forces at Nanking during the outrages which prompted the shelling by American and British warships anchored in the Yangtze. Before the arrival of Chiang at Nanking, Chen fled in the direction of Hankow with his troops, apparently feeling he would be safer in Hankow than in Nanking.

Correspondents Inspect Translations of Documents.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, April 29.—Foreign correspondents were permitted yesterday to inspect translations and photographs of documents stated to have been seized in the raid of April 6, which resulted in a protest from the soviet Government and the withdrawal from Pekin of the soviet Charge d'Affairs and the entire embassy personnel.

The documents contained the seating plans of legation dinner parties at Pekin alleged verbatim reports of dinner table conversations, lists of all callers at the various legations, reports of their conversations and minute instructions for hiring "spies" at the British, American and Japanese legations to obtain information.

These spies were not allowed to know that they were working for the soviets, according to the documents, but were to be told that they were working for a Chinese political party. They were paid a special premium for obtaining secret military documents.

Another document, stated by the Northern officials to have been seized in the raid, purported to be a resolution adopted at the seventh plenary session of the executive communist International at Moscow, supposed to have been held in January, and called for the bolshevisation of China by organizing the peasantry, by economic strikes and by the development of a political anti-imperialist struggle. This document said that the Chinese revolution must take on a wider anticapitalist development.

Four Chinese communists, including one woman, captured in the recent raid of Chang Tso-lin's agents on the soviet embassy compound here, were sentenced by a special court today to 12 years' imprisonment. Six others were given six years each.

The wife and two daughters of Li Ta-chao, one of those executed yesterday, were released today. None of the Russians detained by the raiders have yet been sentenced.

Prof. Hudson Urges Quick Change in Shanghai Affairs.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, April 29.—Having completed a study of the legal aspects of the situation in Shanghai Prof. Manley O. Hudson of the Harvard Law School has come to the conclusion that the first opportunity to end the present stalemate should be seized.

Departing for Europe today by way of Siberia, he gave his views in a statement to the press, saying:

"Shanghai is not like any other city in the world; the nearest approach to it is Tangier. My study of the situation led me to think that the control is more international in name than in fact. The consular officials have not enough authority to be called the real governing power.

"It seems to me inevitable that the present degree of irresponsibility by the local Government should not be permitted to continue indefinitely. Certainly the powers cannot rest content with their present helplessness in the situation.

"No one stands to gain from the stalemate, with armed forces entrenching behind barricades. The first opportunity to end it ought to be seized, even if it is necessary to negotiate with the several Chinese Governments simultaneously."

RIOTING IN RIO DE JANEIRO AFTER PLANE FALLS IN SEA

By the Associated Press.

RIO de JANEIRO, April 29.—A riot occurred here last night over a report alleged to have been circulated by the newspaper Apathis that incompetence of the pilots was responsible for the mishap to the Brazilian plane which fell into the sea while attempting a transatlantic flight yesterday from Cape Verde Islands to Brazil. One person was killed and several were wounded when a mob gathered before the newspaper office. The building was damaged by stones.

The plane hopped off at Porto Praya, Cape Verde Islands, yesterday morning, and fell into the sea when near the South American coast. The commander, Joao de Barros, and his comrades, Lieut. Negrao, Capt. Newton Braga, and mechanician, Vasco Cinquini, were rescued by the Italian steamship Angelo Toso. The disabled plane was towed to the Island of Fernando do Noronha.

FOES OF PROHIBITION TO MEET

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Italy, April 29.—The opening session of the eighth international conference of the Adversaries of Prohibition, which will be held in Rome, has been set for May 4. Signor Belluzo, Italian Minister of National Economy, and 200 delegates representing Italy, France, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Portugal, Switzerland and Sweden will take part in the discussions.

The conference will be devoted largely to mustering scientific arguments against "dry regimes," but will not organize any form of demonstration or manifestation that could be interpreted as antiprohibition propaganda.

Nominated on 432d Ballot.

By the Associated Press.

DECATUR, Ill., April 29.—County Judge D. H. Walmsley of Tuscola was nominated as the third Republican candidate for Circuit Judge in the Sixth Judicial district on the 432nd ballot this morning after Judge George Sentel, present Circuit Judge, had withdrawn. Judges James S. Baldwin and Franklin H. Boggs were nominated on the first ballot yesterday.

PANAMA DEMANDS RELEASE OF RUM SHIP

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Release of the Federalship, alleged by the Government to be a unit in the Pacific seaboard "rum row" fleet, is being pressed by the Panama Government, following refusal of a Federal Judge at San Francisco to sustain the seizure by the coast guard.

Representations were made to the State Department yesterday to obtain release of the vessel, on the ground that her capture nearly 300 miles from San Francisco was illegal. When captured, a cargo of liquor valued at $1,000,000 was aboard.

The ship was of Panama registry, but it was said at the State Department that in prohibition enforcement American authorities were giving more weight to the ownership of rum vessels and their cargoes than to the flags they might momentarily fly.

Owned by Vancouver.

The Federalship is one of 10 owned by Vancouver, British Columbia, interests which prohibition officials declare operated on rum row which formerly extended from Seattle to San Francisco. Government officials say today that an agent of the owners had been in Washington to attempt a compromise whereby nearly $250,000 seized by the Government, would be restored, and prosecution on pending indictments be dropped in return for an agreement under which the 10 vessels would be withdrawn from liquor smuggling.

This offer was refused and plans are being completed by the United States Attorney at San Francisco for further prosecution of the principals in what is declared to be the largest international smuggling conspiracy uncovered by the Treasury.

The Federalship was seized in accordance with a tacit understanding between the Governments of Panama and the United States. In October the State Department transmitted a report of the activities of the Federalship, pointing out her persistent violations of American laws. Co-operation of the Government of Panama in suppressing such violations was asked for with the result that a Panama law was enacted in December to stop smuggling. It provided for cancellation of registry of any vessel that habitually smuggled into a friendly country.

Panama's Four Notes.

Since the seizure of the Federalship, the Panama Government has addressed four notes to the State Department. The first two asked for information regarding the seizure, but made no demand for the release of the vessel and its cargo. A report on the circumstances was delivered to the Panama Legation Saturday.

Minister Alfaro then presented a note requesting release of the Federalship and its cargo, and later a new note was transmitted, reiterating the demand for release, and further pointing out that the Panama law providing for cancellation of registry of ships habitually engaged in smuggling cannot be applied to vessels while they are being held by another Government.

STIMSON MEETS NICARAGUA LIBERALS' COMMITTEE AT LEON

Coolidge's Personal Representative Travels by Special Train to Accept Invitation.

By the Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 29.—Henry L. Stimson, personal representativce of President Coolidge, and Charles C. Eberhardt, American Minister to Nicaragua, went by special train yesterday to the town of Leon in order to accept an invitation from the Liberal Executive Committee there, who desired to place their views and plans before him on the possibility of ending the present civil war.

Stimson was accompanied also by Dr. Enoch Aguado, a prominent Managua Liberal. Dr. Aguado and Carlos Morales, who went on last month's futile peace mission to Muy Muy, are playing leading parts in arranging the forthcoming conference between Stimson and representatives of the Liberal President, Dr. Juan Sacasa. It is expected that they will represent the Liberal attitude in this vicinity.

The United States destroyer Preston, bearing three members of Dr. Sacasa's Cabinet, is speeding from Puerto Cabezas, the Liberal headquarters, and reports that she probably will reach Corinto today.

DEFEAT OF TEACHERS' ACT LAID TO FRIENDS OF BAKER

Miss Anne R. Waney, Who Lobbied for Retirement Bill, Reports to St. Louis Branch.

The unwillingness of the Misouri State Teachers' Association, as a body, to support a retirement act providing only for St. Louis teachers, definitely killed the legislative bill, according to Miss Anne R. Waney, Soldan High School teacher, who lobbied for it.

Miss Waney, as local chairman, addressed a meeting of the St. Louis branch of the teachers' association yesterday at the Board of Education Building.

Officers of the State association lobbied for Gov. Baker's "nuisance tax" bill, for the community school bill and for the school redistricting measure, and when they were convinced the three would fail, set out to defeat the retirement act for St. Louis teachers, Miss Waney charged.

She said St. Louis teachers will now lay plans for having the measure put through at the 1929 session of the Legislature.

MEXICAN DISPUTE CLEARED UP BY PERSONAL TALK

MEXICAN COURT RULINGS CITED

These Held That Article 27 of Constitution Could Not be Given a Retroactive Effect.

By CHARLES G. ROSS
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The troublesome Mexican problem appears to be yielding to a spirit of accommodation on both sides of the border.

President Coolidge's New York address of last Monday night, in which he referred significantly to a recent conversation he had held with Ambassador Tellez, is interpreted both in Mexico City and in Mexican circles here as a conciliatory gesture. Senator Borah, who has been keeping a sharp and suspicious eye on the administration's Latin American policy, believes that a solution compatible with the dignity and the best interests both of the United States and of Mexico is in the making.

At the Mexican embassy, an air of strain and uncertainty has given way to a palpable optimism. The ambassador, whose tact has played a part in averting a rupture, feels that the diplomatic road toward an adjustment is now wide open. Like President Calles, he sees in the speech of President Coolidge a desire to preserve cordial relations between the republics, and he believes that this end will be reached through negotiation.

The ambassador's recent assurance to President Coolidge that Mexico does not intend to confiscate the property of American citizens is nothing new. Mexico has asserted throughout the controversy that there would be no retroactive or confiscatory application of her new oil and land laws.

Affront to Mexican Dignity.

There is reason to believe that the American oil companies would long since have adjusted their differences with the Mexican Government if the American State Department had not intervened.

The State Department, in its correspondence of last year with Foreign Minister Saenz, protested against the oil and land laws in advance of their promulgation. Mexican dignity was affronted by what President Calles regarded as an unwarranted attempt to interfere in the domestic concerns of his country. He took the position, through Saenz, that the discussion of the oil land laws in the absence of any concrete complaint resulting from their application, was "purely academic." He asked that the United States suspend its protests till it could point out definite cases of violation of American rights.

"Should such cases not exist," wrote Saenz, "there is no occasion whatsoever for protest, since it is not by the simple enactment of a law, but by its application in determined cases, that injuries may be done. In this way each one will be solved in an equitable manner instead of discussing abstract questions."

Secretary of State Kellogg closed the correspondence, last November, with a brusque warning to Mexico that a "critical situation" would be created if that Government should enforce the oil and land laws in such a way as to violate American rights.

Value of Personal Talk.

It was at about that same time that Assistant Secretary of State Olds, as the Post-Dispatch has revealed, sought to put out anonymous propaganda connecting Mexico with an alleged plot to "bolshevize" Central America. Affairs between the two countries thus drifted into an impasse, as international affairs have a way of doing when a controversy is handled by the inflexible method of note writing.

The antagonistic positions of the two countries were down in uncompromising black and white. A break seemed likely; it is conceivable that it might have occurred if a strong public opinion in favor of a peaceful settlement of the difficulty had not made itself felt.

Now there has been, since last November, no outward change in our relations with Mexico.

Except for the friendly gesture of the President in his speech this week, the last official word in the controversy is Kellogg's blunt and provocative note to Foreign Minister Saenz. What, then, has softened the situation? Simply the fact that the two governments, in the persons of the President of the Public Schools Summer Session.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WOULD like to present for your columns the following statements against the contemplated action of the Board of Education:

1. The board is inconsistent in reducing the tax rate, and, at the same time, limiting attendance in the summer session, on the grounds of expense.

2. The summer session is not an experiment. It "delivers the goods," doing better work than in the regular session. There are not the distractions to divert the minds of the pupils; this is especially true of the high school work, as I have heard many summer school teachers testify.

3. The expense per pupil is considerably less than during the regular term, especially since the board limited the maximum pay of teachers. That is, the same degree of service is obtained at less pay.

4. Many pupils graduate from the eighth grade and from the high schools in the summer session, and finish the high school course in three and one-half years. The time saved to the individual citizens is not to be ignored. Pupils stop school, rather than complete the work in the middle of the school year, if they can not finish at the end of the school year, through going to summer school.

5. There is a gradually increasing "slump" in business conditions. Then why not maintain the educational institutions to the greatest extent possible, in order to enable the youth of the city to use their time profitably?

6. The desirability of a "school" being made up entirely of "flunkers" is to be questioned, in spite of the argument for the grouping of children into A B and C groups. The mingling of those working for advanced credit with those who have "flunked" acts as an incentive to the latter.

7. St. Louis has worked up the best summer school session in the United States; let her not go back in this as in other educational features.

Self-Government a Right.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN regard to J. M. Sprecher's comment of April 28, on America's Foreign Policy, I am under the impression that his attitude is not unlike that of the Pharisee comparing himself to the publican. The fact remains that if America wishes other nations to respect the Monroe Doctrine, she must respect it herself. If, as he says, native rule results in benefits to a few, is not American politics accomplishing the same purpose and against the wishes of not only the Nicaraguans but also the American public, the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine, and the dignity of the principles for which we fought? If white leadership is responsible for this, perhaps it would not be amiss to give these natives the benefit of the doubt and let them rule themselves.

Proposed Gas Rate Increase.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Post-Dispatch as a paper has covered the question in regard to the Laclede Gas Company's proposed increase in rates as well as it could be done, but I believe the individual, the little fellow, should say something for himself. It is my belief that if the Laclede Gas Co. gets this increase it will make a certain maker of oil stoves very popular and I think the Missouri Public Service Commission went out of its way entirely in granting the present 50-cent service charge, as it was not asked for by the Laclede Gas Co. in its plea for increase of rates at that time. I would suggest that the Missouri Public Service Commission be known by some other name. I am using Laclede Gas Company's gas and power and to help make sure that the Laclede Gas Co. needs an increase in rates I mean to change the power part over to another company just as soon as I can make the change, regardless of whether they get the increase or not. I hope to influence some of my friends to do likewise. Name and address to be given to the Laclede Gas Co. on request.

The Wabash-Delmar Grade Crossing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WISH to congratulate you on your masterful editorial in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch. You sure hit the nail on the head. If you will only keep pounding in that way you will certainly make the city do something.

The Wabash-Delmar grade crossing must not be permitted to remain the way it is much longer. The whole city is behind you in the abolishment of the deadly grade crossings, particularly the Delmar crossing, the most used of all. I don't see how the city officials can help but go along with the idea. In fact, everybody concerned must admit the practicability of it. So thanking you again in the name of the association, I remain.

BIG JOB FOR A BIG COUNTRY.

So devastating a flood as that now sweeping down the Mississippi Valley is not a happy way for the inland waterways of the United States to attract attention to themselves and the great problem of what is to be done with them, but it is serving that purpose.

The answer obviously is that there is in this problem a big job for a big country. What men like Mr. Hoover and Mr. Ford have foreseen must be done with this great system of rivers, and what is now attracting the attention of Wall street, is that the biggest task that any country ever faced plainly confronts us in the necessity to make them at once harmless in flood and commercially useful. There is just one way in which they can be made harmless in flood, and that is to confine them within walls that will hold them and wide enough in places to take care of flood waters. There are two ways in which they can be made to serve, as highways of commerce and generators of power.

No estimate of what this would cost has been made, but it will be such a sum as only a very rich country could hope to command. Beside boxing up the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio, and making their power and that of their tributaries hydro-electric, the dredging of the Panama Canal, the greatest structural enterprise in which any nation ever engaged, was only a suggestion. It would, however, pay for itself. That much is plain, as it is also certain that it would reduce power, light, heat and transportation in the valley to a fraction of their present cost.

Yet the immensity of this project has never dismayed great engineers and industrialists, as it seems not to dismay Wall street. It is the single great thing we have to do that has the fascination of being as big as we are. When we resolve to do it we will do so quickly, and perhaps this flood is to supply the spark that is to fire our enthusiasm for such a task. If so, the miseries and losses of so many people over such a widespread area will not have been in vain.

There is, too, a psychological side to this alluring subject which neither Mr. Hoover nor Mr. Ford has mentioned. That is the significance to the national morale of doing so great a work. It would occupy the country for a decade in a big national undertaking. It would employ at home the excess capital of the country now seeking outlet in emprise not always profitable or highly moral. It would contribute to the country's prosperity by developing commerce and making available to production a great source of power. It would help to close the widening breach between East and West. It would make us one people, all having something to give, all sharing in the pride of a common achievement.

Let us be at it. For the recurring high water marks of the rivers let us substitute a permanent high water mark for good sense and progress.

THE IDEAL SECRETARY OF STATE.

What proved to be the late Official Spokesman's valedictory—the pronouncement that, if Mr. Kellogg should resign the portfolio of State, Mr. Hoover would not succeed him—occasioned a flurry, which, as is known, was quickly composed. It subsequently elicited from Mr. Coolidge the explanatory judgment that a Secretary of State should be a lawyer.

There was another President from Massachusetts who had a different idea as to the qualifications for this office. In a series of previously unpublished letters of John Adams, now running in the Atlantic Monthly, that forthright old father observes:

> A Secretary of State ought to have pierced into the remotest Periods of ancient Times and into the most distant Regions of the Earth: He should have Studied the Map of Man, in his Savage as well as civilised State. It is more necessary that a Secretary of State should be omniscient than a President, provided the President be honest and judicious. * * *

In other words, the elder Adams' ideal of a Foreign Minister was that rare product which we today call the educated man, such a paragon as Chesterfield unwearyingly exhorted his son to become in that famous correspondence. And the history of this American office rather vindicates John Adams. Though lawyers have won luster in the post, our most outstanding Secretary of State was that accomplished man of letters, cosmopolitan in the finest sense, with the knowledge and wisdom of great culture, John Hay.

INADEQUATE FLYING FIELDS.

There is an important lesson for other New York-to-Paris flyers in the tragic accident which befell Lieutenant-Commander Noel Davis and his aide, Lieut. Wooster, Tuesday at Norfolk. It is this: that because of the necessity of loading the transatlantic planes to the very limits of their carrying capacity, the trial flights must be made from fields that provide ample margins of safety for takeoffs.

The Davis expedition came to an unhappy end because the trial flight was made from a field surrounded by trees. For an ordinary flight it is amply safe. Its size makes it possible for planes with normal loads easily to clear the trees. But for Davis' heavily loaded biplane the obstruction meant a low-altitude turn, and the turn meant loss of flying speed. There was nothing left but a forced landing, and that in marshy ground, which flipped the plane over on its back and wrecked it. Similarly, the Fonck expedition of last fall came to an unhappy end because the plane settled in the takeoff and struck a ditch.

It is certainly possible for flyers undertaking such a difficult trip as that from New York to Paris to select more suitable fields with clear take-offs and flat surrounding country to allow for the necessity of forced landings. It is particularly to be hoped that St. Louis' representative in the transatlantic contest, Charles A. Lindbergh, will see fit to make his trial flights from a field whose natural surroundings make it possible to make a forced landing in safety.

While the Laclede Gas Co. is doing its best to convince the public that the new schedule of rates is merely a "readjustment," that fickle jade, the New York Stock Exchange, must cut the same kind of capers that she does when a new schedule of rates appears and is called just a plain raise. Laclede common is booming. It reached a new high mark, 200 yesterday. Leave it to the stock market to spill the beans.

THE JOHNSTON CASE.

A jury in Judge Pearcy's court, disregarding the diagnosis and recommendations of Dr. William Nelson, head of the psychiatric clinic, imposed upon Martin Johnston the heaviest penalty for robbery ever inflicted in St. Louis by the free act of a jury—a sentence of 50 years. Johnston, an ex-convict, was accused of a filling station robbery which took place last December.

Johnston's defense was insanity, and in this plea he was supported by Dr. Nelson, who said Johnston did not know the difference between right and wrong, "except in its simplest capacity," and suggested that Johnston be placed, not in the penitentiary but in an institution where he could get medical attention. Dr. Nelson acted on order of the court. He expressed discouragement over the outcome of the case.

With all respect for the sincerity and scholarliness of Dr. Nelson's views, we believe there is a general feeling of disillusion as to the value of the opinions of alienists in criminal trials. We learned in the Loeb-Leopold case, where two sets of experts, one employed by the State and the other by the defendants, gave conflicting testimony, that the psychiatrists cannot agree among themselves on a given set of facts.

The science of mental diseases is young. There is no indication as yet that it will ever discover the causes of insanity, much less its cure. Its progress thus far has been largely in the classification of mental troubles. Dr. Nelson classified Johnston as a man of low mentality. When it was shown that he had used considerable ingenuity in evading the police, Dr. Nelson said he was guided by instinct. Accepting his conclusions as correct, it follows that the safest place to put a dangerous man like this is in the penitentiary.

Dr. Nelson thinks this is wrong. He would put Johnston under medical care. But what kind of medical care? Medicine cannot make a normal man of a moron. It cannot insure society that this man's conduct will ever be free of dangerous criminal manifestations. Perhaps some day, when we know more about mental diseases and their treatment, it will be unthinkable to send a man like Johnston to the penitentiary. At present, with our limited knowledge, that is the best place to put him.

MAJ. HARVEY W. SALMON.

The death of Maj. Harvey W. Salmon at the advanced age of 88 removes a man who in his day played a graceful, distinguished part in the public affairs of Missouri. He had held office—that of State Treasurer—at a time when a State official was a personage. He was chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee when that position was one of high honor. But it was not to public or party preferment that Harvey Salmon owed his prestige. He commanded deference by his rare personal qualities. There was a sterling elegance about the man, a dignity of manner, a sort of manorial flavor that charmed and delighted. This atmosphere surrounded and embellished him in every activity of life, political, industrial and social. The Salmon Bank at Clinton was strictly in character. It was not merely a prosperous business house. It was an institution. It was founded upon the rock of almost unique community confidence and affection. When it fell something happened which could not occur. The fall stunned Missouri as perhaps no other failure ever has. The loss was not confined to depositors or stockholders. There was hardly a hamlet in the State that did not, through one or more of its elder citizens, feel the shock of genuine grief, with never a whisper of censure. Since that evil day, almost a quarter of a century ago, Maj. Salmon has lived in St. Louis, quietly, gently, awaiting the end.

REAL COUNTY SEWERS PROPOSED.

County Health Commissioner Walters' proposal to make all of St. Louis County one sewer district, to supply the sewerage so badly needed in many of the suburban and semi-suburban sections, is the best plan yet offered to solve this vexatious problem. It would unify the work, centralize the responsibility for it, decrease the opportunities for graft and soft jobs, co-ordinate the drainage of all communties and promote health.

The petition to create this district, drawn by Bernard Greensfelder, attorney, is before Circuit Judge McElhinney. Likewise, petitions for seven smaller districts, to serve restricted neighborhoods, are before Judges McElhinney and Wurdeman. The chance to serve the county well or poorly confronts these jurists. They can permit the minor districts to proceed with one-horse sewer work, or they can deny these petitions and grant the one of Commissioner Walters, thus giving the whole county advantage of the sewer law.

It is likely, lawyers think, that only one district will be incorporated at this time, and then a test case will be taken to the Supreme Court of Missouri to determine whether this law, passed by the recent Legislature, is constitutional. Let it be the district of the whole county that is incorporated. Then, if the supreme tribunal upholds the enabling act, a real sewer system can be established. There is the word of a national authority, W. W. Horner of St. Louis, that the large, single unit is the proper sort to adopt.

NEW YORK'S EYE CLINIC.

Eye tests for children of pre-school age in St. Louis were urged the other day in an address before the St. Louis Medical Society by Mrs. Jessie Ross Royer, staff associate of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. Mrs. Royer declared that one-third of the children examined were found to have defective eyesight in tests conducted in the kindergartens of New York City by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. This same proportion of cases of faulty vision in very young children would probably hold true in St. Louis and other large cities.

St. Louis should watch the progress being made in New York City at the Hartley House eye clinic for children of pre-school age. There can be hardly anything of more vital interest to the city than the guarding of its children's health, particularly their eyesight, when they are at such a tender age.

AN ARGUMENT FOR GUESS WHAT?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

JOURNALISM IN THE UNITED STATES.

H. L. MENCKEN in the American Mercury.

THERE are not a dozen American newspapers of today with any more personality than so many sardines out of a can. They all seem to be slipping down to the level of the Washington Star. Certainly there should be room in every large American town for a paper with at least as much enterprise and individuality as the New York World. St. Louis has one, and it is immensely prosperous. Baltimore has another, and it is even more prosperous. But the tale of them is soon told. Elsewhere the tendency is for all papers to look alike—and when they look alike they are invariably all bad, as in Pittsburg, Cincinnati and (perhaps I should except one paper here) Los Angeles the damned. The last journalistic bolshevik of Philadelphia is no more; the gazettes of the town are now merely daily editions of the Saturday Evening Post. Washington has no newspapers at all, but only vaseline machines. Everywhere the syndicate feature crowds the news harder and harder, and everywhere editorial writing becomes more and more indistinguishable from pants pressing.

RUSSIA'S DISARMAMENT.

From the New Republic.

RUSSIA has patched up her quarrel with Switzerland. The latter country now apologizes for the murder of Vorovsky in 1923 and agrees to make a monetary settlement with his daughter. The end of the feud is of decided importance, since it removes the obstacle which has prevented Russia's attending international conferences of the League of Nations held on Swiss soil. It is taken for granted that she will be represented at the Economic Conference and what is perhaps even more important, at the future sessions of the Preliminary Conference on Disarmament. Her presence there would remove one of the major stumbling blocks among the many obstacles which stand in the path of success. Both Poland and Rumania have said they cannot cut their armies unless Russia will do the same. If she comes to the sessions and agrees (as she has already done in principle) to a great reduction in military strength it will be necessary for these countries either to come to terms or find a new alibi in a hurry.

CITY PLANNING IN AUSTRALIA.

JOHN R. WATSON in the Atlantic Monthly.

THE commonwealth Government of Australia is building, on a virgin site in the bush, a Federal capital which is to be the most beautiful garden city in the world. This new city has begun its career under most favored conditions, although there was a great deal of political wire pulling before the site was finally selected by the commonwealth Parliament. Within the limitations fixed by the Constitution of the Australian commonwealth it is an ideal site. It is in the east of Australia, in the state of New South Wales, about 80 miles from the coast, 35 degrees south of the Equator and 149 degrees east of Greenwich. It lies in an amphitheater of hills, with an outlook toward the north and the northeast. The average altitude above sea level is 1800 feet. The site consists of gently undulating country and prominent hills of moderate altitude have been reserved in the plan of the city for the erection of public buildings. The chief eminence has been named Capitol Hill, and there, in imitation of Washington, the parliamentary buildings will be erected. A "temporary" building in which the commonwealth Parliament will meet for the first time in May next, when the seat of government will be formally transferred from Melbourne to the new city, has just been completed at a cost of $2,500,000. This two-story structure is built of stone and will last for a hundred years, but it is officially regarded as temporary, because the intention of the Government is to erect in the distant future, on the opposite side of Capitol Hill, a more costly and beautiful building as the permanent home of the commonwealth Parliament. The name of Australia's new Federal capital is Canberra. The accent in the name has been officially placed on the first syllable, to preserve the aboriginal sound of the word; but for years Australians have been accustomed to place the accent on the second syllable, and it is by no means certain that the official edict will triumph over custom.

AMERICAN HUMOR.

From the Youngstown Vindicator.

REFINEMENT has, perhaps, never been a characteristic of American humor. Mark Twain, in his day, had hard work to get himself accepted by the critics, and as for Josh Billings and Bill Nye, refinement was the least of their worries. But, at any rate, American humorists of the past were not given to the telling of questionable anecdotes; if they were boisterous, they were not obscene. Today the trend is in the other direction. When men get together they seem to feel that they are called on to tell nasty stories, and now, along with the general disappearance of restraint, the same thing is spreading to mixed gatherings. A Chicago investigator finds that the "hot one," formerly confined to smoking cars, is trotted out at the best dinner tables without even causing a gasp, and the jokesmiths "get away with murder." The quality of American humor, he says, is getting lower and lower. All of which is so true as to require no comment.

Emphatically, no! Such has long been our contention, but we hesitated to launch our campaign to de-bunk the news about Russia until we possessed incontrovertible facts. We herewith present the facts. In New York, a Russian woman slapped Kerensky. That slap proves nothing. Kerensky might have said "damn" in Russian. But in Chicago, where men are men, Thompson is Mayor, anyone who says "British Constitution" is foolish, and heaven help the innocent bystander, a Russian nobleman, with hate in his heart, fire in his eye and whiskers on his chin, slapped Kerensky. When the Russians really become angry, all they do is to slap somebody. To Russians a popular song, "I hate you, hate you, that's what I mean quand je vous frappe sur la bouche." We could do worse than that to people we only dislike. Must we fear a spineless people whose supreme gesture of hatred is a slap? No! In fact, anyone who speaks in awed whispers of a Russian plot should be—slapped.

Modern Feminism

MAN: AN INDICTMENT. By Anthony M. Ludovici. (Dutton).

STATED baldly, Mr. Ludovici's thesis, here defended with a very considerable array of learning and stubborn argument, is this: The modern human male is degenerating physically and morally, and accordingly the modern woman is beginning to regard the men folks with ill-concealed animosity and contempt.

If no more than this were to be said of the position taken by Mr. Ludovici, a stampede of dissatisfied wives, unsatisfied spinisters and strong-headed flappers in the direction of the nearest bookstall would be in order. But the thesis, as elaborated by Mr. Ludovici, has many implications, and the sword of his disapproval is two edged. Insurgent ladies, seeking intellectual support for some theory of absolute feminine superiority, will find Mr. Ludovici a very unobliging man, to say the least ;and at times he may seem positively no gentleman.

In spite of the reference to masculinity in the title, the work is at bottom a study of modern woman. Why has the development of feminism been possible in our time? At what period in the life of a race does the phenomenon of feminism appear, and what does it portend? What are the claims upon which feminism is based, and are those claims justified by the facts? These are the questions that Mr. Ludovici discusses, and before he is through, there seems little left to brag about on either side of the family. If mother can accuse father of being no man, father has only to reply, with whatever virile force he may yet command, that neither is mother. If it can be argued that father is no longer an example of the good old heroic breed, it can also be remarked that mother is rather funny in her new trousers. "And so on, far into the night."

Feminism, Mr. Ludovici points out, is no new social phenomenon, having appeared in ancient societies, notably those of Greece and Rome, during their periods of social degeneracy. As in former ages, argues the author, so in modern times the "emancipation of woman" has been due, not to an increase of strength in the feminine contingent, but to a weakening of the men. A human society, our author would say, develops by virtue of the virile creative character of the male mind in its heyday. During this heyday of characteristically masculine activity, the women are not only willing but proud to be led by their men. Then the softening process sets in. The characteristic masculine qualities become less and less pronounced. Man, no longer truly masculine, loses his grip upon the complex social structure he has built. Uxoriousness and a general maudlin sentimentalism regarding women, and their virtues spread through society. Woman seems to rise because man is falling. And along with this progressive feminization of a decadent people, so Mr. Ludovici contends, goes a cheapening of ideals, a general lowering of standards; and true aristocracy disappears.

It must be remembered that Mr. Ludocivi is discussing the state of affairs in England. Even before the war the neighbors were aware that Mr. and Mrs. John Bull had apparently outlived their honeymoon; and if we do not now hear the impact of rolling pins and the clatter of smashed glass, it is, our author would say, only because Mr. Bull has agreed to accept the fate of the henpecked.

The causes given for the lamentable decline of Mr. Bull's erstwhile masculinity are modern industrialism and its corrollary, the concentration of population in cities. Undoubtedly the author succeeds in showing the ill effect of the conditions of modern industrialism and excessive urbanization upon the well-being of men. But it seems probable that too little emphasis is placed upon the direct effect of our industrial scheme upon women. In a society that is so organized that wealth tends to accumulate more and more in the hands of a very few, there must be some very unfair exploitation of the toiler. Cheap labor certainly had a great deal to do with the feminine rebellion in England. Were not women and children introduced into industry as laborers because they were cheap? And was it not true that many a man could not earn enough to support his women and children decently? And if the men of a race can not take care of their women and children, should not the women assert themselves?

Naturally, absurd claims would be made by the insurgent party, and they are being made; but they are claims that millions of women, who know wherein genuine feminine power lies, recognize as ridiculous.

So Mr. Ludovici's indictment of modern man and woman is in effect the indictment of a false view of life based upon the materialistic, go-getting illusion of the modern world. Can not every phase of the general cheapening of ideals, the prevailing flippant cynacism, the "standardization" of thought be traced directly to that illusion? It is an illusion that has in it the seeds of its own destruction. It emphasizes shrewdness, which is hardly the same as wisdom.

The book deserves to be read by intelligent men and women, not in a spirit of sex antagonism, which surely is a great folly, but by way of eliminating certain prevalent misconceptions that have spread by social contagion and have been widely accepted without examination. Even though Mr. Ludovici's thesis be rejected, it would be a dull reader indeed who could fail to find much illumination in the argument.

GOLD MEDALS FOR DAMROSCH, FOSDICK, OCHS AND G. P. BAKER

Annual Awards for Community Service Announced by Institute of Social Sciences.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The annual gold medal awards of the National Institute of Social Sciences to the four men who have given "distinguished services to the community" are announced.

Walter Damrosch, retired director of the New York Symphony Orchestra, will receive a decoration "in recognition of his services to the community in musical education"; the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, for his "services to the public as a leader in religious thought and in the promotion of spiritual ideals"; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, for his work "in developing and maintaining high standards of journalism," and Prof. George Pierce Baker of Yale "for services in connection with the development of dramatic art and the maintainance of high literary and dramatic standards."

The presentation of the medals will be made May 4 at the annual dinner of the Institute of Social Science.

WILL PRESENT WILDE COMEDY

Thyrsus Dramatic Club Gives Play Tomorrow Evening.

"The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, is to be presented tomorrow night at the American Theater by the Thyrsus Dramatic Club of Washington University.

Wins $10,000 Prize for Story.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—A $10,000 prize for the best story submitted in a national contest conducted by College Humor and First National Pictures has been awarded Cornell Woolrich, 21 years old, of this city. Woolrich is a former student at Columbia University. His novel, "Children of the Ritz," is an ironical romance of a wealthy girl, who loses her money, and a poor chauffeur who becomes rich by betting on the races.

Nun Wins St. Louis U. Prize.

Sister Mary Noreen Slattery, a nun of the Notre Dame sisterhood, was awarded second place in the annual competition for the philosophical medal at St. Louis University, where she is enrolled in the School of Education. First place went to Joseph Heffernan, a junior in the college. All contestants for the medal submitted an essay dealing with "Free Will," the competition being conducted under Father J. J. O'Regan, S. J., professor of philosophy.

MISS JENNIE WAHLERT PRESIDENT OF TOWN CLUB

New Executive Is a Supervisor in Primary Grades of Public Schools; Other Officers.

Miss Jennie Wahlert, a supervisor in the primary grades of the public schools, was elected president of the Town Club, 1120 Locust street, at the organization's annual meeting last night, succeeding Miss Martha L. Connole. Miss Wahlert lives at 2918 Harper street.

Miss Marie B. Ames was chosen vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Chamberlain, second vice-president; Dr. Mattylee C. Barnett, third vice-president; Miss Mildred E. Foulks, secretary; Miss L. Louise Klein, treasurer; and Miss Helen Henke, auditor. The Board of Directors for the coming year will include Miss Eva M. Schepp, Miss Katherine M. Byrne, Miss Alma Fletcher and Miss Evelyn Powell, for three-year terms; Mrs. Walter Koken for a two-year term, and Miss Lula Day and Mrs. D. O. Ives for one-year terms.

An annual report from each club officer and committee chairman was presented at the meeting.

WOMEN POSTPONE DRY ISSUE

Voters' League Council Rejects It for This Year's Study.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29. — The general council of the National League of Women Voters has voted down a motion to include the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act in its study program for the year. It recommended instead the appointment of a committee to report next year, just before the big party conventions, on the possibility of including prohibition enforcement in its program.

The year's program will include: A study of the legislation on corrupt practices; support of settlement of international difficulties by arbitration and support of treaties having the same end in view; support of legislation providing for State continuance and establishment of work for maternity and infant hygiene.

Nominated to Head Women's Clubs

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 29.—Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, has been nominated as a candidate for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. A request that Mrs. Sippel be named was brought by an officer of the General Federation. Mrs. Walter McNab Miller of Missouri. The election will be held at the biennial convention at San Antonio, Tex., in May, 1928.

Social Items

BEFORE the altar of St. Rose's Church, adorned with iris and dogwood brought from the woods and combined with greenery, Miss Emily Nash Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullen, of 5729 Cate savenue, became the bride this morning of Dr. Goronwy Owen Broun, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Broun of Mobile, Ala. The Rev. Father J. J. McGlynn officiated.

The bride wore a white georgette wedding gown, made with a bolero bodice and a two-tiered skirt, with an uneven hemline. The sleeves were puffed to the elbow and close-fitting to the hand. The girdle was of chiffon, held with an ornament of pearls. There was a chiffon court train, and the tulle veil was held to the bride's hair by a tulle cap, banded with duchess lace. She carried roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. William Howard Arnold, wife of Lieut. Arnold of Jefferson Barracks, was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She was gowned in beige chiffon and chantilly lace, with a girdle of peach blow satin, and a beige hair braid hat trimmed with a single beige rose. She carried butterfly roses. Oscar Broun of Leake, Miss., was best man for his brother.

After the ceremony a small informal wedding breakfast for members of the family and a few friends was given at the home of the bride's parents. The receiving party stood before the mantel, banked with roses and snapdragons, and more of the same blossoms were used on the dining room table.

Dr. and Mrs. Broun will pass their honeymoon in Chicago, Atlantic City and New York, and will make their home temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Mullen upon their return.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart Convent and has traveled abroad. She is a niece of Gen. William H. Cocke of the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington.

Dr. Broun is a graduate of St. Louis University Medical School. He has held appointments at the Rockefeller Institute in New York and the Harvard Medical School in Boston. He is now an associate professor of medicine at St. Louis University.

Dr. Broun's parents, his sister, Miss Elise Broun, and his aunt, Miss Isabel Pownsley, all of Mobile, came to St. Louis for the ceremony.

Miss Estelle Manville departed for her home in New York yesterday after a visit with Miss Elizabeth Cuendet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Cuendet of the Oxford Apartments. She was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Marie Nugent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Nugent, and Thomas Michael Conroy of Cincinnati, O., Wednesday afternoon. Miss Cuendet gave a supper party for Miss Manville Sunday night at the St. Louis Country Club.

The first of the spring luncheons at the St. Louis Country Club will be given today. The golf season is open and there will be bridge for those who care to play. These luncheons will continue through the summer.

MISS LORETTA KRAFT.

THE engagement of Miss Kraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kraft of 6125 Waterman avenue, and Julius R. Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gross of 4530 Gravois avenue, was announced Saturday, April 23, at a bridge luncheon at Hotel Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling E. Edmunds of 11 Lenox place returned home yesterday from Charlottesville, Va., where they have had a house for several months. Their daughter, Miss Eugenie, has been the guest of Miss Josephine Bates, niece of Mrs. William Maffitt of 4315 Westminster place, since her return to St. Louis, a fortnight ago.

Cards were received in St. Louis several days ago from Mrs. Albert Tevis Kelley of New York announcing the postponement of the wedding of her daughter, Miss Adele Sarpy Kelley and George Lascelles Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thebaud Maxwell of New York, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon in the ballroom of the Park Lane Hotel. No reason is given for the postponement.

Miss Kelley is a granddaughter of the late Mrs. J. L. D. Morrison of St. Louis.

Mrs. Benjamin O'Fallon Randolph of Milwood, Va., and her two children are visiting Mrs. Randolph's mother, Mrs. Lorraine F. Jones Sr. of "Ivy Lodge," Kirkwood.

Mrs. Charles Spears Glasgow of Lexington, Ky., arrived in St. Louis Tuesday to be the guests of Mrs. Glasgow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Green Edwards of Kirkwood. Mrs. Glasgow was Miss Constance Edwards.

Mrs. Hadley Richardson Hemingway of Paris, France, and her young son, John Hadley, will arrive in St. Louis Tuesday to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Roland G. Usher of 5739 Cates avenue. The visitors will remain until the last of the month, when they with Dr. and Mrs. Usher and their four children, will depart for California to spend the summer. Mrs. Hemingway, who has made her home in Paris for the past six years, is a former St. Louisan.

An interesting event of tomorrow evening will be the annual meeting of the Missouri Historical Society. United States Senator Harry B. Hawes will give a memorial address on the late David R. Francis. Breckinridge Jones will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas of 4652 Maryland avenue and their children will return early next month from St. Augustine, Fla., where they are visiting Mr. Lucas' mother, Mrs. John B. C. Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Steedman of 32 Westmoreland place will give a dinner party Saturday night at the St. Louis Country Club.

The children's Story Hour at the City Art Museum Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, will be "About Baskets." Mrs. Mary Evans Hallock, of the Drawing Department of the Public Schools, will show how baskets are woven from reeds and grasses. She will have different colors for color effects and she will show how designs are developed. As she weaves, legends of baskets will be told. The public is invited.

Mrs. Wilbur F. Groom of Buffalo, N. Y., and her young daughter, Patricia, will arrive Sunday to be the guests for a week of Mr. Groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Groom of 5915 Waterman avenue.

The Junior Girls Auxiliary of the Jewish Orphan Home will give a musical entertainment this evening at the studio of Miss Irma Summa, 4505 Olive street for the benefit of the new building fund.

Dr. and Mrs. Ernst Jonas of 7 Hampden Park will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary tomorrow. This day is also the twenty-seventh anniversary of Dr. Jonas' arrival in America.

Private Garden Open to Public.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Angert have announced that their garden on Kent road, just off the Clayton road, will be open to the public as in former years tomorrow and Sunday, from 2 to 6 p. m. Kent road is four miles west of Skinker road and runs north and south for the short distance between the Log Cabin Club and the St. Louis Country Club grounds.

Kaiser Choral Prize Awarded.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Arion Singing Society of Brooklyn has received the "Kaiser prize," a huge gold and silver plaque offered in 1915 by William II. then Emperor of Germany, to the champion German Choral Society in America. The prize was stored 12 years in a German Government bureau in Berlin because of the war blockade.

FOR PERFECT PERMANENT WAVING

Needs Less Heat than a Marcel

ALTHOUGH the Nestle permanent wave machines cost the hairdresser more than any of the seventeen imitations existing, there are more Nestle machines in use than all others combined. More money is yearly spent at the Nestle laboratories for hair research than by all other laboratories combined. That is why every improvement in permanent waving is a Nestle improvement. The Nestle Circuline Process is by far the most gentle process known. The heat used is actually 100 degrees lower than is required for an ordinary marcel wave. Seven minutes of gentle heating and your wave is complete.

Watch Your Frail Puny Child Grow Strong Take on Weight—Quick

Take Cod Liver Oil the New Tasteless Way—in Sugar-Coated Tablets.

In just a few days—quicker than you ever dreamt of—these wonderful health building, flesh making tablets called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets will start to help any thin, underweight little one gain in weight.

After sickness and where rickets are suspected they are especially valuable. No need to give them any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—these tablets are made to take the place of that good, but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do it.

A very sickly child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

Ask Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—as easy to take as candy and 60 tablets, 60 cents. But be sure and demand McCoy's—there are imitations just as there is counterfeit money.

And bear in mind if McCoy's doesn't help your frail, rundown child in 30 days, money back.

COURTS WILL DECIDE OLIVE CITY'S STATUS

Discovery That University City Owns Two-Mile Strip Complicates Suburb's Identity.

Although Olive City, a newly incorporated St. Louis County suburb, is disputing ownership of part of its territory with University City, it has been discovered that University City's title to an isolated strip of land 150 feet wide and about two miles long is unquestioned.

Last March, the University City Council ordered an election on the annexation of about 800 acres to the northwest of that large suburb, bounded on the south by Clayton, on the west by a line 150 feet west of Woodson road, on the north by a line 100 feet north of Olive Street road and on the east by the old University City limits. Objectors in the section involved obtained incorporation of Olive City from the County Court on April 4, covering about 1200 acres, bounded by University City on the east, Clayton on the south, Woodson road itself on the west and Page avenue on the north. The next day University City voters, disregarding this, annexed the 800 acres they wanted.

Now the courts have been appealed to for determination of whether Olive City will continue to exist or the University City annexation will stand, but in the meantime University City is owner of the 150-foot strip west of Woodson road, from the line 100 feet north of Olive Street road to Clayton.

Motorists driving east on Olive Street road see a new sign, 150 feet west of Woodson road: "You are now entering University City." Some one has hung a dummy on this, labeled for Joseph Grand, who is leading the fight on Olive City as attorney for University City. Then at Woodson road they encounter another new sign: "Olive City; speed limit 20 miles per hour, ordinance No. 10." Continuing eastward, they find an old sign announcing the old University City limits, at Hanley road, and if they glance back at this same point, they see a repetition of the new Olive City speed warning. University City sued Olive City last Tuesday in Circuit Court to settle the controversy.

LUTHERAN PASTOR QUESTIONED ABOUT DOCTRINAL LOYALTY

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 29.—The Rev. Dr. Frank Edwin Smith, pastor of the Lutheran Memorial Church here, was summoned before a committee of the Pittsburg synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church today for an examination into his doctrinal beliefs.

The inquiry was ordered by the Rev. Dr. Ellis D. Burgess, president of the synod, as a result of a series of sermons by Dr. Smith in which he assailed doctrines of the virgin birth, miracles, blood atonement and Christ's bodily resurrection. The pastor, in accepting the summons, indicated he would be accompanied by an attorney, but Dr. Burgess ruled the inquiry was purely a church proceeding and that counsel would not be permitted.

The committee has submitted written questions as to his beliefs to Dr. Smith and he has prepared answers.

LADY ASTOR ASSAILS COMMONS

Voices Indigation When Bill to Protect Women's Jobs is Defeated.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 29.—The House of Commons, to the accompaniment of a cry of "shame" from Lady Astor, today rejected a bill which was designed to protect married women from being dismissed or refused appointment by any public authority merely on the ground of their marriage. The vote was 84 to 63.

One of the present customs which the bill would have altered was the dismissal of women school teachers of London upon their marriage.

One of the arguments used against the measure was that women civil service employes were opposed to it on the contention that it would decrease their opportunity for promotion. Lady Astor, in supporting the bill declared: "We have to fight a long standing enemy and that enemy is that man is to judge whether women should work. We say that women should judge whether they want to work."

ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

G. C. Meyers Accused of Selling Denatured Alcohol to Minor.

George C. Meyers, 33 years old, was arrested in his hardware store, 119 South Broadway, at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, and charged with selling denatured alcohol to minors, after a 13-year-old boy had purchased a quantity with a marked quarter furnished him by State Food Inspectors. A warrant will be requested.

United States and the Ambassador from Mexico, representing President Calles, have exchanged friendly and conciliatory assurances across a tablee. The face to face conference, whether in private business or in international relations, is far more likely to produce an amicable understanding than any amount of letter writing.

Assurances From Tellez.

Immediately after his return from a recent visit to Mexico City, Ambassador Tellez saw President Coolidge. He told the President, as the latter reported at New York, that Mexico has no intention of confiscating American property.

Acceptance of this assurance by the President means that the Government recedes from the intransigent position taken by Kellogg and moves toward the Mexican view that protests should wait upon concrete instances of confiscation.

The President has been given to understand that Mexico, pending the determination of cases now in her Supreme Court, will engage in no acts of seizure for alleged violation of the law requiring the exchange of all land titles for 50-year concessions.

The Supreme Court in five decisions in 1922 and 1923, according to Ambassador Tellez, ruled that article 27 of the Constitution, under which the laws in question were enacted, cannot be given retroactive effect.

If, as expected, the Court is guided by these precedents, the controversy will probably stand adjourned sine die.

PALMER CLARKSON HEADS CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY BODY

St. Louisan Honored at Ninetieth Annual Convention of State Organization.

By the Associated Press.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., April 29.—The ninetieth annual State convention of the Missouri Disciples of Christ closed its meeting yesterday. Officers elected are Palmer Clarkson of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Christian Missionary Society; James E. Todd, Trenton, vice president; Powell Smith, Joplin, recording secretary; T. T. Swearingen, Lathrop, second vice president; C. C. Garrigues, Kansas City, transportation secretary; G. L. Bush of Carrollton, R. L. Thorpe of Canton and J. L. Wilkinson of Poplar Bluff, State Board.

The convention voted to raise $500,000 by centennial year, 1937, for a permanent fund, the interest to be used to carry on the work of the church.

The Christian Women's Missionary Society voted $10,000 to Chinese missions, and chose Mrs. Ralph S. Latshaw of Kansas City, president emeritus.

PRESBYTERIANS GET $73,822 IN FIRST WEEK OF CAMPAIGN

Workers Report Progress in Drive for $187,000 for $15,000,000 Pension Fund.

Subscriptions totaling $73,822 for a week's work were announced last night at a dinner at Hotel Chase of workers for the $187,000 Presbyterian pension fund quota. The campaign here is part of a national drive for a $15,000,000 foundation for aged and disabled ministers.

The largest church contribution was that of the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, which reported 64 contributions totaling $25,395. The next highest was that of the Second Presbyterian Church, six contributions totaling $20,000.

The largest individual contribution was by Woodson K. Woods, vice president of the Ralston Purina Co., and chairman of the campaign, who gave $10,000. Daniel N. Kirby, attorney, and Lansing F Smith, chairman of the board of the American Educational Society, gave $5000 each.

The campaign will end May 10.

FRUSTRATES ATTEMPT OF MEN IN AUTO TO KIDNAP HIM

E. A. Grath, Building Supply Dealer, Speeds From Pair Who Ordered Him Into Their Car.

Edward A. Grath of 1115 Belleview avenue, Richmond Heights, a building supply dealer in the Arcade Building, last night evaded two men, apparently robbers, who tried to kidnap him.

He was driving north on Kingshighway near Tholozan avenue when another machine drew abreast and a man shouted, "Say, you're driving too fast; slow down there."

Thinking they were police, Grath obeyed, turning east at Arsenal street. At Morganford road the machine crowded him to the curb, and two men ordered him into the other car. Observing that the men were in civilian clothes and had not displayed badges, Grath stepped on the gas and sped east. The machine followed for a block, he said, then turned into Tower Grove Park.

DISABLED POLICE TO RETIRE

McKenna and Lippel to Be Relieved by Board.

Two police officers, veterans of many years and both with wide and varied experiences, will be retired from the force today by the Board of Police Commissioners for physical disability. One is Lieut. Frank X. McKenna of Deer Street District, who has been ill from cancer since Aug. 31, 1926. He is a member of a family in which there have been numerous police officers and received prominent mention for his work on the Salvatore Leoni murder mystery 15 years ago. He joined the force in 1895.

The other officer is Detective-Sergeant John P. Lippel, who has been ill since April 22, last, as a result of a wound he received in December, 1922, when arresting a Negro. He joined the force in 1903.

ILLINOIS SCHOOL TAX PRORATED

St. Clair County's share of the Illinois school tax will be distributed within the next few days, it was announced yesterday afternoon by County Superintendent of Schools John E. Miller of Belleville. The fund will be prorated among the different townships according to teacher qualification, pupil attendance and school days.

A total of $149,985.95 will be distributed among the townships as follows: Mascoutah, $2,868.87; Shiloh Valley, $1,747.58; St. Clair, $27,318.68; Stookey, $1,837.22; Sugar Loaf, $5,179.51; Lebanon, $3719.94; O'Fallon, $3214.26; Caseyville, $3235.49; Centerville and Canteen, $7030.42; Engelmann, $752.88; Freeburg, $2159.26; Smithon, $1314.31; Millstadt, $1871.02; Fractional Sugar Loaf, $124.93; Fayetteville, $1044.23; New Athens, $1977.55; Prairie du Long, $797.65; Millstadt, $639.47; Marissa, $3235.40; Lenzburg, $1238.41; East St. Louis $78,678.81.

Destitute Flood Victim $2100 Heir.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., April 29.—Wiley E. Gregory, a Mississippi River flood victim of McClure, Ill., who wrote to Ed Fry of this city for a loan of $25, was told in reply by Fry that he was an heir of Jacob Gregory and that $2100 awaited him at Fairfield, Ill. All of Gregory's possessions were washed away by the flood. Gregory hastened to Fairfield, drew $400 and later will be paid the balance of $1700. Efforts to locate Gregory had been made for years without success.

WILLIS SAYS NO WET CAN EVER BE PRESIDENT OF U. S.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Senator Willis (Rep.) of Ohio, addressing the Methodist Men's Council here yesterday, declared that no wet can ever be President of the United States.

"Prominent university presidents, eminent Governors and other much-advertised political leaders," Willis said, "who devote their efforts, not to upholding the Constitution and the law, but to discovering ways by which the one may be broken down and the other evaded, will never be called upon to take the oath of office as President."

Willis said later that he meant nothing personal "when I referred to Gov. 'Alcohol' Smith."

ADMITS POISONING TO GET INSURANCE

Akron, O., Woman Confesses Killing Mother-in-Law and Attempting Husband's Life.

By the Associated Press.

AKRON, O., April 29.—Mrs. Isa N. Flowers, 36 years old, wife of Frederick Flowers, in a sworn statement, admits poisoning her husband and his mother, Mrs. Laura Flowers, the police announce.

According to the statement, Mrs. Laura Flowers, who died here March 18, was killed by poison administered nearly a year before, in April, 1926, in Parkersburg, W. Va., where she was visiting her son and daughter-in-law. The first doses of the poison were mixed in stew which the younger Mrs. Flowers served to her husband and his mother. She confessed the attempt to her husband when he expressed a belief he was being poisoned. The purpose of the poisoning was to get her husband's insurance.

After the confession she was arrested.

Judge Rosecan Clears Street Musicians Arrested After They Disregarded Police Warning.

Charges of begging and obstructing traffic were dismissed by Police Judge Rosecan today against Jack Palmer, 50 years old, a blind man, and his mother, Mrs. Virginia Mackay, 75 years old, who were arrested at Tenth and Olive streets at 1 p. m. yesterday in spite of the protest of a crowd.

Patrolman William Kraeger of Central District who arrested them testified that he had orders to make the arrest after Palmer and Mrs. Mackay had failed to heed four warnings to stay off the streets. Palmer plays the violin and his mother distributes slips of paper bearing the verses, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight."

Under questioning by the Court, Kraeger admitted that he had seen neither Palmer nor his mother solicit alms.

"Then they are not begging any more than Kreisler or any other musician begs when he plays for the public," Judge Rosecan remarked.

Kraeger said Palmer and his mother reside in East St. Louis. They had $36.70 in change and beggars' licenses issued at Pittsburg and Los Angeles in their possession when arrested. They spent the night in the holdover, as they were unable to supply bond.

FORMER ST. LOUIS YOUTH MARRIED IN NEW YORK

Victor E. O'Hare Takes Assistant Editor of Woman's Home Companion as Bride.

Victor E. O'Hare, 19-year-old son of Frank O'Hare and Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, Socialist leader, of St. Louis, was married yesterday in New York City to Miss Katherine Riggs, an assistant editor of the Woman's Home Companion. Word was received by his family today.

Miss Riggs' home is Wallingford, Conn. She was graduated from Smith College in 1919, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary academic society. O'Hare, with his twin brother, Eugene, who is employed on the staff of a St. Louis newspaper, left home at the age of 15 and went to sea. After visiting South America and Europe O'Hare returned to New York where he is employed as a motor salesman.

Frank O'Hare lives at 2303 Minnesota avenue, and Mrs. O'Hare is in Mena, Ark., where she is associated with the Commonwealth College, a workers' educational institution. She served a 14-months' sentence in the Missouri Penitentiary in 1919 and 1920 for a war-time violation of the Federal espionage act in making a speech.

ALL BUT $10,000 OF $250,000 SMOKE FUND HAS BEEN RAISED

Alderman Neu Wants Committee to Visit Other Cities to Study Abatement Methods.

In the campaign to raise $250,000 for three years' work of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League, $240,000 has been raised. The league expects to obtain the remaining $10,000 by Saturday, when the campaign is to close. Several corporations are counted on to aid. The solicitation has been done by mail, following a personal campaign several weeks ago. Among the new subscriptions announced today are: Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., $1500; Tate Motor Co., $200; Farmers and Merchants' Trust Co., $250; Prendergast Lumber Co., $250.

A resolution asking the appointment of an aldermanic smoke nuisance committee, to investigate the smoke evil by visiting other cities at public expense, was introduced in the Board of Aldermen yesterday by Alderman Neu.

MAN, 77, WEDS WOMAN, 68

MEXICO, Mo., April 29.—William K. Gass, 77 years old, of Laddonia, retired farmer, and Mrs. Sarah V. McDonald, 68, of Middletown, were married here yesterday by the Rev. J. S. Jesse.

Gass is a brother of the late Howard Gass, Cole County educator who was State Superintendent of schools from 1906 to 1910 and was re-elected in 1914, serving until his death in office Sept. 18, 1916.

LIGHT AND HEAT BY RADIO DEMONSTRATED

NEW YORK, April 28.—A scientist's vision of a city of the future with invisible beams of radio power taking the place of the maze of cables and wires that now carry telephone, power and telegraph impulses, was described before the New York Electrical Society by two Westinghouse company engineers, Dr. Harvey C. Rentschler and Dr. Phillips Thomas, who demonstrated developments in wireless power transmission and heating.

Dr. Thomas, a research engineer, showed how radio waves only one-hundredth as long as the shortest used in present broadcasting can be reflected from metal mirrors to make beams that can be directed as easily as a beam of light in any desired direction.

"When methods of generating still shorter waves are found these will be effective at long distances," he said. "We may visualize a parallel beam of radiation four inches across from which 10 kilowatts of energy may be taken to houses where it can be received and used for light or heat just as power is taken from wires today.

"Suppose that the four-inch beam of highly concentrated energy could be made to render conductive the air through which it passes. Then ordinary electric power could be sent along the beam as if it were a copper wire. The beam coudl then be directed to any desired spot with dire results to the target. It would be the so-called 'heat ray' visualized by fiction writers."

Dr. Thomas showed present methods of transmitting power over short distances by causing unconnected lamps to light while held in his hand many feet from a generating apparatus.

Dr. Renschler showed a radio furnace in which invisible waves caused metals to glow white hot in an instant and chemicals to react in a way hitherto possible only in a high vacuum. Another use of the radio furnace is in the preparation of metals which ordinarily burn like tinder when heated in the open air. Thus metals such as thorium and uranium, which are radioactive, are made available in larger quantities than ever before. Likewise, the furnace will turn metals such as gold and silver into gases, so that their individual atoms can be weighed. These metallic atoms, Dr. Rentschler explained, are so tiny that ten thousand billions of them are necessary to make an ounce, and some of them are capable of existing in a free condition for only the ten-thousandth of a second.

THEOSOPHIST PLANS TO FLY OVER EUROPE IN CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Annie Besant, 80, Will Visit Various Capitals in Effort to Convert World.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 29.—Dr. Annie Besant's 80 years do not prevent her from prosecuting her campaign to win the whole world over to theosophy.

Early in May she will initiate a series of lectures in London and throughout the summer will fly to all the European capitals to deliver addresses in the interest of the new civilization of which she believes Krisnamurti, her youthful Hindu protege, is the prophet.

Mrs. Besant is especially fond of flying and says she finds she can think and compose better in the air than on the ground.

Krisnamurti will not accompany Mrs. Besant on her European lecture trips this summer, but will be at Castle Eerde, in Holland, the European home of the Order of the Star of the East, preparing for the camp he will hold there again this summer.

GROUND BROKEN FOR CENTRAL COLLEGE BOYS' DORMITORY

Heating Plant for Fayette School Also to Be Begun Immediately.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTE, Mo., April 29.—Ground was broken yesterday for a new Central College building, a boys' dormitory that is to accommodate 200 students. The building is to be the third erected as a part of the $750,000 development program.

Construction work also is to be begun immediately on a central heating plant, administration officers have announced. If present plans are carried out the two buildings will be ready for the opening of the fall term next September.

2,000,000 RATS IN MOSCOW

Many Seen in Store Windows on Holidays.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, April 29.—It is estimated that Moscow has 2,000,000 rats—one to every inhabitant. At a minimum of one-half copeck daily, per rat, the authorities figure the damage done by the animals at 1,800,000 rubles ($900,000) yearly.

On holidays, when shops are closed, rats disport themselves in show windows of most of the state food stores, indifferent to the crowds generally to be found in front of the windows. They fraternize with the cats intended for their extermination. A valuable library of more than 20,000 volumes was found to have been destroyed by the rodents in Oreckovo-Zulevo, a nearby town.

AMERICANS DINE WITH CHINESE MERCHANTS

Senator Hawes and Others Address Banquet of National On Leong Tong.

The On Leong Tong, or Chinese Merchants' Association, a national organization in convention here held its annual banquet last night at Hotel Statler with numerous city, State and Federal officers, political leaders, business and professional men as guests. About 200 persons were present.

Good will between the American and Chinese peoples was the keynote of the gathering. The Chinese flag, flanked by two American flags, hung over the speakers' table. A large American eagle, carved from ice, stood with wings poised in front of the toastmaster's chair. Cut flowers and tiny Chinese umbrellas decorated the tables.

Yee King Lai of Pittsburg, Pa., president of the On Leong Tong, welcomed the American guests. He spoke in Chinese, and Joe Lin, St. Louis merchant, interpreted for him.

Purpose of the Tong.

"Our association," he said, "was formed 20 years ago to promote friendly relations between its members and the people of the communities in which they live. We have had a wonderful convention here and I would be ungrateful if I did not publicly express my pleasure at your attendance here tonight."

Congressman Dyer compared the Chinese people today with the American patriots of the Revolution. "It was John Hay, the great American Secretary of State, who prevented the dismemberment of China," he declared, "and President Coolidge is standing by China today while her people struggle to set up a stable government."

Senator Hawes Speaker.

United States Senator Hawes expressed sympathy with the Chinese nationalists. "Great forces are at work in China for the control of its affairs by its own people without outside inference," he declared. "China will emerge a great sovereignty, capable of taking her rightful place in world affairs and wit han understanding that hrought it all the United States has remained steadfast in its friendship."

George S. Johns, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, remarked: "I feel like writing a leader every day and putting at the top of it 'China for the Chinese.' "

Other speakers, who expressed sympathy with the Chinese in their efforts toward self-determination were President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, District Attorney Breuer, Prohibition Administrator Haley, Circuit Judges Ossing and Hogan, Circuit Attorney Sidener, Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer, Joe King of Omaha, a visiting Chinese; Henry Kortjohn, member of the Police Board; Lawrence McDaniel, former Circuit Attorney; Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican National Committeeman; Issac H. Hedges, M. E. Holderness and John A. Laird.

$90,000 FIRE AT MEXICO, MO.; NEW THEATER DESTROYED

Newspaper Building, Furniture Store and Residences Among the Property Damaged.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO, Mo., April 29. — Fire at 4 o'clock this morning on the northwest corner of the Audrain County Courthouse Square destroyed the new Grand Theater, with $50,000 loss, damaged the Sam Morris furniture store and the Mexico Ledger building and adjoining residence property, with a total loss of $90,000.

Last night the theater was taxed to its seating capacity of 1000 to see a public school Parent Teachers' Association benefit performance, in which grade school pupils participated, but the origin of the fire six hours later is a mystery.

On this same site on Jan. 21, 1912, the Ferris Grand Opera House, at the time of its construction the largest legitimate playhouse between Kansas City and St. Louis, also was destroyed by fire.

GIRL SWALLOWS BIT OF GLASS

X-ray examination will be made at City Hospital today in an effort to locate a piece of glass swallowed by Alice Crain, 9 years old, 3951 Chouteau avenue, while playing at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

The child experienced no ill-effects from the glass and was allowed to return home following preliminary examination at the hospital last night. She will return to the institution today for the X-ray tests. Physicians are hopeful of removing the glass by medicinal means.

TRUCK DRIVER HURT BY TRAIN

Bernard Dean Struck at Barrett Station in County.

Bernard Dean, 28 years old, of Valley Park, was seriously injured when a westbound Missouri Pacific passenger train struck a truck he was driving at Barrett Station road at 2:25 p. m. yesterday.

Dean, who is employed by the Lake Hill Amusement Co., was taken to Bethesda Dilworth Memorial Hospital in Webster Groves where he was found to be suffering from shock and severe lacerations.

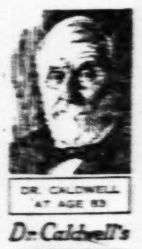
MOTHER FLEEING WITH TWO DAUGHTERS IS ARRESTED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GILMAN, Ill.—An attempt by Mrs. Mary Morris of Kankakee to obtain custody of her own children resulted in her incarceration in the Iroquois County jail at Watseka.

Following the death of her husband, a World War veteran, Mrs. Morris, unable to support her two daughters, Vera, 11, and Elizabeth, 9, placed them in the care of their grandparents here, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Morris. No legal action was taken in relation to their adoption.

Recently the mother decided to regain possession of the girls and when they were returning home from Sunday school placed them in an automobile and drove away. Her arrest in Kankakee followed. If she can convince the authorities she can provide for the children she probably will be permitted to keep them.



Perils of Childhood

"I must be all of twenty years ago that mother first gave me Syrup Pepsin

For those Fevers, Colds and Bowel Troubles of Childhood

How time flies. My good mother has gone to her rest, but I have faithfully relied upon her judgment and have given Syrup Pepsin to my two children since they were born. It is certainly a noble medicine and never fails of its purpose. I like to recommend it."
(Name and address will be sent upon request.)

And in the Evening of Life

When age comes creeping on, with bowels relaxed, muscles weak, digestion poor and blood thinned, then is when constipation does its evil work in a night. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so palatable, sets so well in the stomach, works so easily, so gently, so kindly with old folks as to accomplish its purpose without gripe, pain or other distress. For biliousness, sour stomach, coated tongue, headache, fevers, colds and constipation from infancy to old age Syrup Pepsin is recommended everywhere and sold by all druggists.

German Sea Raider Bids For St. Louis Friendship

Count Luckner Says He Prayed for Dark Night, Hurricane and Luck in Running British Blockade

HERO OF SEEADLER

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
COUNT LUCKNER.

A heroic exponent of the gospel of taking a chance arrived yesterday in St. Louis, taking another chance. He is Count Felix von Luckner, on a mission to this country nearly as daring, in another way, as the descent upon allied merchantmen in the World War that made him one of the world's romantic figures and his "Seeadler" (Sea Eagle) a bogey for frightening sailors' babies.

His present mission is "to conquer the hearts of Americans for my poor country, as they have conconquered our hearts." The chance he is taking is to maintain a four-masted schooner full of the handicraft of German school children and accomplish his mission without money. And it looks as though he would "get by" on the same jovial, roguish, salt-water personality, and the same readiness to take a chance, that made him a hero even to his enemies.

"It must have been that which led students at Princeton University, where he was alloted 45 minutes to talk, to keep him going for two hours and a half. That, again, must have been under Mayor Walkers' remark to him in New York, "We'll have to move your schooner, or something. You've conquered our hearts in such numbers that the Port Captain fears the pier won't hold us all."

Made Friends of His Foes.

Even during the war, when "the Hun" was a favorite epithet, the ineradicable American admiration for courage and adroitness was creeping into two-column accounts of the Sea Eagle's exploits. Captives from some of the 18 merchant ships she sank, without taking a single life, were coming home and calling the Captain of the Sea Eagle "a good sport" and their captivity with him "a vacation." His policy of paying salaries for prisoners' work appealed to some, his champagne to others, and, so far as the record shows, his ability to win without "rubbing it in" and to lose without rancor won them all.

"Darned hard luck," remarked the captain of a schooner which Count Luckner, with 11 other German prisoners, captured in a daylight escape from internment camp in New Zealand, after the Sea Eagle's 64,000-mile career ended on the South Sea reef. When the schooner was recaptured within four days, the Count, again a prisoner, turned to the captain and grinned, "Hard luck, eh?"

New Zealand has invited Count Luckner to call there with his schooner, "Vaterland," on his present mission, and he relates with pride that his first guests on the Vaterland in New York harbor were two captains who were his prisoners. His raider with a windjammer with auxiliary power. He is one of those sailors who believe in "leaving all rags up even if the masts go." He padlocked his halyards so that no chicken-heart could take down a single sail when he slipped through the British blockade in a hurricane, and he shows all the contempt, so mystifying to those who prefer well-heated apartments and an occasional Cook's tour, of an old sailor for noisy, sooty, propeller-shaken steamships.

"On my sailing ship I didn't feel myself as a warrior," he said. "I felt myself a sailor. The whole war was not enough to convince me that any sailor was my enemy."

Ran Away From Home.

He has other points of sympathy with Americans. He ran away from home at 13 when, he chuckles, he "had been reading American stories of self-made men." A few years later he landed in San Francisco, still broke. He counted many railroad ties between there and New York, he related, but he also was a guest of many American engineers in locomotive cabs, American farmers in the wheat fields, and American bartenders in New York, where he made his first $1000 polishing brasswork.

"That $1000 was the making of me," he declared. "You may imagine my homecoming, after 24 years, to the familiar old hotel door-knob I used to polish night and morning. 'Oh, dear old door-knob—who is my successor?'"

Previously he had washed dishes on a Russian ship, sailed under five flags, and toured Australian ports with a schooner-load of Indian fakirs. When a remark that he had been boxing champion of Queensland caused a surprise comment, he called for a coin. With a dime between his fingers, his huge muscles bulged for a moment beneath his coat and he tossed the coin on the floor, bent double.

Running British Blockade.

"When I set out to run the British blockade," he related, "I prayed for a dark night, a hurricane, and luck. You must have luck."

Luck seems still to be with him on the chance he's taking here. His crew is taking the Vaterland to meet him in San Francisco, while he lectures in German to gather funds for the return, speaking here last night at Concordia Turner Hall, tonight at the Liederkranz Club, tomorrow night at North St. Louis Turner Hall, and Sunday afternoon at Concordia Turner Hall again.

"'We have no food,' they said, and I told them they would catch many turtles in the Galapagos Islands. They did—hundreds of turtles. I told them, 'I cannot give you new rope and new sails, but I give you the luck of the sea and the hope that you find a deserted ship.' Five days out of New York they radioed that they had found an abandoned schooner and taken her cargo of lumber, her sails and

BIRGER REARRESTED ON NEW INDICTMENT

Prosecutor at Benton, Ill., Will Oppose Alleged Murderer's Release on Bond.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Ill., April 29.—A new indictment, charging Charlie Birger and several other members of his gang with the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, was returned in Franklin County Circuit Court here today, a few hours after Birger had submitted meekly to arrest at his home in Harrisburg by Sheriff James Pritchard and five deputies.

After Birger was brought to the county jail here State's Attorney Martin said he would oppose release of the gang leader on bond. Prior to his arrest today Birger was at liberty under $40,000 bond on a similar indictment, in which he was the only person named. His trial probably will be held in June. Names of the others indicted at a special grand jury session yesterday were not revealed, pending arrests. There are two counts, one for conspiracy to murder Mayor Adams and the other for the actual killing.

Armed with three machine guns, a sawed-off shotgun loaded with tear gas and pistols, Sheriff Pritchard and his deputies called at Birger's home at 6:15 a. m., before the gangster had arisen. His wife admitted the officers and when informed of their mission, Birger said: "Well, gentlemen, I guess I'll have to go with you." Three submachine guns, a Browning automatic machine gun and 12 high-powered rifles, stacked in his room, were not removed by Pritchard or his deputies.

Denies Dungey's Story.

On the way to Benton, Birger denied to Sheriff Pritchard that he compelled Harvey Dungey, a former associate with whom he is now at odds, to testify falsely against the three Shelton brothers, who recently were convicted and sentenced to 25 years in Federal prison at Leavenworth for the $15,000 Collinsville mail robbery.

In an affidavit filed yesterday in Federal Court at Springfield in support of a motion for vacation of judgment and new trial for the Sheltons, Dungy declared that Birger and Art Newman, former Birger lieutenant, threatened to kill him if he did not testify to seeing Carl and Bernie Shelton in Collinsville the morning of the robbery. Dungy did not mention Earl Shelton, the third brother, in his testimony.

Alleges $10,000 Plot.

Birger said Dungy made the affidavit after Bernie and Earl Shelton's wives had visited him at his roadhouse near West Frankfort and promised to pay him $10,000 in the event their husbands, enemies of Birger, were granted a new trial. Birger declared the money is on deposit in an East St. Louis bank.

"I don't understand why that fellow broke with me, but he's a no good bum I never could depend on," Birger told the Sheriff.

The indictment against Birger is based on evidence that he plotted the murder of Mayor Adams, who was called to the door of his home Dec. 12 last, and shot and killed by two men. Birger refused to discuss the charge after being taken to his cell.

SLAIN IN PISTOL FIGHT

Gunman's Adversary Seriously Wounded in Exchange of 14 Shots.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—One gunman is dead and another seriously wounded as the result of a pistol fight in front of St. Bernard's Church on West Fourteenth street that sent pedestrians rushing for shelter.

After 14 shots had been fired, Timothy Loonans, 32 years old, died on the sidewalk where he fell as Mgr. J. S. Smith, rector of St. Bernard's, administered the last rites of the Catholic Church. Willian O'Brien, 30, dropped near Loonans with a bullet under his right eye, but regained his feet and staggered a short distance before he collapsed. He is in Bellevue Hspital. Police said both have been engaged in bootlegging and have criminal records. The definite cause of the shooting was not learned.

Armed Man Robs Grocer of $40.

An armed man at 7 a. m. today took $40 and a $10 check from the cash register of a Kroger store at 4703 Morganford road. He forced the manager, George Meurer, to turn to the wall, and escaped.

MAXIMUM RADIO DEVIATION FIXED AT ONE-HALF KILOCYCLE

Stations Violating the Rule to Lose Their Licenses to Broadcast.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Radio broadcasting stations must stay on their assigned waves under penalty of losing their licenses to operate, the Federal Radio Commission has decided.

"The commission hereby fixes a maximum of one-half a kilocycle as the extreme deviation from the authorized frequency which will be permitted to any broadcasting station," the order confirming the decision says. "The Commerce Department is hereby requested to notify its proper agents immediately of this order and to direct them to report promptly any apparent violations thereof. A violation of this order will be deemed cause for revocation of license.

"To facilitate the execution of this order each radio station is hereby directed, effective Monday, May 9, to announce twice a day, at the beginning and end of its program, that it is broadcasting on the frequency of so many kilocycles by authority of the commission."

The announcement by each station of the frequency it is using, Commissioner Bellows explained, will help the listeners to determine whether a given broadcaster is obeying the order.

Thomas Ashbrook of Burlington Junction on Stand in Own Defense at Maryville.

MARYVILLE, Mo., April 29.—Thomas Ashbrook, 61 years old, of Burlington Junction, took the stand in the Nodaway County Circuit Court here yesterday afternoon to deny he is guilty of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of Dewey Leonard, his 29-year-old neighbor, March 2.

The case is expected to go to the jury late tomorrow.

RECEDING WATERS CREATING GRAVE HEALTH MENACE

DANGER PEAK STILL TO BE REACHED

Hot, Moist Climate of Mississippi Valley Affords Ideal Conditions for Spread of Contagion.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 29.—The flood situation in the Mississippi valley presents the gravest health and sanitation problem America has ever faced outside of war times, Dr. William B. Redden, National Medical Officer of the American Red Cross, in charge of health work in the flooded zones, said here yesterday.

"There are registered with the Red Cross more than 200,000 refugees and this surely represents less than half the actual number, since many fugitives of the flood are being taken care of in private homes and because many refugee camps have not registered their citizens," Dr. Redden said.

"The entire water supply in the flooded areas is out of commission, there is no easy way to handle waste, crowding offers all the hazards and dangers of the worst type of concentration camps and the climate itself is contributing to the danger.

Danger After Waters Recede.

"Danger to health will not reach its peak until the waters recede, for it is then that stagnation, putrefaction and germ-breeding actually reach their highest stages. The hot, moist climate of this section affords an ideal breeding place for germs and for decay and putrefaction.

"A great mass of men, women and children, their physical strength already weakened by exposure, has been crowded into refugee camps at various points. Once you get a contagious disease going means almost 100 per cent infection.

Ways to Combat Disease.

"There are two important ways of combatting typhoid fever, smallpox and other diseases which are likely to take hold if proper sanitation is not employed. The first is to vaccinate everybody; this is individual and certan; the second is to insure safe water and milk supplies through proper sanitation and the isolation of all cases of disease immediately.

"Doctors and nurses in the refugee camps are keeping an everlasting vigilance and co-operation of everyone is requested."

Vaccines and medical supplies were sent to numerous points today.

Fifty physicians have volunteered for service from Gulfport, Biloxi, Atlanta, Chicago and other points, Dr. Redden said.

Health Department Plans Programs in Southeast Missouri.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 29.—Real work by the public health service in the flood areas will start after the water recedes and the refugees return to their homes, Dr. James Stewart, state health commission, said yesterday.

Althogh yoeman service has been rendered by the health departments of the various co-operating states, and the United States Public Health Service in the stricken communities, Dr. Stewart explained the need for a two or three years health program in the flood devastated areas to bring them back to normal conditions.

Missouri's inundated region in Southeast Missouri already has been designated as "a flood area sanitary zone," and will receive special attention from the Health Department for the next several years, according to present plans.

Water Supplies Contaminated.

Water supplies, both private and public, have been contaminated by flood waters, the commissioner explained. Sewage disposal systems will need attention. Mosquito-breeding pools will be formed in the lowlands when the waters go back to their natural channels, bringing added dangers.

Dr. Stewart has made a survey of the flooded regions and reported refugee camps in excellent condition, properly safeguarded by sanitary precautions and inspection.

Typhoid immunization and vaccination for smallpox are immediate recommendations by the health commissioner. This work is now being carried on by the Missouri Health Department forces, under the direction of Dr. E. R. Coffey, Washington, D. C., a staff officer of the United States Public Health Service, assigned to Missouri.

Control Measures Employed

Control measures aimed at typhoid and malaria are being put into effect at once in Southeast Missouri, according to the commissioner. Staff members of the State Public Health Department are in the field directing the work and co-operating with the local physicians and health departments.

The Missouri forces under the direction of Dr. Coffey consist of three public health physicians—Dr. E. L. Spence, Health Officer of Dunklin County; Dr. William O'Bannon, Health Officer of New Madrid County, and Dr. W. S. Petty, Health Officer of Pemiscot County. Seven public health nurses, a sanitary engineer and three sanitary inspectors, complete the field forces.

Laboratory work for the area will be done at the department laboratories here, where complete water testing service is available. Immunization supplies, vaccines and serum also will be available from the State laboratories, it was said.

Special attention will be given children affected by the high waters. Health programs designed to protect the youngsters from disease and epidemics will be inaugurated as soon as possible, the commissioner said.

"With the nucleus of three county health departments with a full-time program to begin work, the situation will rapidly ease up and soon be under control," Dr. Stewart predicted. "Emergency work performed as soon as the floods began already has its effect in keeping down sickness and epidemics, and will be a big help when the families begin returning to their homes."

Injured by Two Robbers.

Suffering with a fractured jaw and severe lacerations of the scalp, Joseph Grieley, 52 years old, of the Swan House, Sixth and Morgan streets, was taken to City Hospital from Fourth and Market streets last night. He said he had been beaten by two men who robbed him of $9.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS TO SEEK COMPROMISE RELIEF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 29. — In the hope of obtaining farm relief legislation at the next session of Congress, farm organizations will confer here in October, it was announced today by Chester H. Gray of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Fred Brenckman of the National Grange, with a view to finding a compromise on the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill.

"The farmer wants relief and is not concerned so much how he gets it," Brenckman decleared, while Gray added:

"There is a feeling of compromise, but just what it will crystalize into must await developments."

Neither would forecast whether the farmers would be willing to give up the controversial equalization fee proposal of the McNary-Haugen measure which was vetoed by President Coolidge.

At the legislative conference in October representatives of the National Grange, the Farmers' Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation will seek a unified legislative program to place before the conventions of the three organizations.

Purse With $69 Stolen in Store.

A young woman tried on dresses in Mrs. Elizabeth Carrlol's Elite Style Shop, 6921 Gravois avenue, yesterday afternoon, and departed without buying anything. Later Mrs. Carroll missed a purse containing $69, which had been in a pocketbook on a table in her dressing room.

VETOES SUNDAY MOVIE BILL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 29.—Declaring that Memphis was not excepted from the commandment to keep the Sabbath day holy, Gov. Austin Peay, maintained his record for fundamentalism by vetoing the Memphis sunday movie bill. The bill was to permit Memphis to be excepted from the State law which forbids moving pictures shows on Sunday.

A bill providing $1,000,000 for rural schools was passed by both houses. The Legislature is expected to close by Monday for lack of a quorum. It is probable that an extra session will be called either in May or July.

10 Apartments Raided for Liquor.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Federal prohibition agents raided ten apartment buildings near the University of Chicago and seized a large quantity of liquor. Several persons were arrested. The raids were made after two young prohibition agents had spent some time posing as college students and had made purchases of liquor after following students to some of the places raided.

4746 FARMS IN SINGLE COUNTY

Area Settled Through Horace Greeley Leads in Sugar Beets.

DENVER, Colo.—Weld County, Colo., comprising that section of the State colonized through the efforts of Horace Greeley, reveals that the publicist knew much about lands. This county, with a total of 1,099,706 acres, is the second largest in the State and ranks fourth in the United States as an agricultural area. It also ranks as the first county in the entire country in the production of sugar beets.

There are 4746 farms in the county, with an average area of 231.71 acres. It is the center of the largest irrigated area in the world.

TURKISH PRINCESS FORMER SIDI WIRT, TO RETURN TO U. S.

Onetime Cabaret Entertainer and Widow of Jacob Spreckles, to Collect Daughter's Inheritance.

ROMANTIC CAREER FROM GIRLHOOD

As Student of Kansas U. She Met Wealthy Brazilian, Whom She Jilted for Boyhood Sweetheart.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GARDEN CITY, Kan.—The Kansas Girl who married her way to the Bosporus is coming back to collect her child's inheritance. She is Princess Suad Bey, best known to Kansas and the United States as Sidi Wirt, former student and cabaret entertainer. Three times she has been led to the altar and her life has been a series of high lights and incidents such as seldom come to a "small town girl."

Sidi Wirt, 17 years old and a student at the University of Kansas, was friendly with Hugo Leal, a brazilian noble and millionaire. She had met him a year before when she was a student at Valparaiso University in Indiana. Leal frequently visited her. Her father, a real estate dealer here, and mother looked on Leal with favor. It was expected that Leal and Sidi would marry the following spring. But Sidi renewed her friendship with Harry C. Williams.

Williams was a newspaper man in Hutchinson and a childhood sweetheart. He pleaded his case. Sidi was torn between two loves. It is said that she flipped a coin to decide which—Williams for love, or Leal for prestige and riches. Williams won. A motor car hurried them away from the astounded Leal and the disappointed parents. As the miles whisked them, Sidi and Williams were married. It was an appropriate beginning for a rather hectic career.

Becomes Mrs. Spreckles.

In a few weeks they separated, later obtaining a divorce. Sidi went west. She sang and danced in cafes and, doing a cabaret act, she acknowledged the smiles of John D. Spreckles Jr., in San Francisco. Young Jack Spreckles had inherited a fortune acquired in sugar, railroads and other enterprises by his father. At that time his wife, a niece of Collis P. Huntington, rail magnate, was seeking a divorce. The decree was granted in 1915 and Sidi and Jack Spreckles were married.

Mrs. Spreckles went to New York, then to Europe, four years later. There were rumors of a divorce, but the Spreckles denied them.

A not altogether favorable circumstance overtook Mrs. Spreckles. She bought a pearl necklace costing $50,000 from Tiffany's in London, giving as reference the name of her husband. Then, she said, she gave the necklace to Capt. William Barrett of Philadelphia to insure it, and he had made away with it. Barrett was arrested in Los Angeles. He said Mrs. Spreckles had given him the pearls to pawn. He was released for lack of evidence.

Meets Turkish Prince.

A little while after this affair a "Mrs. Smith" established residence at Reno, Nev. She was going to get a divorce. "Mrs. Smith" was Mrs. Spreckles. Spreckles was killed in a motor car accident while the suit for divorce was pending. A daughter had been born in 1916. The senior Spreckles settled with Sidi, making an allowance for the daughter. Then the Kansas girl, now Mrs. Sidi Wirt-Williams-Spreckles, a widow, went back to Paris.

She met a Prince Suad there. He had a summer home near Constantinople, on the island of Prinkipo. They went there after they were married. Exciting adventures still revolved around Sidi. In two years all Turkey was talking about her. It came about when the former wife of King Suad, Princess Chevikiar of Egypt, charged that Sidi had stolen her husband, Selim Bey. That would be grounds for divorce. Princess Chevikiar declared that Sidi had been sailing with Selim Bey on the moon-lighted waters of the Bosphorus.

Returning to Her Home.

The affair deepened when Sidi, or Princess Suad, filed a counter charge, alleging assault. The Egyptian, she said, had attacked her on the docks, inciting Turkish soldiers. She said she wasn't alone with Selim Bey. She had merely taken him and other men out to her husband's yacht.

It was all very interesting and was not settled until last fall. Princess Suad was vindicated. Princess Chevikiar was fined for the affair at the docks.

Now Sidi is returning to her homeland. John D. Spreckles Sr., died a year ago. A good share of his fortune went to his son's children—three by his first wife, the fourth by Sidi. Sidi arrived the other day at Nice, France, accompanied by her daughter and Turkish Prince, en route to the United States.

DOCTOR AND AUTO DISAPPEAR

Motor Car Company Gets $715 in Worthless Checks Back.

Charles Parks of the South Side Buick Motor Co., 3654 South Grand boulevard, has asked police to help recover a coupe recently "purchased" by a doctor with checks aggregating $715, which proved worthless. The doctor drove away with the car and has not been heard from since.

The man said he lived at a hotel in the West End, but when representatives of the automobile concern sought him there, they learned he had checked out. The checks were drawn on a bank at Fayetteville, Ark., and were returned by the bank marked as "signer not known" there. The doctor had signed his own name.

RIVER NAVIGATION IN FIVE YEARS FORECAST

Missouri Will Become Trade Lane, Says Marshall C. of C. Speaker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARSHALL, Mo.—Improvement of the Missouri River for navigation was the subject considered at a recent luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce.

Harry Hodgeman, Federal engineer with headquarters in Marshall, and R. L. Hains of Slater, member of the Executive Committee of the Missouri River Navigation Corporation spoke.

Hodgeman described work being done on the river. He said the stream carries annually enough sand into the Mississippi River to build a square mile 400 feet in height. The river, he said, is carrying its bends downstream at the rate of 100 feet a year or about one mile in each 50 years.

Hains reviewed the history of his organization, which now operates in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma, North Dakota and South Dakota.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that within five years steamers will be plying up and down the river just as in the old days, only more steamers. Navigation merely awaits the six-foot channel, and the engineers are working toward that rapidly. The old Kansas City Missouri Navigation Co. has $875,000 in cash ready to put into boats as soon as traffic on the stream can be started.

"If anyone tells you that improvement of the Missouri to the point of making navigation practical is impossible I am here to tell you that such a person is mistaken. It can be done and if Congress will only keep its appropriation up the improvement will become an accomplished fact and navigation a reality."

WOMAN, 64, SEEKS $43,000 FROM ESTATE OF NEBRASKAN

Alleges She Abandoned Plan to Wed on Promise She Would Be Provided For For Services in Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TEKAMAH, Neb.—Because she gave up marriage to a man in California to care for P. B. Gordon, Mrs. Chloe Canfield of Decatur, Neb., is suing his estate for $43,000. Gordon, an Englishman, employed in the Indian service at Santee, Neb., in the early days, died six months ago at the age of 80, worth $150,000. By the terms of his will, Mrs. Canfield received $5000 and a half interest in a farm. She is 64 years old, the widow of E. D. Canfield. A daughter of Canfield by a previous marriage was the wife of Gordon.

The Rev. Arthur E. Marsh, formerly well-known Episcopal rector in Northeast Nebraska, has been called from his home in England to testify in the suit.

Mrs. Canfield alleges an agreement was made on the part of Gordon to take care of her and make ample provision for her if she would forego her plans to wed a man in California. The agreement was entered into at the death of her husband, in 1901, she says.

TRAIN DISPATCHER QUITS JOB FOR 'SILENT' PREACHING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark.—Fred T. Horton has been retired as a train dispatcher on the Santa Fe Railway and will give much time to religious work. This work is unique. "Silent sermons" are the basis. For some time he refused offers of promotion in order that he could complete his self-imposed task of completing his "Sermon on the mount"—an inscription of rock "Christ Died for the Ungodly" which extends 475 feet on a hillside north of here and along the Santa Fe tracks.

Day after day Horton's silent sermon on the hillside has been preached to thousands of train passengers, motorists and pedestrians. He has never preached from the pulpit and is non-sectarian.

GAME WARDENS TO RESCUE FISH STRANDED BY FLOOD

Those Caught in Closed Pools by Receding Waters Will Be Removed to Streams.

JEFFERSON CITY. — Rescuing fish in Missouri from pockets of water formed as a result of the recent floods is the present business of the State Game and Fish Department. Game wardens throughout the State are now making a thorough survey of flood conditions and planning rescue operations.

The rescue work, which has been carried on for the last two years saved thousands of fish that otherwise would have perished. A great number of seines and nets confiscated by the department will be used in the work. As the fish are rescued they are placed back in streams and lakes.

SUES HIS SON'S EMPLOYERS

Against his father's wishes, Abe Schenberg, 16 years old, began clerking for the Lynn Meat Co., 800 North Sixth street, last Sept. 1. His father, Max Schenberg, proprietor of a meat market at 1907 Franklin avenue, demanded of the Lynn Co. that it discharge the boy. This was not done.

Yesterday Max Schenberg sued the Lynn Co. and its proprietor, Thomas L. Remley, for $8200 damages, alleging employment of the boy against his father's wishes was unlawful, caused the boy to live away from home and deprived the father of his services and companionship.

MAN, 61, SAVES TWO CHILDREN

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY.—Charles Ziegler, 61 years old, recently saved two children from drowning in a flooded creek here.

Ziegler heard children screaming and ran to the creek. There he saw Geneva, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Phillips, struggling in the water about a dozen feet from the bank, while Sylvester, her 10-year-old brother, scarcely able to swim, was attempting to save her.

Ziegler swam to the girl, who was sinking, and took her to the bank, then plunged in again just in time to save Sylvester.

SEVEN MEN ROB 50 PERSONS

Holdup Men Half Hour in Searching Patrons of Chicago Cabaret.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Seven men, six wearing large blue glasses and all armed, held up 50 persons in the Wacker Cafe, a recently established cabaret on the lower level of Wacker drive, and escaped with loot of undetermined value after one of the robbers had been shot accidentally by a companion. The robbers were in the cafe half an hour in their systematic search for valuables and the loot in cash and jewelry was placed at several thousand dollars.

One of the robbers was wounded when a companion's shot at a cafe patron missed its mark. The wounded robber was dragged from the place by his companions, who sped away in an automobile.

AMERICAN TO WED BROTHER OF SISTER'S FRENCH HUSBAND

Miss Jacqueline Harper Will Become Bride of Count Andre de Saint Phalle.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 29.—American training of a Frenchman's sons has brought about a two-fold international alliance.

The wedding in June of Miss Jacqueline Harper, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harper of New York and Paris, and Count Andre de Saint Phalle will be the second alliance between the two families. Helene, an elder sister of the bride, and Alexander, brother of the bridegroom, recently were married.

The wedding will take place at the Harpers' country home, Chateau de Fillevral, near Chantilly. Miss Harper is 18 years old and the Count is 20.

Count Pierre de Saint Phalle, head of the family, years ago decided to send his sons to the United States for training. As each of the seven boys became 16 years old he was sent to America.

The two oldest sons remained there and became American citizens. Francis is vice president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and Fal, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, formerly was with J. P. Morgan & Co. The other sons formed the Saint Phalle bank here, with branches in London and Brussels.

Count Andre and his bride will go to the United States. The Count intends to become an American citizen and to enter his brother's stock brokerage firm.

NEW INDEX AT VATICAN WILL AID HISTORIANS

Archives Will Replace Huge Volumes Compiled Through Many Centuries.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 28.—Priceless documentary material, which may necessitate rewriting much of mediaeval history, soon will be placed at the disposal of students through the institution in the Vatican archives of a modern indexing system.

The present index of 658 huge volumes, which was compiled over a period of many centuries, is so obscure and complicated that historical experts think it has hidden, rather than divulged, many of the Papacy's archivistic treasures. To replace it, Monsignor Angelo Mercati, prefect of Apostolic archives, has begun compiling a complete analytical inventory, with a cross-index system along the lines of that used by the American Library Congress.

So vast is the Vatican collection that for the time beeing work is confined to four sections—namely, Vatican registers, registers of Lateran archives of the period when Popes occupied Lateran instead of Vatican palace, records of the Papal court and a record of consistories. Of these the first three virtually have been shut to historians because of the archaic system of indexing.

The Vatican register, which is in 2,040 gigantic volumes, contains records of the Papal reigns of John VII in the ninth century and Gregory VII in the eleventh century and uninterruptedly thereafter from 1198 to 1572.

The Lateran register, in 2460 volumes, contains among other things all Papal bulls from 1389 to 1897, court records in 1111 volumes dating from 1276 until 1700, consistorial records which date from the fifteenth century to the Napoleonic period, and one expected to throw new light on the lives and activities of hundreds of cardinals who contributed to make European history.

Simultaneously with the creation of the new index archives of the Vatican are expected to try to complete the work started by Cardinal Garampi to make a complete directory of the Christian world entitled 'Orbis Christianus,' wherein will be recorded all dioceses, monasteries, churches, hospitals, ecclesiastical and lay personages.

GRANDSON OF BISMARCK TO BECOME GERMAN DIPLOMAT

Prince Otto von Bismarck Likely to Be Assigned to the American Division.

By the Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSRUH, Germany, April 28.—Prince Otto von Bismarck, grandson of the "iron chancellor," on May 1 will resign his seat as German nationalist member of the Reichstag and enter the diplomatic service.

While Foreign Minister Stresemann has not yet indicated to what task he will put the 29-year-old embryonic diplomat, it is generally assumed he will assign him to the American division.

"I certainly shouldn't mind later being given a post in the United States," the young prince said. "I am very fond of America, and my journey across it in 1926 was an unmitigated joy. It was always my desire to enter the foreign office service, but party expediency seemed to demand that I first stand for parliament."

Prince Bismarck manages the paternal state of the Bismarcks at Friedrichsruh, near Hamburg. The estate was presented to the Iron Chancellor in 1871 by Emperor William I. The grandson usually motors to his estate from Berlin during week-ends when the Reichstag is in session.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS WON'T GIVE UP CHINESE MISSIONS

Benevolent and Educational Work Will Play Big Parts in Louisville Convention.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.—The foreign missions board of the Southern Baptist convention, which will meet here May 4, may bring home missionaries now in China whose furloughs are due within the next year, but there is no thought of discontinuing work in China, Dr. T. B. Ray, associate secretary of the board, announces.

Missions will be a major topic in this year's session, it is thought, but Dr. Ray advises that the convention will leave to the board matters relating to representatives of the church now in China. Should missionaries whose furloughs are due within the next 12 months be returned, such action, he says, would be taken in order to economize time.

The report of the Co-operative Program Commission, the convention's agency for promotion of all missionary, education and benevolent enterprises, will be the most important single item before the body.

Since Dr. George W. McDaniel, Richmond, Va., president of the convention, has announced his intention of retiring, numerous names are expected to be submitted for the office. The Women's Missionary Union, headed by Mrs. W. J. Cox of Memphis, will meet in Louisville at the same time.

Banker Reported Missing, Safe.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Baron J. G. von Koenigswarter, European banker, who was reported missing, has notified friends he is safe on a ranch near Colimas, Mexico. Reports that bandits had raided his property prompted a hurried trip into Mexico.

NATIONAL BROADCASTING CO. ADVOCATES FREEDOM OF AIR

NEW YORK, April 29.—The policy of the National Broadcasting Co. to maintain a free forum of the air, was announced last night by its president, Merlin Hall Aylesworth, in an address at a radio symposium before the American Civic Liberties Union. This company's hookups cover the United States.

"The real danger to the freedom of broadcasting," said Aylesworth, "lies at one extreme, in the demand for unlimited license of speech by radio, and at the other extreme, in the proposals for municipal, state or Federal censorship of programs.

"No freer means of communication has ever been at the service of the American people than radio broadcasting. Protestant and Catholic, Jew and Gentile, alike, have had their day on the air. Every recognized political belief has been expounded to the radio audience and all sides of the larger question of the day have been treated by speakers from radio stations.

"Freedom of the air can never mean unlimited license of speech, or the right to bore, insult or outrage the radio listening public of the United States."

GROCERIES Home Economics FOOD

AN OBJECT LESSON

Soemtimes children will ask if they cannot let one food take the place of another in their diet. For example, a little boy asked if he could not eat more bread and not drink milk.

In that particular case, the problem has handled by showing the boy three rats, one who had been fed on milk, one on bread alone and one on milk and bread. Nothing was said except to ask the boy what he thought. He responded, "I guess you have to have milk."

This is merely one story out of the experience of health workers at the University of Chicago, but it is worth while thinking over.

TRY STUFFING POTATOES

Now Is the Time to Serve Baked Potatoes.

One of the most popular dishes of the day is the stuffed potato. The large potato is particularly mealy now and the modern way of stuffing baked potatoes makes a regular meal of one large-sized potato.

Here are recipes for stuffing baked potatoes:

Baked Potatoes.

Select even sized potatoes and scrub clean. Bake in a moderate oven one hour, or until soft. Remove from oven, gash with a knife at once in shape of a cross and squeeze potato at bottom to make it puff out. Place a piece of butter in opening; sprinkle with paprika and serve at once.

Cheese Potatoes.

Take six large potatoes, one-half cup hot milk, two tablespoons onion, two tablespoon green peppers, two tablespoons parsley, one cup cheese and one-half teaspoon salt.

Scrub potatoes clean; dry thoroughly. Bake in moderately hot oven one hour. Remove from oven; cut in halves lengthwise. Scoop out center; mash, add milk and salt, whip until light and fluffy. Add vegetables, which have been cooked for five minutes in three tablespoons cold water. Refill shells; sprinkle tops with grated American cheese; return to moderate oven until browned.

Why Do Women Choose SILVERTOWNS?
Do women buy tires? They certainly do. And they show a remarkable preference for Silvertowns—sold by our store. First they buy Silvertowns here because women are always keen judges of value. They know how to weigh quality and price, and get the most for their money.
But with tires, one more thing is vital.
Women must have dependability—and that means freedom from tire troubles.
Courteous treatment at the time of the sale—courteous service afterwards—all combine to make our store headquarters for women drivers.

SUMMER CAMP DIETARY

Milk, Fruits and Vegetables Make Healthful Boys and Girls.

If you are trying to decide as to whether or not to send your children to a summer camp you will, of course, be very careful in selecting the camp. Once selected, you will then wish to satisfy yourself as to the kind of food that the youngsters will receive. One suggestion is this: Do not criticise the proposed dietary of the camp if it seems to you to be simple. If the children have plenty of milk with fruits and vegetables, you need not worry about their being well fed.

All camps except those planned for the luxury loving ones specialize in their simple diet and this is one of their health advantages. On the other hand, a word of caution may be in order in reference to the camp location. For eaxmple, if it is situated far from a fruit orchard or vegetable garden or dairy farm, then indeed you must begin to ask questions. You must find out just how and from where those important foods—milk, fruits and vegetables are taken.

MOTHERS' DAY

The Gift that will please Mother best is the Artstyle Jewel Box

"A Lasting Gift for a Lasting Love"

GLADDEN your Mother's heart with the thought that you have remembered her on her day—Sunday, May 8. Give her a gift that she can recall with pleasure throughout the year. She will indeed be delighted with the Artstyle Mothers' Day Package, our new and exclusive creation. Reserve one or more packages now, and avoid disappointment later, as our supply is limited.

We are acknowledged pioneers in the building of the most beautiful and unique Mothers' Day Candy Packages, but we believe that this year we have surpassed all our previous efforts.

The box is of metal, offered in one and two pound sizes, and is ideal for mailing. It is reproduced in ten beautiful colorings. The quality of the Candy is Artstyle—the finest that can be made—and the assortment is especially selected to meet with Mother's approval.

You may select your two or one pound box and we will deliver it to the correct address at the proper time.

The price is $1.50 Per Pound

USE STRAWBERRIES IN DIFFERENT WAYS

Pie, Cake and Other Desserts May Be Made With This Berry.

The strawberry season calls for the exchange of recipes for strawberry dishes and here are several new recipes which should find ready favor with the housewife looking for something different.

"the satisfying spread"

Bluhill CHEESE

FOOD Home Economics GROCERIES

Strawberry Cream Pie.

Half cup shortening, one and one-half cups pastry flour, half teaspoon salt, one quart strawberries, three-fourths cup powdered sugar, one and a half cups thick cream, cold water.

Method—Sift the flou and salt together, vut the shortening in with two knives until the shortening and flour are like coarse meal. Add only enough cold water (ice water preferred) to hold the mass together. Roll out and cover pie pan, prick with fork to prevent bubbles from forming during the baking, bake in hot over for about 15 minutes. When the crust is cold [illegible] in with whole strawberries sprinkled with powdered sugar. Spread over all sweetened whipped cream and chill until ready to serve. A thick custard may be used in place of the whipped cream with a meringue which is browned in the oven.

Crystallized Strawberries.

Select large firm strawberries, wash and remove hulls. Drain berries on soft paper. Beat the white of one egg until foamy and add two tablespoons water.

Dip the berries one at a time in the egg and water mixture. Then roll fruit in powdered sugar. Lay them on waxed paper, allow to stand until dry, then put in ice box until ready to serve.

Strawberry Sandwich.

Spread one slice of bread with mayonnaise dressing and add thin slices of strawberries sprinkled with sugar. Cover with another slice of bread and cut in finger-shaped strips. Garnish with whole strawberries with two mint leaves fastened at hull end.

Retain Meat Juice.

To keep meats juicy remove them from their papers and place on a china or glass container on ice.

INDIVIDUAL TARTS NICE FOR LUNCHEON

Though Nothing but Little Pies, Tarts Are Very Fashionable.

For dessert for a simple luncheon there are few sweets more appropriate than tarts. Tarts, you must bear in mind, are little individual pies. So almost any pie filling will make tarts. Here are some suggestions for tarts.

Delicious tarts may be made with jams and jellies. A rich pastry should be used and the pastry baked before putting in the spoonful of jam. That attractive glazed effect is secured by brushing the top edges of the tart with the beaten yolk of egg diluted with one teaspoon of water. Put the finished tart with jelly or jam filler in the oven for a few minutes, then serve with a dash of whipped cream.

English Currant Tarts.

This is a nice afternoon tea dainty.

Take two eggs, one teaspoon butter, three-fourths cup sugar and one cup of currants. Make a filling of these ingredients as follows:

Beat eggs till light. Cream butter with sugar and add to eggs folding in currants last. Turn into individual patty shells, lined with pie crust. Bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes.

Banbury Tarts.

For the filling take one cup seedless raisins, one cup sugar, one egg, one cracker, and juice and grated rind of one lemon.

Chop raisins, add sugar, slightly-beaten egg, finely rolled cracker and lemon juice and grated rind; mix well.

Cut pastry in pieces 2½ inches long by 3 inches wide. Put two teaspoons mixture on each piece. Moisten edge with cold water halfway round, fold over and press edges together. Put on cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes.

BLANTON

Creamo MARGARIN

The Difference is in the Flavor

Try Creamo Margarin . . . a wonderfully pure, wholesome spread for bread. The difference is in the flavor and smooth texture of Creamo. Children like it on bread or toast. And so do the rest of the family. Buy a pound from your grocer, today, with the assurance that you will be more than pleased, or the grocer will refund the purchase price.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

New Recipes for Old Favorites Are a Boon to Housewives.

For cheese cake take one cup butter, one cup powdered sugar, two cups pot cheese, one-quarter cup cooking sherry, one-quarter tablespoon ground cinnamon, one tablespoon grated lemon peel, one-quarter tablespoon grated nutmeg, six eggs.

Cream the sugar, and butter and combine with the cheese and seasoning. Mix until it is in the form of a smooth paste. Have ready the eggs which have been lightly beaten and combine with the first mixture. Stir and pour into a pie dish which has been lined with rich paste. Bake in a hot oven for one-half hour.

White Corn Bread.

Two cups white cornmeal, one cup sour milk, two eggs, one tablespoon baking powder, one-half tablespoon bicarbonate of soda, one-half tablespoon salt.

Mix the meal with the baking powder and soda. Stir in the milk. Have ready the eggs which have been well breaten and add to the first mixture. Oil the muffin pans, pour in the mixture to within an inch of the top. Bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Watercress Sandwiches.

Four hard-boiled eggs, one bunch watercress.

Mash the eggs and combine with three tablespoons of mayonnaise Mix to a smooth paste. Have the watercress chopped and combine with the egg paste. Spread rather thickly between slices of buttered bread.

Fried Cucumbers.

Peel six small cucumbers and cut them in slices lengthwise. Dry each slice and dust with salt and pepper. Dip in flour and fry in butter until a golden brown.

Stuffed Peppers.

Six green peppers, two tablespoons butter, one cup boiled rice, one onion, one-half cup cooked tomatoes, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half cup grated cheese.

Remove the tops and all seeds and pulp from the peppers. Place them in a pan containing cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Boil for a few minutes longer and take from the water and set away to cool. Brown the sliced onion in the butter and combine with the seasonings, rice and tomatoes. Cook slowly for three or four minutes. Have the cheese ready and add to the mixture just before taking from the fire.. Fill the mixture into the peppers. Sprinkle each with grated cheese and bake in moderate oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

SPINACH MOUNDS

Are Attractive When Combined With Mashed Potatoes.

Directions have already been given for combining spinach with mashed potato, but the idea is valuable enough to merit further amplification. By way of variation of the little potato mounds, why not use creamed or buttered greens of any variety. The greens should be chopped fine and stirred into a rather thick cream sauce.

The potato mounds are made by forming little "steeples" of mashed potatoes. The top is carefully removed; the center filled in with the creamed greens and the top replaced. The potato mounds should be rough, and this will make the browning processes at once easier and more attractive.

Another variation is to place the little mounds on a serving platter and then to arrange a border of the creamed greens. If, however, the chief purpose is to hide the greens from children who may not like them, then the green border should be omitted.

The special point to note is the fact that many children who do not like spinach and other greens very well may be inveigled into eating them if they are hidden in attractively browned potato cases

EVERYONE MAY EAT FREELY OF BANANAS

These Delicious Dishes Are Within Reach of All.

Bananas are being utilized very generally in combination with other articles of food. Here are recipes for some of these combination dishes:

Bananas and Raisins.

Remove the skin and slice ripe bananas. Put a layer in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle a little lemon juice over the top and add a layer of seedless or seeded raisins, add another layer of sliced bananas and raisins. Make a thin syrup of one-third cup sugar and one-half cup of water, pour over the fruit, cover and make until the bananas are soft.

Bananas and Cranberries.

Remove the skin from the bananas and leave them whole. Place in a baking dish and put a bit of butter on each, bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes, basting often with a little cranberry syrup. Serve with additional syrup as a sauce.

Green Pepper Salad.

Remove the skin and slice three bananas. Plunge a large, sweet, green peepr in boiling water, let stand two minutes, rub off the skin, cut in thin shreds, and let chill. To four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Mix and pour over the banana and pepper. Serve on lettuce hearts with meat dishes.

Raisin Croustades.

Cut stale sponge cake in two-inch cubes; cut out the centers to make hollow receptacles. Dip the cubes on the outside in melted butter or margarine and set in the oven to brown delicately, turning as needed. For four cases, cook one-third cupful of seedless raisins in boiling water until tender. Remove the skin of three or four bananas; cut the pulp in cubes. When the raisins are tender, add half a cup of sugar and the banana cubes. Cover and let cook until hot throughout, shaking the dish occasionally. Use the bananas and raisins to fill the cases, and pour the syrup over the whole. Serve hot.

Banana Apples.

Take one and one-half ripe bananas, six large apples, six marshmallows, one cup of corn syrup and one tablespoon butter.

Wipe, pare, and core the apples. Place in a pan and add the syrup and butter. Simmer slowly, turning the apples frequently until they are tender yet hold their shape. Remove to a casserole and insert one-quarter of a banana in each apple. Pour the syrup around them and bake at 400 degrees F. until the marshmallows are puffy and brown. Serve at once.

Recommended by doctors for your protection

Now there is no need for you to use coarse fibrous toilet paper to which doctors attribute many rectal troubles. For, Northern Tissue is snow-white in color, down-like in softness—and it is sterilized 20 times in the making. Thus it is gently soothing and sanitary. The price is no more than you pay for ordinary toilet paper—why then, take chances? Order Northern Tissue from your grocer or druggist—today.

Doctors Advise the exclusive use of this sterilized Bathroom Paper (especially where there are children) because its extra hygienic protection safeguards your health.

SEVERAL EPICUREAN COMPANY DISHES

Especially Appealing to Persons Who Cater to Their Appetites.

The coming few weeks are devoted very generally to home entertaining at luncheons and bridge parties. Most housekeepers have their homes in condition following the spring cleaning. The paper hangers have come and gone and the curtains and draperies have been refreshed and rehung so it comes quite natural that the season for home entertaining is ushered in.

Home entertaining naturally suggests menus and cooking for the first question the prospective hostess is called upon to answer is what will I serve for luncheon?

This season of the year, chicken is a natural selection. Prospective hostesses will find any one of the appended recipes for combination chicken dishes suitable for a company luncheon. Included in the list are several recipes for delicious sweetbread dishes.

Chicken Croquettes With Tomatoes.

Cook one slice of onion, two slices of carrot in one-third cup of butter until yellow but not brown. Remove vegetables, add one-half cup sifted flour and blend well. Add one cup strained chicken stock, one-half teaspoon paprika, one-half teaspoon salt and one-third cup cream and stir mixture constantly until smooth and creamy. Add one well-beaten egg diluted with a little of the sauce. Stir constantly to prevent lumping. Add one and one-half cups diced cold chicken or veal. Shape in balls. Egg and crumb as usual. Fry in deep hot fat. Drain on unglazed paper. Have ready thick slices of fresh tomatoes, butter over with butter and broil. Place one croquette on each slice of tomato. Pour well-seasoned cream sauce around them and serve immediately.

Savory Creamed Chicken.

Carefully dress two fat hens and cook in boiling water with two onions, two or three stalks of celery and one or two allspice berries. Season with salt and pepper when the fowl is boiled tender. Take chicken off fire and allow to cool. When cold cut chicken into small cubes, add two hard cooked eggs sliced, one can small French peas, one can shredded mushrooms, and one can thinly sliced pimento. Melt one-fourth cup butter, add one-fourth cup siftd flour and blend well. Add two cups thin cream and stir constantly until smooth and creamy. Add one teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Combine this mixture with diced meat and vegetables. If too thick, add a little chicken stock, strained. Add a few drops of lemon juice before serving.

Sweetbreads in Paper.

Split some blanched, cold and pressed sweetbreads in two through their thickness; saute them in butter, seasoning with salt and pepper. Chop up one small onion and one shallot, lay them in a saucepan with melted fat pork to fry colorless, adding six ounces of chopped fresh mushrooms; reduce the moisture of these, season and add six ounces of cooked ham cut in small one-eighth inch dice; heat the whole well, then add chopped parsley. Cut heart-shaped pieces from a sheet of paper, nine inches long by five wide; oil and lay them on the table. Cover one side with thin slices of fat pork or cooked ham, lay a little of the preparation on top, then a piece of sweetbread, and finish with another layer of the preparation on top. Fold the paper three-quarters around and pour a little Madeira sauce through the opening and finish folding so as to inclose all hermetically. Arrange these "papillotes" in the serving dish, place it in the oven, basting over carefully with a little sweet oil. They should be browned but not blackened, and swollen to double their original size.

Broiled Sweetbreads.

Cut in thick slices a sweetbread that you have parboiled first, take some slices of bacon cut two inches long and some fresh mushrooms cut in slices. Take a brochette (or skewer). Start with one slice of fresh mushroom, bacon, sweetbread, then slice of mushroom, continuing until the brochette is filled. Finish with one other head of mushroom. Roll your brochette in melted butter and bread crumbs and broil slowly for 15 minutes. Serve on toast with maitre d'hotel butter.

Sweetbread Croquettes.

Chop fine a cold, cooked sweetbread and mix with it half its volume of chopped tongue and again of cold, cooked mushrooms; add Bechamel sauce, season; add bread crumbs to consistency to form croquettes. Divide it into parts the size of a little egg, roll in good table bread crumbs on the board or a napkin, and with the hand form into croquettes the size of a pear. Roll again in bread crumbs, fry a light brown in boiling lard or oil, and put in each stem end a bouquet of parsley to imitate the stem end of the fruit.

To Boil a Pudding.

Save work.. on wash day

Wash day tasks are made easy when you put Clorox, the modern labor saver, to work for you. By using Clorox, white cotton and linen clothes are made spotlessly white without boiling. PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Surprise the Family by Serving Different Types of Balanced Meals.

Now that the days are getting into later spring, there has been a definite effort to keep the meals of a character known as "light." Several times during the week spring cereals are introduced instead of the hot cooked mush and some days cereal is omitted altogether. Vegetables are, if possible, even more conspicuous than during previous weeks and desserts are essentially spring-like. The orange jelly served on Sunday, however, for example, while light and digestible plays an important part in a spring meal in that it helps to spare protein or body building food. The other desserts such as chocolate cornstarch, stewed canned fruit with cookies, lemon custards and fruit salad in orange baskets are planned deliberately with the idea of the warmer days and their demands on one's energy.

Notice the grapefruit meringue pie served at Thursday's dinner. This is an unusual adaptation of fruit and meringue pie which is always proper. Make precisely the same way as lemon meringue using the grapefruit instead of the lemon.

With the idea of stimulating the spring appetite savory dishes have been introduced to several breakfasts. Liver and bacon, Yarmouth bloaters, kidney omelets and broiled fresh tomatoes with bacon are all, it is true, high in food value for this type of breakfast. On the other hand, the fact that later meals in the day are, generally speaking, of a lighter character, makes this permissible from a standpoint both of expense and food value.

Because of the high food value of most of the fruit dishes served throughout the week, sherbet is offered at Friday's dinner rather than ice cream. This is a good point for the housewife to remember. When the meal has been unusually hearty, serve a fruit sherbet. When lighter dishes have made up the other course, then a rich cream or mousse is more in order.

The chief concession to the season is strawberry shortcake served at Saturday night's dinner.

COLOR IN FOODS

Green and Yellow Vegetables Contain Important Vitamins.

To state the answer simply, color, in some instances, does indicate a greater or less degree of value. There is danger in making this statement, however, in that it may be misunderstood. In the case of the brown and white eggs, this is just a notion and that is all.

In the matter of vegetables, however, it is quite different. Careful work in the food laboratory over a number of years leads us to the conclusion that green and yellow vegetables have more of the important vitamins than those that are white. For instance, the heart of a head of lettuce is considered the choicest part. We should remember, however, that the green leaves contain more vitamins and this is true of beans and other vegetables.

While on the subject of lettuce, I cannot let the opportunity go by for calling attention to the value of this food. As you know, it is not considered good form to eat the lettuce from one's salad. If women will band together to change this foolish notion, they will be doing much for good health.

POINTS FOR REDUCING

Watch Your Weight and Keep Well and Strong.

There are several factors which count when a person decides to reduce:

1. The amount of food eaten daily—to lose weight this should be reduced.
2. Laxative foods should be chosen.
3. Food low in calories should be selected.
4. There must be a strong will to reduce.
5. The plan decided upon must be strictly adhered to.
6. Plenty of water should be taken.

Banana Snow.

Slice three bananas, add one-half cup of powdered sugar and two tablespoons lemon juice. Set in cold place one hour. Mash and beat until light. Add one cup of cream whipped, stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and one cup of cocoanut. Pour into individual moulds, sprinkle with cocoanut and place in cool room or ice box until ready to serve.

DIVORCES SOLDIER WHO HAD ANOTHER WIFE IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Eva Hedges Discovered Name of First Mate on Insurance Policy.

Discovery of the name of another Mrs. Hedges on her husband's army insurance policy about six months after their marriage, March 3, 1926, resulted in a decree of divorce granted by Circuit Judge Rutledge yesterday to Mrs. Eva Hedges, 20 years old, of 2800 North Broadway, from Private James F. Hedges of the Sixth Infantry, U. S. A., 45, stationed at Jefferson Barracks.

Mrs. Hedges testified that after corresponding with the woman whose name was on the policy, her husband admitted to her that the other woman, who lives in Chicago, also was his wife. He told her that he believed he was divorced by another wife in Portland, Ore. To partly atone for what he had done, Hedges made out the $1500 insurance policy to their 4-months'-old child, Mathew Sherman Hedges.

Judge Rutledge awarded Mrs. Hedges the custody of the child and awarded her an allowance of $15 a month for his support.

THINKS REPUTED WEALTHY MAN HAS BEEN KIDNAPED

Chicago Woman Reports Incident Involving F. M. Scott, 78, Said to Reside in St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—An empty pocketbook received in the mails today stirred the police to search for Frank Marion Scott, 78 years old, reputed wealthy St. Louis man whom Mrs. Winifred Harris, barber shop proprietress, fears has been kidnaped. She said a man who was in her shop last Friday heard Scott tell her he was going to Baltimore, Md., to withdraw $100,000 there to deposit at St. Louis. The man followed him from the establishment, she told police, but she did not think anything about it until the empty pocketbook bundled up with several personal letters to Scott was received by her today. He had several hundred dollars when he left her shop.

Mrs. Harris states that Scott lives at 4457 Cote Brilliante place, St. Louis, but spends considerable time in Chicago. She also believes he has business connections at Fort Worth, Tex.

Frank Marion Scott is unknown at 4457 Cote Brilliante avenue. There is no Cote Brilliante place in St. Louis. His name does not appear in the City Directory.

FUNERAL OF DR. SAMUEL THERO IN EAST ST. LOUIS TOMORROW

Methodist Minister Who Died After Conducting Prayer Meeting Requested Omission of Flowers.

Funeral services for the Rev. Samuel Thero, pastor of the Bond Avenue Methodist Church of East St. Louis, who died early Thursday, a few hours after conducting prayer meeting, will be held tomorrow in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of East St. Louis. The Rev. Dr. J. P. Meyers, head of the East St. Louis District Conference of Methodist Episcopal Churches, will officiate. Burial will be in the Royal Park Cemetery at Staunton, Ill.

No flowers are to be sent to the funeral, in compliance with a last request of the deceased, but a basket will be placed on his coffin to receive contributions for church work in India, where his son, Samuel Jr., is a missionary. He is survived by Mrs. Jenny Thero, his widow; by Mrs. George Nessel, a daughter, of Staunton, Ill., and by four brothers and two sisters.

TWO WOMEN HURT WHEN HIT BY POLICEMAN'S MOTORCYCLE

Knocked Down by Machine of Officer, Who Was Pursuing Speeder, When It Skids.

In pursuit of a speeder whose car was without lights, Motorcycle Policeman Gustav Fehr skidded last night on a flushed street and knocked down Mrs. Georgiana Hall, 60 years old, of 1828 South Eighth street and Mrs. Martha McClain, 49, of 1509 South Broadway, both widows, at Barry street and Seventh boulevard. Both women were seriously injured. The speeder escaped in the delay occasioned by the accident.

Fehr reported the man was traveling south in Seventh boulevard when he took up the chase. At Barry street, when he saw the women crossing, he attempted to avoid them, he reported, but his machine slid on the wet street and hit both pedestrians.

At City Hospital, Mrs. McClain was said to have suffered fractures of the pelvis and hip and internal injuries and Mrs. Hall, fractured ribs and internal hurts.

'Only Al Can Beat Cal.' Club Slogan

WASHINGTON, April 29.—An "Al Smith-for-President Club," for Virginia and the District of Columbia, has opened headquarters here. It has adopted the slogan, "Only Al Can Defeat Cal." Thomas F. Dolan, an Arlington County (Virginia) lawyer, is president of the organization.

BOGUS ORDERS FOR CEMENT CAUSE ARREST OF FIVE MEN

Five Italians were arrested yesterday by police investigating the disappearance of seven truck loads of cement owned by the Glencoe Lime and Cement Co., 901 Syndicate Trust Building, valued at $700. Detectives are working on the theory that the cement was obtained by bootleggers for use in the mounting of mash vats.

Last week the cement company received seven telephone calls, each directing delivery of a truck of cement for a contractor, a customer of the company. It was delivered and unloaded at the address directed. Then the company endeavored to collect, and the contractor declared he had neither ordered nor received cement.

Later an eighth demand for cement was made on the company and police trailed the driver to the shed of Nick Vitale, 2017 Mullanphy street. Vitale said he had given permission to a man to store the cement there. Last night the cement was taken to the home of John Belligrini, 922 High street. Bellegrini and four friends were arrested.

Boxer Killed in Fall From Train.

By the Associated Press.

DUNCANNON, Pa., April 28.—James "Gus" Jazwinski, flyweight boxer of Grand Rapids, Mich., was kileld last night when he fell from the observation car of the Red Arrow Express at Cove Allen, near here.

NO STRIKES UNDER NEW RAIL LABOR LAW

Board Has Been Functioning for Year—Many Wage Scales Negotiated.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—One government agency is approaching its first birthday without noise or advertising, but probably with a considerable degree of quiet satisfaction.

For, since May, 1926, when the United States Board of Mediation was created by the Watson-Parker Law there hasn't been a single railroad strike. One or two old controversies have dragged along; a score of new and more serious issues have been raised in behalf of groups of workers; new wage scales for almost all employes have been established, or are in process of negotiation, but not a train, or a shop, or an office of a railroad has been tied up.

"The fact is there is a new spirit abroad among railroad people," Chairman Winslow said today. "In the early period of our mediation the words 'fight' and 'dispute' were freely used. We adopted in our vocabulary as substitutes the words 'problems' and 'discussion.' And so small a matter has helped develop a habit of discussing problems on their merits."

The fact, it appears, is that the mediation board has discovered that its success in every controversy is almost directly proportionate to the amount of self-effacement which its members and agencies can attain.

Chairman Winslow holds that there is no other law or system of dealing with labor disputes which is so devoid of form and force as the statute defining the work of the board of mediation itself.

If a railroad labor difficulty, in the judgment of the board is likely to substantially threaten interstate commerce, the board is authorized to report to the President. He in turn may establish an emergency board and direct it to report to him the facts. During the investigation the parties must by law leave matters in status quo for 60 days. But the board does not go to the President unless mediation or arbitration fail.

Offers Baby for $25.71 Bill.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Rachel Pate today offered her baby in settlement of a bill of $25.71 in an Evanston police court, but her offer was refused and she and her baby went to jail. Rachel's arrest followed complaint of a merchant that she had taken $46.71 from a cash register. Three of her women companions produced $21 and placed it on a desk before the Judge, who offered to release Rachel if she made a refund. She placed the baby with the money and started out but the storekeeper refused to take the child.

HARDING FOR LATIN-AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, BARRETT SAYS

Head of International Pan-American Committee Contradicts New York Times Statement.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29. — President Harding regarded Pan-American solidarity, co-operation and mutual confidence as the most important opportunity and responsibility before the United States in its foreign relations, says John Barrett, chairman of the International Pan-American Committee, in a statement.

When the fifth Pan-American conference was in progress at Santiago, Chile, President Harding told him that "everything legitimate and reasonable should be done to prove to the Latin-American countries and people—especially those north of Panama, because of their peculiar relationship to the United States—that our Government and people sincerely desired to help them to maintain their independence and enjoy permanent progress and prosperity.

"In view of the fact that the recent statement (published in the New York Times) regarding the attitude of President Harding towards the Central American and Caribbean countries, may react unfavorably throughout Latin-America unless authoritatively contradicted, any dependable evidence to disprove that alleged attitude should be made public."

GOV. RITCHIE APPEALS TO PRESS TO AROUSE POLITICAL INTEREST

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The public must look to the press, more than to the forum, the pulpit or the classroom, for effective leadership, particularly in politics, Governor-elect C. Ritchie of Maryland told the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association last night.

Discussing the "decay of interest in political thinking," Gov. Ritchie appealed to the press of the nation "not necessarily to preach and teach abstract politics, but as the most effective agency there is to assert and exert its enormous power of publicity, in an endeavor, through selection, direction, creation and emphasis, to reawaken the slumbering political consciousness of our people."

The press, as the representative of the people, must aid diplomacy to achieve its task of furthering a better understanding between nations, Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, said in an address before the publishers' association.

"The diplomat must represent governments, the press can represent the people. This popular diplomacy carries its own sanctions in the moral force which it can exercise. There is no sphere in which the press has such an influence and power as in international relations."

ROMANTIC HISTORY TO FLORIDA RUINS

Structures Later Used as Stables and Sugar Mills Once Were Spanish Missions.

By the Associated Press.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., April 29.—Old ruins which generally have been known to residents of this section as abandoned sugar mills and English colonial stables now have been revealed as early seventeenth century Spanish missions.

Some of the ruins ante-date those of the Spaniards in California, having been established during the period 1556 to 1668 by monks who followed the early explorers of Spain. They set up a chain of missions along the South Atlantic coast from St. George's Island, S. C., to St. Augustine, Fla.

Then came the English and the long series of maneuverings which resulted in the Spaniards being driven back into the present confines of Florida. Gen. Oglethorpe, founder of the colony of Georgia, used Scot soldiers in the campaigns and many of them settled in the country. The colonists attempted to draw a veil over the early Spanish colonization here.

Spanish mission, built of tabby —a mixture of seashells and shell lime—immediately were converted into stables and later were turned into sugar mills. Children grew up to know the structures only by their utilitarian uses.

In recent years, historical societies and individuals have financed an extensive search of archives in Madrid, Seville and Havana, the result being the charting of the entire chain of missions and revealing a romantic history long hidden.

The largest of the tabby ruins is that of the mission of San Domingo del Talaje, at Elizafield, on the estate owned by William Dupont. In the ruins of the mission of Tolomato, near Darien, Ga., traces of a fortress, dungeon and other structures have been found.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Louisa J. Wasserburger, died April 28, 1925.

God saw you suffering here so great
He opened wide the golden gate
While you lie in peaceful sleep
Your memory we will always keep.
CHILDREN.

Hero of the Yellow Fever War
Now a Forgotten Invalid

WHEN the Yellow fever epidemic was raging in Cuba 29 years ago, Private John R. Kissinger answered a call for volunteers, and permitted himself to be made a victim of the dread disease, which was killing thousands. He sacrificed his health, suffered paralysis, and made himself an invalid for life that mankind might be released from the scourge of the fever. His aim was accomplished, yet today he lives in seclusion, fighting off adversity, in a little cottage with his wife, trying to eke out an existence on the $100 a month pension tardily granted by the government. The strange story of this great hero will be told in the next Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch.

THE AMAZING TARAHUMARAS

LURED from their mountain fastness in Mexico, not by money but by promise of a school, these Indians, whose ancestors were runners for Cortez, have come to the United States to compete in footraces, and their astonishing fleetness and endurance have attracted wide attention, even incredulity. The story of this unusual tribe will be another feature of the next Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch.

THE BARON'S ROMANTIC FLING

A SHORT time ago Lord Terrington was one of the wealthiest and ablest lawyers in England. But then he fell in love with another man's wife, left his own and journeyed with the other woman to Monte Carlo. Now he is on his way home — on borrowed funds—an invalid, a prisoner, and the fortune it took him nearly all his 50 years to build up wiped out in a year. This story will also appear next Sunday in the Magazine section of the Post-Dispatch.

Modest Frame Home

An opportunity that comes once in many years—a few moments of thought and an investigation of our plans of selling these modest Frame Homes will make you realize that you can own a home by paying a small amount of cash and the balance like rent.

This is for the husband and wife who want to provide for the future—to those who want to succeed and build a home for their family.

$50 CASH

To those who are willing to save a small amount—to those we make this offer—if you will just drive or ride to this beautiful spot—we will show you.

$25 MONTHLY

Out where the flowers bloom—where life is worth living—where sunshine and breezes put happiness into the hearts. Drive or take bus out Manchester road—two blocks beyond Denny road—Ask the salesman.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Indications that liquidation had been virtually completed for the time being were seen in the recovery that halted on the stock market in the afternoon after call money rates had been marked up to 5 per cent for the first time in more than two months. This stiffening in credit conditions seemingly was nothing more than a reflection of preparations for month-end settlements for the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Bank here showed a further increase in the reserve ratio to above 86 per cent. The ratio for the entire system rose almost to 80 per cent. This compared favorably with the period a year ago when the rediscount rate was reduced to 3½ per cent. In the bond market prices continued to move irregularly, strength returning to the speculative rails and weakness continuing in some of the foreign issues.

* * *

"Confusing price movements continued to perplex traders in the more active issues. Selling pressure was applied in the forenoon in virtually all parts of the list but by early afternoon, the decline had been checked and a general recovery had set in. Advances were recorded in the face of a rise in the rate for demand loans to 5 per cent after renewals had been arranged at 4 per cent. This stiffening in money apparently was regarded as nothing more than a temporary reflection of heavy demands for month-end settlements for it failed to check the buying movement started by covering on the part of traders who had sold for a decline. Banks called loans to the extent of $40,000,000, it was estimated.

Some Year's Lows on Oils.

Selective buying was indicated in the early irregularity. Some oil shares were depressed to new low levels of the year when a new wave of selling swept over the market, but bears covered quickly and started a brisk recovery. This rally was followed by a forward movement in utility shares, led by American Water Works and Hudson and Manhattan, both of which established new 1927 tops. Motor stocks improved in response to a favorable earnings statement by Chryler. Rails showed a tendency to rally, particularly those which were under pressure recently. Bangor and Aroostook again featured with another sharp advance, which attracted profit taking. General Motors, Baldwin an' U. S. Steel rallied from early lows, while Timken was again in demand.

Exchange Market Quieter.

"Business in the foreign exchange market dwindled perceptibly, especially in lire and fluctuations held within narrow limits. Operations of Italian Government apparently sucessfully steadied the market for lire. The remainder of the European list was quiet. Japanese rates were again in demand, yen rising fractionally.

May Wheat Advances.

"Commodity prices were generally steady, a feature being an advance of 2 cents in May wheat. Corn futures rose about a cent. Cotton moved forward at the start, but encountered profit-taking.

Proposes Stock Increase for 50 Per Cent Dividend

NEW YORK, April 29.—A proposal to increase the authorized common stock of American Light & Traction Co. from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000 and the declaration of a 50 per cent dividend payable in common stock on June 20 to holders of record May 20, will be acted upon by stockholders at a special meeting June 2. The stock dividend would require an issue of $17,409,800 par value common, increasing the common stock issued and outstanding to $52,229,400 and leaving $47,770,600 par value common authorized and issued.

A statement said the directors felt that holders of common stock were entitled to distribution of at least the profit from the sale of properties and desired to declare the common stock dividend which would capitalize, not only such profit, but also a portion of surplus and reserve. The special reserve account represents profits from sale of properties since January 1, 1924, amounting to $16,576,207, while surplus and reserve account on March 31 totaled $20,031,314.

Wabash Earned 74 Cents On Common First Quarter

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Wabash Railway earned 74 cents a share on the common, after preferred dividends, in the first quarter, against 52 cents a share in the first quarter last year. Surplus rose to $1,374,759 from $1,244,947.

Chrysler Corporation Report.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Earnings of the Chrysler Corporation for the first quarter were more profitable than a year ago, net profit rising to $4,392,569 from $3,539,189, equivalent to $1.46 a share on the common stock, against $1.15 a share in the first quarter of 1926. Directors declared the regular quarter dividend of 75 cents on the common stock.

Walter P. Chrysler, chairman, said that notwithstanding various price reductions the last year, economies of operations incidental to improved facilities developed by expenditures on plant during the past two years, actually had increased the margin of profit. Retail deliveries continues to break all previous records, he said.

TRADE IS QUIETER ON BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 29.—Bonds were quieter today and fluctuations smaller, with a disposition on the part of dealers to reduce their commitments until the speculative situation settled down.

The changes that occurred were not important. A number of the issues moved in sympathy with stocks, and were lower. A few bonds advanced fractionally. United States Steel 5s reached a new high price on a moderate amount of trading.

There were quite heavy transactions in Missouri Pacific new 5s at par, with a subsequent decline under this figure. The general 4s were off half a point. Wabash 5s declined ¾. Delaware & Hudson convertible 2 points and there was a soft tone in the Seaboard Air Line group. Denver, Rio Grande 5s, Chicago Great Western 4s and Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s were firm.

In the foreign group the feature was the reaction in Italian Government and municipal bonds. Italian 7s were sold at a loss of a point. The new City of Rome 6½s went fractionally below the issue price. Argentine 6s declined ¼ to ⅜ point, with some recovery later in the day. French bonds were all firm and Belgians more active than they have been.

The general average of the bond market is now a half point under the high of the year. It is felt that, with the decline in stocks, there may be more attention given to the investment market, which has been neglected during the period of excited speculation. The effect of liquidation in stocks will be to increase the supplies of funds available for bonds.

The Canadian National Railway 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates were offered today slightly above the prices quoted for the best American Railway equipments. These certificates amounting to $15,000,000 are issued against equipment costing $20,000,000, thus providing the 25 per cent cash equity. Under the provisions of the Canadian Railway law, rentals payable under equipment leases rank as an operating charge and are a claim against earnings prior to the principal and interest of mortgage bonds.

Next week will probably witness the offering of a widely diversified list of foreign issues, including several Italian corporation bonds. In addition there are reported to be negotiations under way for loans to Czecho Slovakia and to several cities in Northern Europe.

Two loans today aggregating $20,613,000 were advertised as "all sold."

On May 11 the City of New York will sell $60,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds, the first at this rate since 1909. New York City 4¼s which last January were offered to the public at 103⅛, are now 2 points higher.

LOWER RANGE TO COTTON PRICES AT NEW YORK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 9 points in response to easy Liverpool cables, active months showing net losses of 13 to 18 points in early trading under realizing by recent buyers combined with local and Southern selling.

The volume of business showed a decided falling off compared with the activity reported earlier in the week. Brokers said there was an evident disposition to even up commitments pending further weather developments, or a more definite idea as to effects of the Mississippi floods on the coming crop.

Private cables reported further trade calling had been supplied by hedging with local and continental selling in the Liverpool market.

After selling off to 15.20c for July and 15.67c for October under early offerings, prices steadied up on covering and some fresh buying inspired by rumors as to the levee situation at a point on the Mississippi River, the outlook for showers in the South and the report from the Department of Agriculture indicating that a greater percentage of boll weevil in hibernation had emerged earlier than last year. July sold up to 15.33c and December to 15.78c, but the bulge was not fully maintained, and prices showed net losses of about 3 to 7 points at midday.

Futures closed steady, 5 to 14 lower; May, 15c; July, 15.23c to 15.24c; October, 15.52c; December, 15.70c; January, 15.74c. Spot, quiet; middling, 15.30c.

Cotton Exchange Seat $28,500.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, April 20.—Irregular price changes continued the feature of the cotton trading today and after several recoveries coveries final prices showed a loss of 5 to 13 points on the day. Both on Wednesday and Thursday the market opened and closed at the top, whereas today prices opened and closed at the bottom. Spots were reduced 5 points to 15.30c.

MANY INDUSTRIALS ON CURB SHOW STRENGTH

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Although a heavy tone prevailed in speculative operations generally, the curb market today did not show pronounced weakness in any group. Movements in most issues were narrow and the declines that occurred were not of substantial extent in the general list. Further recessions in the oil stocks, however, brought a number of those issues down to new low prices for the year, but those stocks, as well as many others reflected absorption when declines set in.

Some issues continued to make new high records, the feature being Anglo-Chilean Nitrate which gained 3 points to above 25, making a new high record. Dunhill moved up about a point and American Cellulose made a gain of 2⅜ points followed by a reaction.

Cities Service was weak, declining 3 points to 41. Gulf Oil, South Penn. and Prairie Oil made new low levels for the year on moderate declines.

Public utilities were well maintained and some showed strength at intervals. United Gas Improvement rose over a point, but later lost part of its gain and there was good demand for American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore.

Many industrials showed strength. Johns-Manville after yielding a point more than recovered its loss. Goodyear Tire rose to over a point and Fox Theater made a fractional gain. Lehigh Valley and General Baking A showed fractional losses. St. Paul common was in supply at a fractional decline.

Bonds were in good demand, many making moderate gains.

TO URGE CASH TRADE IN COTTON AT LIVERPOOL

By the Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, England, April 29.—A petition has been signed by members of the Liverpool Cotton Association for presentation to the president and directors for the formulation of a by-law providing that no member be allowed to release a bale of raw cotton from a warehouse without cash being forthcoming.

There have been heavy losses by merchants and brokers in the past under the present conditions of trade, with some mills failing to meet their obligations, and persistent talk of a five-year moratorium in the cotton trade.

The present method is that raw cotton must be paid for within 10 days with a charge of 5 per cent interest for that time. It is suggested in the petition that the buyer who must pay cash be allowed a discount equivalent to 6 per cent interest for 10 days.

BOSTON, April 29.—No such situation exists in New England as that in Liverpool, England, where merchants today were reported as preparing to urge cash for credit methods in buying cotton. Boston bankers pointed to a general improvement in the cotton industry of this country and said the majority of mills were in a more favorable position than in recent years.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 29.—Grain futures closed higher on the local market today. Seaboard estimated 800,000 bushels wheat taken for export. Later report said weather over spring wheat belt was now favorable for seeding. Corn was helped by weather unfavorable for preparing new crop seed bed. Liverpool closed ⅜d up on March, ¼d on May and ⅛d on July.

In the local cash grain market soft wheat was 1c higher. Hard was 1c to 1½c higher. There was fair demand. There was good clearance of offerings. Corn was steady to 1c higher. Demand was good. Oats were steady to 1c lower. Demand was good.

Wheat ranged up a cent to more in the early trade, influenced by Liverpool which came unchanged to ¼d higher, report of large bookings of ocean room and unfavorable report of spring wheat seeding delay. Winnipeg was ½c to 1c higher early. Corn futures also were better early.

Hard May wheat opened at $1.37, hard July $1.30½, red May $1.30½, May corn 76¾c, July corn 80½c, September corn 84c.

Local wheat receipts, which were 63,000 bushels, compared with 75,600 a week ago and 29,400 last year, included 18 cars local and 27 through. Corn receipts, which were 71,400 bushels, compared with 28,000 a week ago and 96,600 last year, included 50 cars local and 1 through. Oats receipts, which were 82,000 bushels, compared with 46,000 a week ago and 106,000 last year, included 36 cars local and 5 through. Hay receipts were 21 cars local.

Clearances were 408,000 bushels of wheat, 26,000 bushels of rye, 20,000 bushels of barley, 7000 bbls. of flour and 440,000 bushels of wheat and flour.

The three Northwestern markets combined had 893 cars of wheat, compared with 522 a week ago and 514 a year ago. Minneapolis receiving 92 cars, Duluth 74 and Winnipeg 727.

Primary receipts of wheat were 578,000 bushels, compared with 554,000 a week ago and 615,000 last year. Corn receipts were 439,000 bushels, compared with 208,000 a week ago and 570,000 last year. Oats shipments were 395,000 bushels, compared with 226,000 a week ago and 433,000 last year. Wheat shipments were 475,000 bushels, compared with 622,000 a week ago and 394,000 last year. Corn shipments were 298,000 bushels, compared with 336,000 a week ago and 363,000 last year. Oats shipments were 663,000 bushels, compared with 394,000 a week ago and 594,000 last year.

MAY WHEAT STRONG ON SHORT COVERING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Shorts in the May delivery of wheat were put on the run today and their efforts to cover at a time when offerings were limited put prices for that future up sharply. Deferred futures were strong, but did not follow the big bulge in May.

Wheat closed well around top prices, showing gains of ½c to 2c; May, $1.36⅞ to $1.37; July, $1.30⅞ to $1.31; September, $1.29½ to $1.29⅝. Corn closed ½c to ⅝c higher; May, 71⅞c; July, 77½c to 77⅝c; September, 82c. Oats closed ¼c to ⅜c higher; May, 45¼c to 45¼c; July, 45⅞c to 46c; September, 45¼c. Lard closed unchanged to 2½c higher; bellies, 25c to 35c higher. Local cash sales were 12,000 bushels wheat, 78,000 corn, 96,000 oats. Seaboard reported 800,000 bushels wheat and 250,000 oats taken for export. Cash wheat basis closed unchanged to ½c lower.

The start was over 1 cent higher for the nearby delivery, due largely to buying by two commission houses believed to be acting for supposed shorts. Longs were not so anxious to sell so that prices kept going up until sales against indemnities relieved the urgent demand. Frightened shorts bought the July and September deliveries, but did not put values up much. At midday May was 136⅛, July 130¾, September 129½.

The seaboard reported some business in Manitobas and durums worked for export and some sales of new crop winters for July and August shipment. Gulf business was light with total sales about 80,000 bushels at an unchanged premium of 13c over May. In the local cash market wheat on spot followed the advance in futures, with sales of No. 2 red at 1c over May. Weather over the spring wheat belt was favorable for seeding and there were rains over the winter wheat belt. Minneapolis stocks decreased 300,000 bushels for the week and Kansas City decreased 750,000 for four days.

Liverpool closed ⅛d to ½d higher. Cheap offers of new winter wheat checked the upturn there. Argentine shipments were heavy at 6,440,000 bushels, and Australia shipped 2,520,000.

May shorts in corn were disagreeably surprised when the advertised liquidation by small holders failed to develop. Instead, there was better commission house demand and prices were firm. At midday May was 71⅞c, July 77⅝c, September 81⅞c. Weather was unfavorable for preparing the new crop seed bed.

Strength in other grains helped oats. Cash houses, export interests and commission houses all bought. Export premiums at the seaboard were 1½c higher than Thursday and another day of good business was reported. At midday May was 45⅛c, July 45⅞c, September 45⅜c.

Provisions were firm with hogs. Lard at midday was 5c to 7½c higher.

Under Cover Fund's Use Restricted

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Hereafter the narcotic unit must pay its informers from regular enforcement funds, Comptroller McCarl has ruled and must not use the special $500,000 "under-cover" appropriation for prohibition enforcement. The prohibition fund, McCarl explained, is for prohibition only, although in the past both enforcement units drew upon it.

Original of Ephrata Hymns.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The original manuscript of the "Turtle-Taube," a collection of hymns written in the Ephrata Cloisters in Pennsylvania before 1746, has been acquired by the Congressional Library. The manuscript is illustrated with nearly 600 original designs in pen and ink, some slightly touched with color. The Ephrata Cloisters was a community of German priests, now represented by the Dunkard sect.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

"SUPPRESSED DESIRES."

EVERY undented rolling-pin is a monument to some woman's "suppressed desires"—if we can believe the comic artists.

* * *

Every hair in a married man's head may mutely attest the strength and nobility of his wife's self-repression. And every pearly tooth in a wife's smile may be a monolithic tribute to her husband's magnificent self-control!

* * *

Most families would have to eat off of cast-iron, non-destructible dishes, if we were all determined to "express ourselves" at the breakfast table. The broken china would litter up the floor so!

* * *

No husband knows how oft in the stilly morn, his fond wife chokes back the primitive desire to hurl the coffee pot at him, when he scornfully sniffs at his chop. Or insists on reading the newspaper aloud!

* * *

And there is seldom a dinner party at which the suffering hostess does not check a wild yearning to fling her demi-tasse at her unconscious husband as she hears him telling the wrong story, or sees him flirting with the wrong woman.

* * *

Suppressed desires! Without them, the earth would be simply littered with the dead and the dying!

* * *

If all the average woman's suppressed desires were laid end to end, they would create an earthquake that would shake the world from New York to Japan and back again!

* * *

Every happy marriage is built on a solid foundation of suppressed desires. The only difference between a good husband and a wife-beater or between a devoted wife and a shrew, is the difference in the number of desires which they SUPPRESS!

* * *

Twenty times a day a woman suppresses her desire to tell her husband the truth about himself. Twenty times a day, the average man suppresses his desire to brag to his wife about all the pretty women who try to flirt with him, and to remind her what a lucky little thing she is!

* * *

A hundred times a day, both of them suppress the impulse to yawn at each other, nag, criticise, advise or reform each other! THAT is LOVE! Sweet, beautiful, unselfish suppression!

* * *

The jails, divorce courts, and prisons are full of people who "just couldn't SUPPRESS themselves!" If we ever let the suppression-cap blow off our desires what things we should say and do to our friends and neighbors! A brickbat would be the popular calling card, and no woman would drop in on another for a quiet little chat, without a bright little stiletto in her hand.

* * *

One game of bridge would leave the parlor floor strewn with the wounded and dying! And prussic acid cocktails would be served to the bores at every party!

* * *

"Be yourself!" may be the popular slogan. But give ME a man with a lot of "suppressed desires"—and the power to go right on SUPPRESSING them!

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter Rabbit Is Disappointed

Disappointments come to all—
The rich, the poor, the great, the small.
—Old Mother Nature.

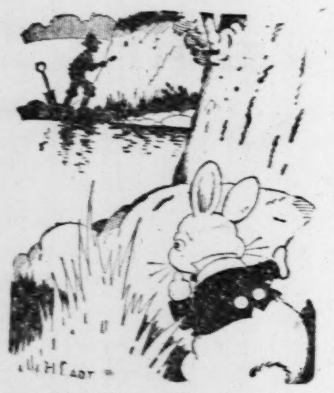
FARMER Brown's Boy is too thoughtful to needlessly worry any of his little friends of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, of the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool. He knew just how worried Rattles the Kingfisher and Mrs. Rattles must be as they watched him dig open their nest. So, having satisfied himself that there couldn't possibly be any homelier babies in all the Great World than the Kingfisher babies, he hurried to put them back and leave, so that the Kingfisher family might be reunited.

Now Farmer Brown's Boy was no more curious than was Peter Rabbit. Peter was on the other side of the Laughing Brook. He could see just enough by sitting up and looking over the grass to know what Farmer Brown's Boy was doing. That is, he knew that Farmer Brown's Boy was digging open the house of Rattles the Kingfisher. But he couldn't see the babies when Farmer Brown's Boy took them out, nor could he see the hole itself that Farmer Brown's Boy had dug.

"I ought to be on the other side of the Laughing Brook," thought Peter to himself. "Yes, sir, I ought to be on the other side of the Laughing Brook. If I were over there I could look into that hole just as soon as Farmer Brown's Boy leaves."

So without waiting to see what Farmer Brown's Boy would do after he had looked at the babies, Peter scampered back to the Smiling Pool, around it, and up the Laughing Brook to a place where he could scamper across on an old log. Then he hurried back along the other bank. It took him some little time, and by the time he reached the Smiling Pool he could see Farmer Brown's Boy tramping home across the Green Meadows. With a hasty look about to see that Reddy Fox was nowhere about, and that there was no other danger near, Peter scampered past the Smiling Pool, down along the bank of the Laughing Brook toward the bank where Farmer Brown's Boy had been digging.

"This is splendid," thought Peter. "Now I'll see those Kingfisher babies. I won't hurt them and I'll try not to scare them. But I cetainly am not going to miss this opportunity to see them. I hope Farmer Brown's Boy didn't carry them away. I don't see what he dug that place open for anyway."



"I ought to be on the other side of the Laughing Brook," thought Peter to himself

All the time Peter was scampering along lipperty-lipperty-lip. He was watching for a hole in the ground. When presently he came to a place where a little sand was scattered about he paid it no heed. He ran right past. But he didn't go far before he realized that he was too far down the Laughing Brook.

"This is queer," thought Peter. "How could I have gone past that hole without seeing it? I must have, but I don't see how I could possibly have done it. Ah! Here is a little yellow sand scattered about. This must have been where Farmer Brown's Boy was digging. Peter sat up and looked this way and that way and the other way, but all his looking was in vain. Yes, sir, all his looking was in vain. There simply was no hole to be seen. Never in all the Great World was there a more puzzled and disappointed rabbit than was Peter Rabbit. He hunted and hunted and hunted and hunted, but he couldn't find the hole that Farmer Brown's Boy had dug.

Have you guessed why? Well, you see, Farmer Brown's Boy had filled in that hole very carefully and he had finished by putting back the sod he had cut out in the first place. He had packed it down very carefully. When he was all through you would have had hard work to find the exact place without having it pointed out to you. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy didn't want any harm to come to those helpless babies of Rattles the Kingfisher.

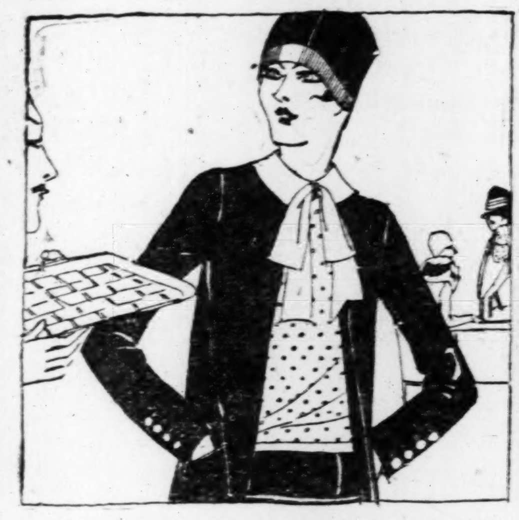
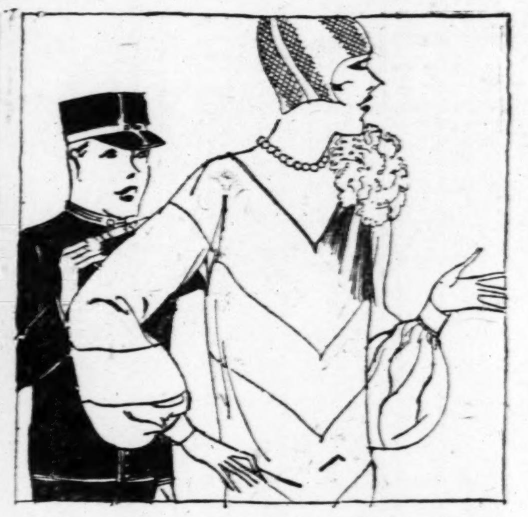
MODISH MITZI

Mitzi's Awfully Absent-Minded These Days

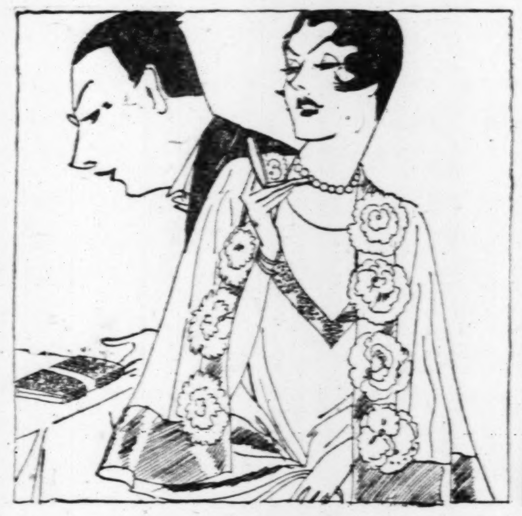
By Jay V. Jay



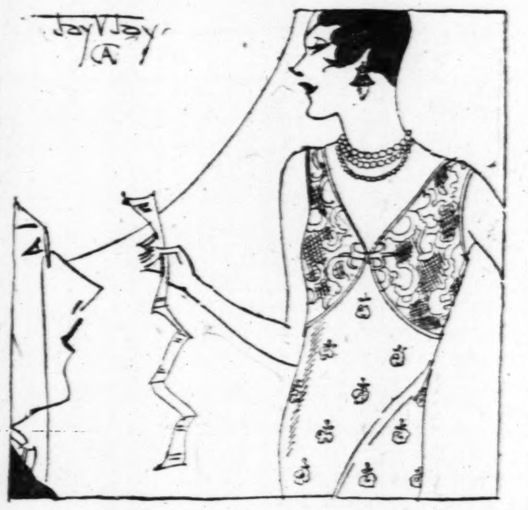
Mitzi's little navy blue suit with the navy dotted white blouse has a new jacket with no buttons at all and a skirt with a wide, fitted yoke. She wears a little navy blue helmet hat with it—and she almost forgot to take her alligator purse as she left.



Mitzi went to a matinee in a crepe satin gown, with the satin side for the dress and the crepe side for the bands of trimming. She wore another little helmet hat—this one with ear tabs on it—and the usher had to dash after her with her envelope bag of snake.



Mitzi went out in the evening with the Goofer and wore an evening wrap of taffeta, with the top made like a cape and trimming of flat and splashy roses in just the proper shade to contrast—the Goofer remembered to pick up her envelope bag of rhinestones.



Mitzi thanked him for it when they got home and he pulled it out of his pocket. Mitzi's dress is of chiffon, diamond studded and matching the color of her wrap. "I carry my Paris ticket with me," she is explaining to the Goofer, "I think it's safer than anywhere else!"

NEWER FACTS ABOUT GOITER

Former President of the American Medical Association.

GOITER, or enlargement of the thyroid gland, exists in some localities and not in others.

Every invaded locality tries to get rid of its goiter and every other community tries to keep it out.

The "goiter surveys" so far made show that the disease is already widespread and that there is a rapid advance in its invasion.

Upon what conditions does this invasion depend?

Goiter was first found to be widely prevalent in the mountains of Switzerland, where the water supply is derived largely from glaciers.

It has been pointed out by Hayhurst that the soil, water and vegetation of glacial districts contain less iodine in the soil and in the water supply than do districts of non-glacial formation, because the soluble sodium salts of iodine have been removed by the melting ice.

This is shown by the fact that the goitrous area in the United States is that part of the country which was covered by the three great ice sheets, the lower border of which extended from the eastern part of New York State, south below Cincinnati and nearly to the Pacific Coast.

In view of the rapid extension of the disease, those who live in what are now non-goitrous areas may be lulled into a sense of false security. There ought, however, to be no unnecessary alarm.

Take for instance New York City, where Frances Cohen made a goiter survey and where he found many cases of simple goiter. There were many cases because there were many people, but the proportion was not large—so small, indeed, that the disease was not considered endemic and the area was declared non-goitrous.

Thus, Cohen's observations on about 12,000 school children showed a relatively small number of deviations from the thyroid normal.

The occurrence of simple goiter in school children and in the older group of women, and the investigation into the conditions of iodine intake which determine endemic centres of goiter, were all taken into consideration.

The mild scattering cases of simple goiter that occur among school children seem to depend on a relatively insufficiency of iodine, due, mainly, to the influence of puberty.

The mild cases of simple adolescent goiter observed among children in New York seem to show, in the case of girls, a distinct tendency to get better after puberty and entirely to recover in boys.

These facts, even as they apply to goiter-ridden areas, show that there is no justification for a goiter scare and that intelligent attention to the natural law of cause and effect, as shown in goiter, will control both the individual case and the general situation.

Tulle for Spring Dance Dresses

By Janet Winslow

THE fluffiness of tulle and the crispness of taffeta are two characteristic features of the dance dress of the season. The two do not always go hand in hand, but invariably they are seen together in the same dancing places where smart young girls gather to enjoy themselves by night.

Now there are tulles and tulles. There are those pastel in tone and those that are made of somber colors, but always they seem to be one mad collection of rufflings and fluting that reach a mildly risque angle when all is said and done and put together.

Perhaps the most fascinating tulles of all, though not the most daring after all, are those in black, sometimes plain and sometimes dotted. They are made over black or over pink or over flesh color, as the case may be, and they are the dresses that are becoming as well to the youth of the country as they are to those who have gone on somewhat farther in the matter of years.

But then there are the pastels which hold their popularity to untold lengths. Every one has a pastel shade all one's own, as is evidenced by those who go to seek dresses from the mass of specialty shops which now exist all about town. And those who know what their own pastel coloring may be demand it upon all occasions so that often, from the salesladies' point of view, it becomes an actual embarrassment to supply what the particular customer is looking for. However, it can be done. There is a pastel tone for every one, and stupid indeed is the woman who cannot find her own.

Now, dresses of tulle in tiers of ruffles are the order of the dance day. They are simple in line, with fitted bodices often made of the sister material taffeta and skirts of tulle ruffles. Brides are wearing these dresses in pure white. Their attendants are wearing them in pastel tones. And even the mother in a discreet manner is having hers in shades of beige and darker browns.

The rage is on. It may be only for a minute and it may last a great deal longer, but the tulle craze can be caught now at its apex. It is on the growing round.

Although much has been said about the return of the natural waistline, very few of the smarter couturieres seem to be sponsoring it.

New Accessories.

Have you seen the new "splash guards?" These are attractive hosiery protectors for rainy-day wear. They fit over the back of the shoe and fasten around the ankle, with a flap extending upward. They come in several colors that harmonize with prevailing hosiery shades.

Those short circular capes you have probably noticed in the shops are going to be a popular evening wrap. Those displayed are of silver or gold net with metal embroideries.

Keeping that Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Beware of using any but true complexion soap on face

THE modern way to beauty starts with skin cleanliness; with never letting powder, rouge or make-up remain on your skin over night. That means careful washing with soap and water regularly.

But be sure you use only a true complexion soap for that purpose. Be sure it is a beauty soap.

Before Palmolive Soap was perfected, women were told "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. This soap creation largely changed the skin care of the world.

Made of true cosmetic oils, made solely for ONE purpose, to protect the skin, Palmolive is the most widely urged soap in the world today for complexion use. In Paris it is supplanting domestic soaps.

For true skin beauty, get Palmolive today. Cleanse the skin with its balmy olive and palm lather regularly, and particularly at bedtime every night.

Do that for one week. Note how much better your skin. Costs but 10c a cake. Take care that you get the genuine Palmolive. Green soaps represented as of olive and palm oils are not the same. They are but crude imitations. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

With South playing a No-Trump, the first trick should be: Four of Clubs, Eight of Clubs, Queen of Clubs, Ace of Clubs; and the question is, how Declarer should plan to play the remainder of the hand. Some Declarers would at once attack with the Hearts, hoping to run four Heart tricks; but, as has already been pointed out in these articles, that would be very bad play. The lead of a seven-card (in the two hands) Ace-King-Queen suit should be postponed until the adversaries have established a suit with which they will save game if they obtain the lead. Until then, Declarer should attempt to make up his own suit, knowing that the seven-card Ace-King-Queen suit, if good for four tricks, will stay good; and if not good, may become so (as a result of adverse discards) if kept in the background. Trick 2 should be: South, Ten of Diamonds; West, the Queen (this play being made with the hope that East has the Nine); Dummy, the King; and East, the Ace. (There is no reason for East to hold up; Dummy has an entry, and playing the Ace may make a Diamond good for West.) Trick 3 East leads Seven of Clubs; South, the Six; West, the Nine; Dummy wins with the Jack. (Note the difference if Dummy had played the Jack on the first trick.) West does not win this trick because doing so would leave his Clubs unestablished (South is marked with the Ten); but by ducking, the Clubs are established and in shape to run if East can get the lead.

The rest is easy. Trick 4, Closed hand wins with the Nine of Diamonds and then leads the Eight; Dummy overtakes, cashes the last Diamond, and then goes to the Hearts. It may be that a Heart discard will have been made, which would produce a Heart trick not originally obtainable.

Finishing the Job

By Angelo Patri

Angelo Patri is just the principal of a New York grade school, but the late Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard, said Patri is doing more for common-school education than any other person in America. This school, a model in every respect, is a mecca for teachers from all parts of the country.

IT IS a fine lift to the soul of a child to finish well the task he started. We ought to help him to that experience as often as we can.

Many times a child undertakes what we know he cannot do, much less finish. He comes in great excitement to ask for the coal shovel. He has a great idea. Somebody told him that if he dug right through from where he was standing he would come out at China. He wants to get there this afternoon. You give him the shovel and that's all of that.

But he starts to make a little stool for a plant stand. He gets the wood cut out, planed, ready to glue and nail. Then he's tired of that job. You watch your chance and one day when his mood is good you suggest that there is room now for the glue pot and the fern would look so much better on a stand. You edge him toward the little job and keep persistently at it until it's finished and the plant sits gracefully upon it. Then you applaud mightily and bring in the neighbors to see.

When you teach a child a new process, making a basket, weaving a pattern on a mat, whittling a ship, start it for him. A child has little trained will power. It soon wearies as the newness wears off the work, his energy is consumed in huge quantities by the new demand. He uses four and five times as much as he will use when he is expert, and he fatigues easily. You want him to have the thrill of success as he views his finished task. Then start it for him and hand it to him well started. A good start is half the job. If there is a distinct technique about the finishing of a knot or an edge, finish it yourself with him helping. Gradually you do less and he does more. The habit of industry, the endurance, the skill, the habit of completeness are all represented in his crude efforts. Praise them and go ahead.

But putting on the last rub, tying the last knot, is not really finishing the idea. That finish comes when the result of the childish effort is put to use. A mother who does beautiful handwork taught her little daughter to hemstitch a table scarf. When company came one afternoon it was the child's table scarf with its rippling line, its toothy stitching that graced the table.

"Grace is learning to hemstitch. I am very proud of the scarf she made for me. Don't you think she did well?"

"O, it isn't so very good," said Grace, blushing and dimpling. "The next one will be better. I like to do them."

Who wouldn't like to work, given an audience and loud applause? Try it and see.

HUNDREDS OF PREPARATIONS CLAIM TO KILL OR DRIVE AWAY MOTHS—BUT LARVEX IS THE ONLY ONE THAT ACTUALLY PREVENTS MOTH-HOLES!
LARVEX

BEFORE moths start flying, they lay eggs. Eggs that hatch moth-worms to eat your clothes. That's why you can't prevent moth-holes by chasing moths.

There is just one sure way to prevent them—Larvex. Larvex is an odorless, colorless, non-inflammable liquid. It is not a "bug-killer" or insecticide. It makes the cloth itself uneatable to moth-worms. You simply spray it on your clothes and they are mothproofed!

Larvex penetrates every fiber—the cloth absorbs it—and no moth-worm can eat anything that is treated with Larvex. No packing away. No smelly moth-balls or bulky tar-bags. Keep your clothes right in your closet. They are mothproof!

Larvex is $1. In combination with the special atomizer, $1.50. ½ gallons, $3; gallons $5. Surely your clothes are worth this protection. Get Larvex today—at drug, department and furniture stores. The Larvex Corporation, 250 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

THE WOMAN OF IT
By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

he Gentle Art of Telephone Lying.

CIENCE can go too far. We thought so when we read the first account of the successful nstration of television. We re not reassured when Walter S. ford, president of the American phone and Telegraph Co., exained that "the elaborateness of the equipment required by the very ure of the undertaking precludes y present possibility of television ing available in homes and offices erally."

"Automobiles," said the wise n, in the '90s, "are too tricky d too costly ever to come into eral use." And now look at the rd things!

Television will be put into homes d offices—you see if it isn't! And will annihilate utterly one of the e arts of modern civilization—e gentle art of telephone lying.

Fibbing by phone is easy. It is easeful. It blesseth him that es and her that takes—or t'other y 'round.

It is easy, because a telephone r has only to control the voice—t the face or the hands, the giveays for prevaricators who apr in person.

Telephone lying is easeful, bee it spares the feelings and ar-coats reality. For example, only the glutton for punishnt, among women, who ever stions her husband's good telened excuse for not coming home dinner. If he is considerate ugh to call up and explain that has to work late, why go behind returns? The Perfect Brute is man who goes out with the s and who never telephones at

When the shoe's on the other —when, we mean, the receiver's the other ear—it's a sad young n who doubts her telephoned rd that her headache is too bad go to the movies tonight. She's really a Mean Girl unless she nds the Broadway show and t club with the other fellow, never bothers to telephone a forting lie to the first man.

Television in every home and ofmeans that, in addition to a siderate imagination, all of us o would renege on engagements t possess a poker face. The uirement lets many of us out, it is the persons with whom we ak engagements who will suf

Another reason why we are inst television is because it may women out of jobs. Many a ng woman's value to her emyer depends on her ability to l off his unwelcome telephone s. You know the technique:

The Private Secretary: You ld like to talk to Mr. Thomp? Who is it, please? Mr. John? Just a moment, please. (She s to catch the "Good God, no!" ression on the face of Mr. mpson, seated three feet away. speaks sweetly into the transter): I'm sorry. Mr. Thompson in conference. I don't know what time he'll be through. ld you like to leave your num? Yes, I'll ask him to call you soon as he is free. Good-by.

Suppose the smoothly rebuffed . Johnson were gazing, as he ked, into a televisor, or whatr the thing is called! Suppose press agent were doing like, when he telephones us as we catching an edition of leaving home. (That is, if television follow an office boy 50 feet the Evening World phone hs to our desk). Is nothing—hing — sacred — even the fib a married woman not being which an office boy phones to press agent?

Science is getting altogether too y. Violently, we do not agree Walter S. Gifford that "in due e and in many ways television l add substantially to human fort and happiness." There is ether too much brutal truth in world now).

Screen Stars Tell of Lean Days Before They "Arrived"

BEBE DANIELS

RENEE ADOREE

LAURA LA PLANTE

Renee Adoree, Bebe Daniels and Laura La Plante Describe Their Hardships Before They Won Success in Motion Pictures.

THREE more motion-picture actresses who have achieved fame and considerable fortune in the films told recently of the days when success was only a dim and distant goal, and hunger and poverty were close at hand. They are Laura La Plante, Bebe Daniels and Renee Adoree, all of whom are stars of the first magnitude today, but who faced hardship and privation while they were seeking to earn their first dollars in the motion-picture studios.

"Walking is good exercise," said Laura La Plante, "and I got plenty of it when I first went into pictures. I walked back and forth from my home to the Christie Studio to save carfare. But that was when I had become really what I considered wealthy, with an actual job in pictures at $5 a day.

"In the first place, the really hard times began when I was a child, with the death of my father. I came with my mother and sister Violet to California in 1913, shortly after he passed away. We had almost nothing. We lived with my aunt in Los Angeles.

"My mother tried to support us by working as a seamstress, but there were many lean days for us. I was only 9 years old and Violet was 5. Finally mother decided that the family would do better in San Diego. We went down to that city, and I entered high school, but at the end of the first year I decided that I must do something to help the family.

"The motion pictures naturally suggested themselves to me. I was 14 then—nearly 15. I went from studio to studio, with nobody seeing anything unusual in me. Then I got into the Christie studio as an extra at $5 a day.

I was just sure I could support my mother and sister on that. I worked altogether three weeks straight at $5 a day, and sent for my family to come and live with me. But the three weeks' work was not repeated. Soon after they arrived, the studio closed down for three months. That was during the terribly dull period of 1920. I had no work for a long time.

"I went from studio to studio, looking for work. Some of the studios, to be sure, were closed entirely; others had only one or two companies working, and there were a hundred experienced players for every job. We were forced, during that time, to borrow money to live on.

"The sky cleared when the studio reopened and I got a guarantee of so much work and later a contract."

"I WAS born in a circus tent in Lille, France," said Renee Adoree. "My father was clown and my mother a member of the circus troupe.

"Long days were spent in practice on the trapeze and at bareback riding. Sometimes, though not often, we were without work. Then we lived in small inns, ate frugally, made over old clothes. But as father was a splendid clown, and as clowns are nearly always greatly in demand, it was seldom he suffered when the circuses had to shut down. Once, I remember, we walked from one town to another because we had no money. That was our hardest time.

"I early decided that I wanted to dance for a living. Along with my horseback riding I studied dancing with one of the women at the company who took a fancy to me. At 10 it was considered by circus people that I was ready for my first public appearance.

"It was during the concert connected with the performance that I appeared. Mother had bought a lovely little white dress for me, and I wore ribbons in my hair. I wasn't in the least frightened of the crowd. I must have inherited some of my father's sang froid in the presence of an audience.

"From that time on, I acted with the circus, usually as a pantomimist and dancer. We toured Europe, but of course, we were just show people, and not by any means rich. A new dress was an event with me, as circus people have to save up their money to live on during the off-season.

"Finally a chance came to branch out with a real theatrical company and I took it. Again I toured Europe, this time in better style than I had ever known. My work as a dancer and pantomimist won me a good salary.

"The war turned the tide of my career. I was dancing on a stage in Brussels when news of the German invasion came, and another girl and myself escaped to France on a freight train, went to London and then in America. Those were the hardest times financially, I had ever known. Without money for a railroad ticket, and hardly enough for food, we lay very low during that freight train trip.

"My European reputation counted not a cent in America. I began by dancing in musical comedies, and after many months achieved a leading role. It was in 1920 that a film company invited me to play a part in a picture. I had never thought of pictures before but consented to go and have a test made. I didn't like the way I photographed and went back to the stage, but shortly afterward got the chance to play Tom Moore's lead and came to California under a contract to the Goldwyn Studio.

* * *

"I SUPPOSE," Bebe Daniels said, "that people will say, 'Oh, Bebe Daniels never knew what it means to go hungry, to wonder whether there will ever be another meal or not. Look at her, sitting on the world, with a nice contract with Paramount and all that.'

"But they don't seem to give a thought to those years before I had my 'nice contract with Paramount'—to those long, lean years that began when as a child of 5, I started to work. In those days my little earnings were mighty necessary to mother and me. They helped us over many a tough spot when we needed help badly.

"We came to California when I was not quite 5 years old, because of my health. Mother gave up her own promising career on the stage in order to take care of me, her only child. Being on the stage then meant being on tour, and when we came to California, mother literally had to start all over again.

"We had very little money to begin with and for a few years it was pretty hard sledding. We struggled along. Mother got what roles she could in local theaters, endeavoring to re-establish herself.

"What little money we had then was apportioned, oh, so carefully! Part of it went for wardrobe. Always there was a wardrobe to be kept up. That meant bread and butter for us. The rest went for food and shelter. Many a day food was scarce, and there was no money to buy it. Mother made over our old clothes until they were quite threadbare. She did that sometimes after she came home from the theater at night. And I remember watching her, and longing to be of help.

"Then I secured my first position, a part with Oliver Morosco on the stage as the Little Colonel in 'The Girl I Left Behind Me.' Then came another role in 'The Squaw Man' with Lewis Stone at the old Belasco Theater in Los Angeles. I had become a wage earner at five. But, as seemed to happen so often in those days, there would come long periods of inactivity when there were parts for neither of us. Then is when we learned to know what it meant to be really broke. As always seemed the way in such times, disappointments came thick and fast. We turned many an ugly corner when the butcher and the baker gave us more than our dime's worth for ten cents.

"Later things began to come easier. We were getting known and recognized. Then, too, the moving pictures began to offer openings for stage folk, and while we still had many a bad break and were down to our last nickel time and again, the worst of it was over when I was about twelve."

Baked Potato and Egg.

Take a well-baked potato. Open and remove with silver fork onto a hot plate. Add a little butter, a sprinkle of salt and cover with the raw egg; mix lightly with a fork and serve at once. One must work quickly so the potato cooks the egg. Serve in a small, hot dish. Garnish with springs of green; cover the dish.

Apple Bread Pudding.

CRUMB about one loaf of bread, using the soft part only. Melt one-quarter cup of butter and add it to the bread crumbs (about two cups). Now put a layer of the crumbs in the bottom of a baking dish, add one quart of sliced apples, sprinkle with one-quarter cup of sugar and grated nutmeg, and then cover with remaining crumbs. Cover the dish and bake until the apples are tender, removing the cover after the first one-half hour. Serve with sugar and cream or a cream sauce.

Women's Lives
are relieved of a great hygienic handicap in this way. Positive protection—discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and exquisite that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads."

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends all fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or department stores simply by saying "KOTEX," without hesitancy. Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

The Diary of a New Father

Thursday Night.

WELL, Joan bought two dresses at the sale today and she did not need either one of them, but she said they were such bargains it would have been a crime not to get them, and now the clothing allowance in our budget is shot for a month and a half on account of it. When I came home tonight she had one of the dresses on and she said, "Isn't it pretty?" and I said, "I don't get the idea of buying clothes when you admitted that you don't need any," and she said, "You can't find a bargain like these two dresses every day in the year, and I can put them away until I do need them, can't I?" and I said, "Ha, ha," and she said, "What's the matter?" and I said, "The darn things will be out of style by that time."

Joan said, "I wish I didn't have to listen to a sermon every time I buy a miserable rag or two for my back," and I said, "The only thing we are economizing on with your darned old budget is my lunches," and Joan said, "All right. I'll take the dresses back, and I will have to admit to every woman who lets me know she is sorry for me because of my clothes that my husband won't spend any money on me." I said, "Did you or did you not say that you didn't need any more clothes now?" and Joan said, "When did I say anything like that?" and I said, "That is what you told the women at the bridge club," and Joan said, "Well, any idiot ought to know that I meant I could scrape along on what I had if it was really necessary. It certainly isn't a woman's fault if her husband doesn't earn more money," and I said, "It isn't his fault that she spends every cent he does make."

Joan said, "Other women don't have to fight for clothes the way I do," and I said, "Maybe other women don't ask for so darn many that it calls for a fight."

Well, we were washing the dinner dishes, and I dropped one I was wiping on account of Joan leaving them so soapy when she washes them, and she said, "If you didn't break everything you touch we could afford to buy enough clothes to let me be seen in public," and your wife gets so interested in bawling you out that she does not pay any attention to what she is doing herself, and Joan let a dish go smash, and I said, "Yours busted into more pieces than mine did, anyway. I never saw anybody as awkward"—and Joan butted in and she said, "What is the use of you standing there and criticizing? We can do our fighting after we consider how we are going to get a new set of dishes," and I said, "What new set of dishes?" and Joan said, "Well, just look in the cupboard and tell me how I am going to keep house with the odds and ends of cracked china we have left." . . . .

I said, "I thought we were economizing," and Joan said, "Economy doesn't mean getting along with nothing," and our budget has no dish allowance in it, but Joan is determined to buy some more dishes, and I guess my lunch money is going to have to contribute another dollar or so, because when your wife gives you a little for lunches on the first of the month, she has an idea you should return 90 cents on the dollar on the thirtieth.

The Duster.

THERE are various methods of making a dustless duster. A simple method is to saturate a piece of cheesecloth with turpentine. Then dry it thoroughly before using it. One housewife has found this very satisfactory.

To reoil a duster apply a few drops of kerosene or any light lubricating oil on one corner then roll the cloth and let it remain so until the oil has spread evenly.

Save dust cloths by using cotton waste and newspaper for places that are greasy or badly soiled.

Working Wives
By Lucy Lowell.

APROPOS of the discussion on the working wife, I now learn that there are 2,000,000 working women in the United States who have husbands and homes.

This figure is announced by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor at Washington and is the finding of a Government census taken more than a year ago.

As such it probably means that the number of married women earning outside their homes today is reaching up toward the 3,000,000 mark.

Nevertheless, the American wife prefers to be the homemaker and mother rather than the worker with an independent income, in the opinion of Miss Mary Anderson, head of the bureau.

"The average American woman prefers to make a home for her husband and children to doing anything else," Miss Anderson said.

"She would rather fulfill this normal function than go into the business world. I say this in the face of an increasing number who yearly seek their living outside the home."

One-fifth of the 2,000,000 working wives, she stated, are employed in factories, mills and workshops. The fact that most of them work through long hours and are often underpaid means, she declares, that necessity sends them out to labor.

"The truth is," she goes on, "that in the poorer walks of life the man of the family cannot make enough to support his wife and children in present-day standards of comfort.

"Material things, like electric lights and modern plumbing, formerly considered luxuries, now are counted necessities and to have them the mother adds to the household income.

"I believe that only a small percentage of all women who work take jobs because they like to work.

"Only those who have careers, the select few who go into the professions and arts, can be said to pursue their work for the love of it.

Oatmeal like this will tempt the fussiest child

MAKE the foods for your children tasty and inviting and the choosiest boy or girl will eat them with zest. Oatmeal can be made temptingly tasty. A little Price's Vanilla added will give it a deliciousness, a delicacy of flavor that children simply can't resist.

At our request, Caroline B. King, the noted food authority, has prepared a booklet, entitled "35 Appetite Helps for Mother," telling just how to flavor oatmeal and other cereals to tempt finicky children's appetites for these wholesome and needful foods. The recipes call for the use of various Price Flavoring Extracts—particularly Price's Vanilla — the original true, tropic flavor of rare excellence and strength. Send for the booklet. Address

THE RAGGED EDGE

BY

HENRY C. ROWLAND

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

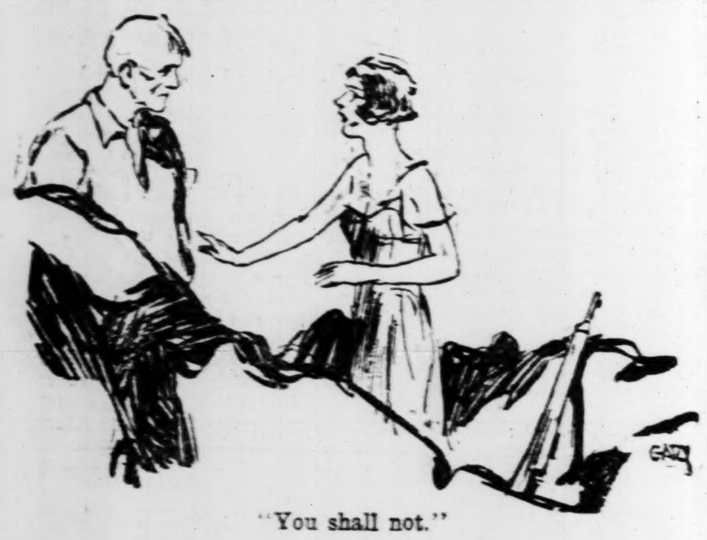
DISCORD.

CARILLON admitted to Bengal that under the persecution of the bandits she was beginning to wonder whether or not she had taken Mrs. Ransome's jewels.

"No wonder," Bengal exclaimed. "It's a sort of violent and brutal hypnotism. Breaking down the will by enforcing sleeplessness, and at the same time driving in constantly the desired conviction. Toughened criminals break down under it. And yet the third degree is still permitted in police procedure. The Spanish inquisition was a lot more straightforward and cleaner."

"Well, there's something horribly indecent about deliberately inflicting pain for any purpose. It's degenerate. Physical pain alone can break down the morals of most of us in time. They'd have tried that with me, if all else failed, and then I should have been lost. You saved me, Bungle. You came ashore barehanded and killed the big chief devil and carried me here to your sea cave, like the craggy neolithic man that in some ways you are."

"So now you are mine," Bengal said. "And you are going to marry me as soon as I get you out of this.



"You shall not."

Carillon shook her head. "I'll never marry you, Bungle dear. I love you too much for that."

"Now just sink the Victorian romance stuff," Bengal growled. "You need me, and I need you."

"All the same, I shan't marry you, my dear. Facts must be faced. I'm an emerald with a flaw in it. Or a green leaf poisoned underneath by a caterpillar. The fiber of me was attacked in the bud, and the wind will whisk me off the bough before my time. I love you, Bungle dear, but I shall never, never marry you."

"You've dug up a copy of 'Lucille' somewhere, I should say," Bengal snapped. "You are going to marry me if I have to drag you to a parson by the hair of your head."

"No, I've spoiled lives enough. I'm a constitutional thief, without even the excuse of other thieves, the need of money. I steal the way a magpie might, because the glitter of the object fascinates me. That's not sane, because I'm not a magpie. Besides, to be happy though married there must be a community of tastes. I've heard you say you were never quite happy unless you had at least a mile of deep blue water under you. I like better the clear greeny water where it's shallow, and the sun shining up from the white sand on the bottom."

"We could have both," Bengal said.

"No, because I like my beach flanked by big hotels and swarms of butterfly people, and where there are people there is gossip. You couldn't stand that."

"Could you, Carillon? The things said about you? The whispers and nudges when you pass?"

"I'm used to it, just as one might get used to any other blemish, a birthmark, or crooked back. I accept it as a part of me that can't be helped."

"But can it? O, my dear"——Bengal held out his arms to her, then drew them quickly back at the sudden amber glow in her eyes. He had come close to forgetting his resolution. He would have a clear title to all of Carillon, or none of her. She looked up at him with her twisted smile.

"I don't know, Bengal. Probably not. Where a vice is acquired it may be cured, I suppose. But not when it's shuttled into the warp and woof of you. I'd have torn it out long ago for Granville's sake, if I had been able. How do I know that I can tear it out for yours? And if I failed, something terrible would happen."

"What?"

She stretched out one beautiful arm, pointing to the deep blue water of the little cove. "I should fine my cure down there. And your liberty."

"Then I should follow you, my darling. There are worse places to rest."

"Would it be rest? Is there any rest for that? No, Bungle, we are two active principles that can never make a stable compound. Your sound nature and my unsound one would soon be tugging different ways. Something would break."

"Our hearts? Mine might, but I'd rather have a broken heart than none."

"You would not. And it might be worse than the heart. Your spirit would break, I think, and your pride and faith in the rightness of things. You would twist your creed to fit me, and write an amendment to the Ten Commandments."

"But, Carillon," Bengal protested. "You can burn out this blemish if only you will."

"The deed, perhaps, but not the desire. The glitter of precious gems, and their exquisite lights and colors steal away my sound sense, with its values and proportions. Even if I crushed out the act, the desire would still be there and that has got to die with me. I inherited it, they say, so I don't intend to pass it on."

"Then what do you want me to do? How can I help you best? What shall I do?"

"I want you to take me in your big strong arms and hold me close and kiss me, for just this once. And then I want you to say good-by to me in your heart, as if I were dead, and go about the living of your own life. Marry a girl that has no caterpillar at her core and who loves you and the things you love. Marry Gertrude Howland. Put me away from you, just as you would put away a bad thought—if bad thoughts ever could tempt you, which I doubt."

Bengal rose to his feet exposing head and shoulders above the top of the sheltering rock, regardless of a possible shot from ambush. "Then I shall not do the one or the other," he cried, and the cavern rumbled back the echo of his deep voice. "I shall get you safe away from here and marry you, as I have said, and if there's any crust attached to it, I'll share that with you"——

"You shall not. I will never ruin the life of the only man I've ever loved or ever shall love."

Feeling herself at a disadvantage in this struggle of wills as she sat there on the sand, while Bengal stood, Carillon rose to her feet and stood facing him, a startling but very beautiful figure, her ivory skin scored with innumerable scratches and her exquisitely fashioned arms showing many small duplex discolorations, points of black and blue, where Irma's pointed fingertips had tweaked the soft skin viciously to keep her awake. "If anything could cure me I'd have been cured long ago by some of the torments of remorse I've been through. I love my brother dearly, and I've seen him on the verge of losing his mind. I'd rather kill myself than see you like that—and perhaps I might."

"But can't you see that the damage to me is already done, Carillon? It's gone too far with me for you to talk about not ruining my life. With you or without you, I should feel the same, but unless you were my wife I should have to take it without a struggle. If a man must go down, then give him at least a chance to go down fighting for a cause. Be true to that nickname they call you. 'Carry on' "

"My real one describes me better, Bungle. Carillon. As I once told you, it is the French for chimes, church bells, and mine are out of tune, a horrid discord. The correct pronunciation of it is very like 'carrion.' Nobody thought of that, but carrion is right. I'm rotten at the core, a constitutional thief."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

HOW often they have called me, fair lands so far away; how long they have enthralled me, the sunlit lands and gay! I was a rover ever and wandered far and wide, like waves that move forever upon the moving tide. The sounds of beauty's voices drift down long leagues between; ah, how the heart rejoices at beauty yet unseen! The lure of far lands' magic, how it has sapped my will! Strange scenes, though glad or tragic, can make my pulses thrill. I was a rover, knowing the lure of far away, at one with swift winds blowing, yet I turned home today. Forever, through my roving, I knew it would be so, and ever I kept loving the land I used to know. Far lands! Through life's bright hours I answered to their calls; but homeland's quiet bowers I seek when twilight falls.

The Silent Breakfast Bell

Well, Heinz Rice Flakes are worth getting up for! They're more than crunchy. More than crispy. More than toasty...They're good—oh so good!

It took the Heinz kitchen years to develop this new food. Took countless trials and tests to develop the delicate, pop-corn flavor of Heinz Rice Flakes... but it was worth it! You'll agree to that with the first spoonful you taste. And Heinz owns the process exclusively. So it's impossible to get this flavor in any other cereal!

Heinz Rice Flakes come in triple-sealed, damp-proof packages. And they're ready to serve. Simply add milk or cream—they hold their crispness. Sugar slightly—if you wish. But the flavor of Heinz Rice Flakes is so distinctive they don't really require sweetening.

Serve Heinz Flakes tomorrow morning and watch the whole family respond to the call of The Silent Breakfast Bell!

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

HEPZIBAH.—We cannot recommend fortune tellers.

R. P.—The distance from San Francisco to Manila by water is 7164 miles.

A. T. S.—All right is two separate words and should not be run together as one word.

H. B. C.—Statisticians have figured that there are 15,580,000 Jews in the world.

THANKFUL.—You should consult your parish priest regarding the ethics of Catholics who attend non-Catholic services.

INVENTOR.—The Inventors' Association, Portland, Ore., may be able to furnish the information you desire.

BISCH.—You should inquire at the National Stockyards, East St. Louis, regarding employment of the kind you desire.

11-YEAR READER.—You should apply to the superintendent of the city institution in which you desire to obtain employment.

L. S. B.—June 26, 1888, was a Tuesday. July 27, 1882, was a Thursday. June 22, 1893, was a Thursday.

EVERYDAY READER.—We advise you to consult a florist about the rubber plant. You can obtain detailed information at Shaw's Garden.

MILDRED.—Naphtha is a liquid hydrocarbon distilled from coal tar. Benzine is a liquid distilled from the compound volatile hydrocarbons of petroleum. The coin has no premium value.

PREJUDICED.—We cannot express opinions regarding different schools or universities. The university you mention is a first-class, accredited educational institution.

NEW RESIDENT.—You can find out the name of the owner of the property by inquiring at the City Hall, tax collector's office, to see who pays taxes on the property. You might consult the Real Estate Exchange, Wainwright Building.

THANKS.—By watching the newspapers for a few days you can discover which Illinois county seats publish their marriage license lists in St. Louis newspapers, and by avoiding those towns you can avoid the publication of your application. Both persons must appear at the license bureau.

AMBITIOUS.—The gas used by dentists, as a general rule, does not leave any bad after effects if the patient is in good health. The effect of the gas usually disappears in a few minutes. (2) Many of the "old time" fiddlers play by ear, though some use music.

READER.—Your invention is protected while awaiting granting of a patent. You might find it expensive to protect a patent because, if it were infringed, there would undoubtedly be a lawsuit. You should write to the Bureau of Patents, Washington, D. C., for complete information regarding patents. There are many types of fire escapes on the market. We could not say which is the best. Perhaps some member of the fire department might advise you.

SEVERAL OLD READERS.—By an act of Congress, approved Jan. 19, 1886, the order of succession of the various cabinet officers to the presidency of the United States was arranged as follows: Vice President, Secretary of State, Secretary of Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of Navy, Secretary of Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture. The Secretary of Commerce and Secretary of Labor were not in existence at that time, so they are not in the list. No such emergency has yet arisen as the incapacity of the Vice President to serve when a President died in office, but if it should, the Secretary of State would assume control of the Government.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

MARTIN.—As you are 16, it is not against the law for you to drive an automobile.

H. E. H.—A girl 16 years old can be married in Missouri with her mother's consent.

E. H.—If the man should die leaving no will you would receive nothing, as you are not the man's wife.

J. S.—If any of the heirs wish to do so, you can file an additional inventory of your mother's estate.

H. T. B.—The judgment bears interest at 6 per cent from the date it is rendered.

SUBSCRIBER.—Your neighbor could not be compelled to build a foundation.

EX-SOLDIER.—There is no law prohibiting the Government company that you mention from working men over eight hours.

YOUNG BOYS.—If the newer model is patented this probably would amount to an infringement of the patent.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

WORRIED.—Please send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question if you desire the name of a physician to treat your weak knees.

HELEN.—For the red places at side of your mouth you might use the following ointment: One-half ounce each of oxide of zinc ointment and lanoline; mix and apply night and morning.

VETERAN.—Photophobia is an eye inflammation caused by eyes being intolerant of light. Lachrymation means flow of tears, usually caused by the effect of too much light on weak eyes.

F. R. N.—A surgical operation is the quickest and safest way to relieve the varicose vein condition you describe. Bandaging might help temporarily. You should consult a physician.

A. C. R.—Annusol suppositories applied each night and morning may relieve the condition. You should get systematic outdoor exercise and correct constipation if it exists.

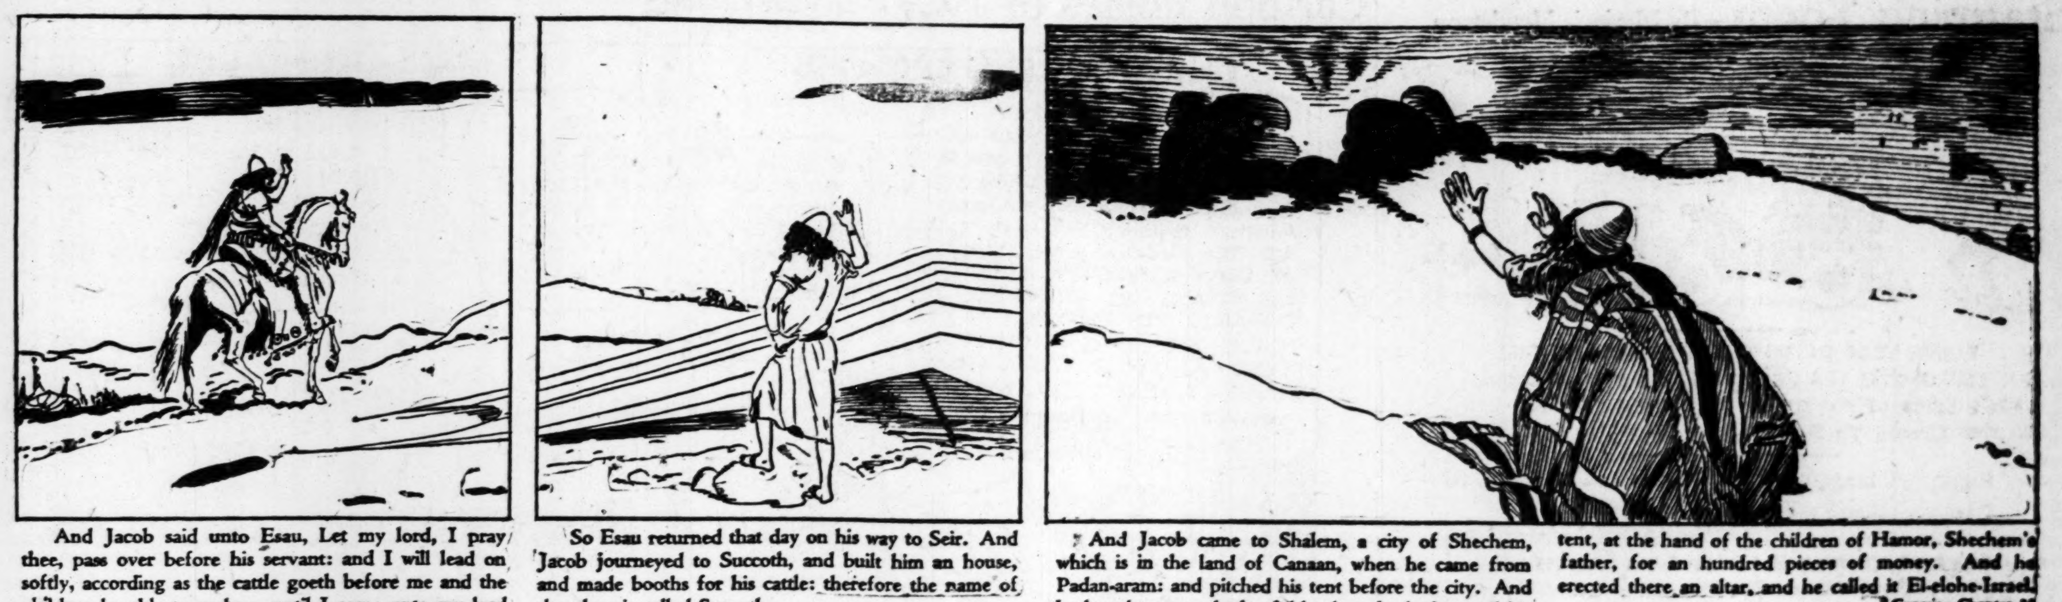
The Greatest Story in the World—By Kor

The Bible in Pictures



And Jacob said unto Esau, Let my lord, I pray thee, pass over before his servant: and I will lead on softly, according as the cattle goeth before me and the children be able to endure, until I come unto my lord unto Seir.

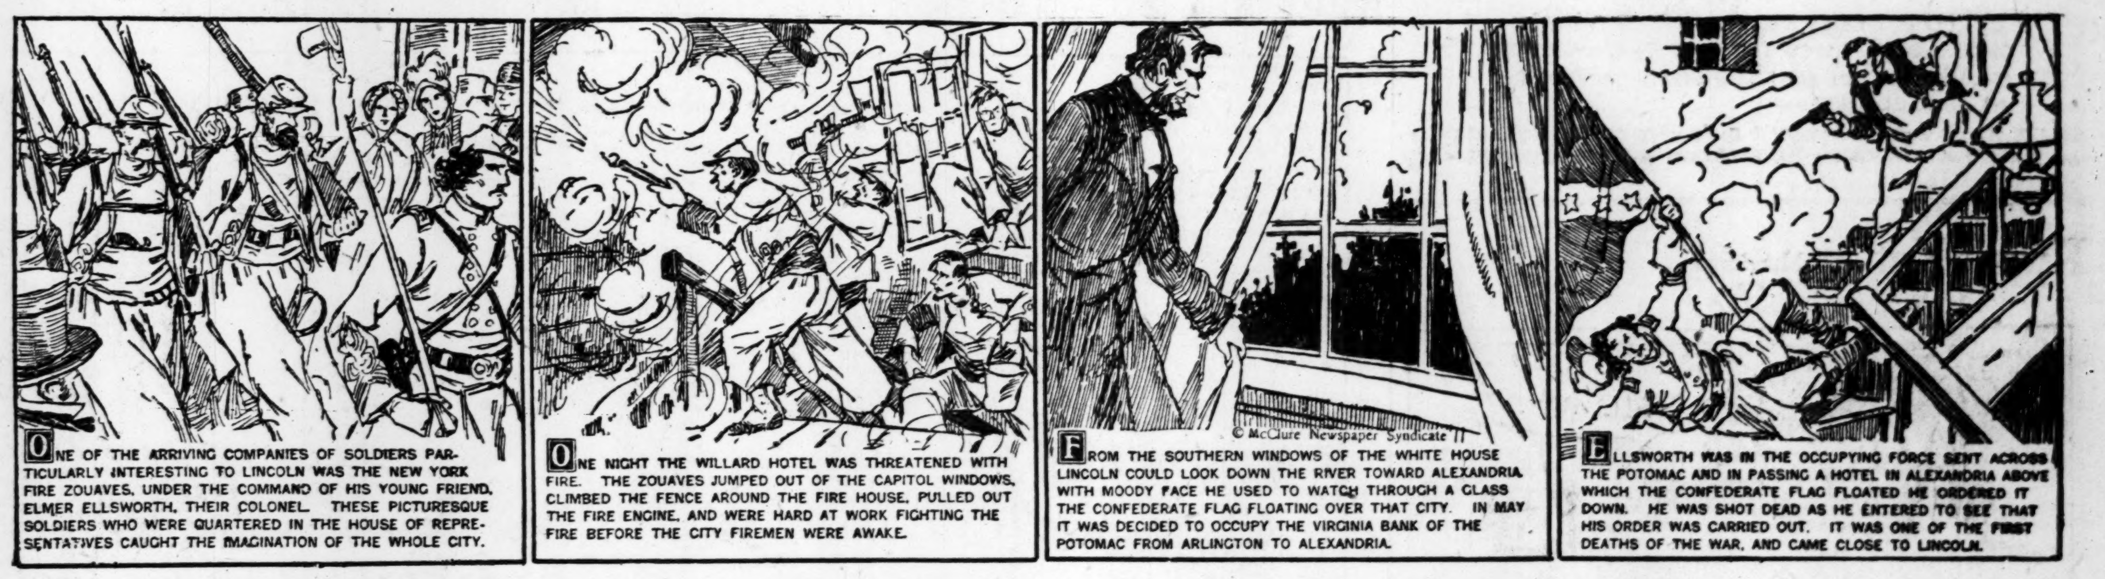
So Esau returned that day on his way to Seir. And Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built him an house, and made booths for his cattle: therefore the name of the place is called Succoth.

And Jacob came to Shalem, a city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan-aram; and pitched his tent before the city. And he bought a parcel of a field, where he had spread his tent, at the hand of the children of Hamor, Shechem's father, for an hundred pieces of money. And he erected there an altar, and he called it El-elohe-Israel.

Genesis—Chapter 33

In the Footsteps of Abraham Lincoln

Pictures by Nicholas Afonsky
Text Edited by Ida M. Tarbell



ONE OF THE ARRIVING COMPANIES OF SOLDIERS PARTICULARLY INTERESTING TO LINCOLN WAS THE NEW YORK FIRE ZOUAVES, UNDER THE COMMAND OF HIS YOUNG FRIEND, ELMER ELLSWORTH, THEIR COLONEL. THESE PICTURESQUE SOLDIERS WHO WERE QUARTERED IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CAUGHT THE IMAGINATION OF THE WHOLE CITY.

ONE NIGHT THE WILLARD HOTEL WAS THREATENED WITH FIRE. THE ZOUAVES JUMPED OUT OF THE CAPITOL WINDOWS, CLIMBED THE FENCE AROUND THE FIRE HOUSE, PULLED OUT THE FIRE ENGINE, AND WERE HARD AT WORK FIGHTING THE FIRE BEFORE THE CITY FIREMEN WERE AWAKE.

FROM THE SOUTHERN WINDOWS OF THE WHITE HOUSE LINCOLN COULD LOOK DOWN THE RIVER TOWARD ALEXANDRIA WITH MOODY FACE HE USED TO WATCH THROUGH A GLASS THE CONFEDERATE FLAG FLOATING OVER THAT CITY. IN MAY IT WAS DECIDED TO OCCUPY THE VIRGINIA BANK OF THE POTOMAC FROM ARLINGTON TO ALEXANDRIA.

ELLSWORTH WAS IN THE OCCUPYING FORCE SENT ACROSS THE POTOMAC AND IN PASSING A HOTEL IN ALEXANDRIA ABOVE WHICH THE CONFEDERATE FLAG FLOATED HE ORDERED IT DOWN. HE WAS SHOT DEAD AS HE ENTERED TO SEE THAT HIS ORDER WAS CARRIED OUT. IT WAS ONE OF THE FIRST DEATHS OF THE WAR, AND CAME CLOSE TO LINCOLN.

WHEN YOU COME HOME ON A WARM DAY AND GO INTO YOUR BEDROOM AND UNDRESS PREPARATORY TO ENJOYING A NICE BATH
-AND YOU SNEAK DOWN THE LONG HALL TO THE BATH ROOM
-WHEN ALL OF A SUDDEN YOU HEAR THE WIFE COME IN THE HOUSE WITH SOME LADY FRIENDS AND YOU REALIZE YOU'RE TRAPPED
-AND JUST AS YOU BEGIN TO WONDER HOW LONG THEY ARE GOING TO STAY - YOU SEE YOUR PIPE ALL FILLED ON THE WINDOW SILL
